

THE PRINCE Edward Island Plowmen's Council held its annual meeting at Birch Court last evening. President Therin Ellis, left, of O'Leary, gave a brief outline of the organization's activities since it was formed in 1962. Secretary-treasurer Graeme Linkletter, right, of Summerside reviews the year's expenditures.

Kings County Plowmen Fail To Name Directors

Ill feeling stirred between Kings County and the other two Island counties in the development and activities of the Prince Edward Island Plowing Council has not yet been resolved. It was seen at the annual meeting of the Council held last evening at Birch Court on the Experimental Farm.

As a result, there are still no directors named for Kings County, though they could be named at a directors' meeting of the Council which will be held probably the second week in August.

George MacDonald, St. George's; Louis Fitzpatrick, DeGros Marsh, and Albert Acorn, Primrose, attended and spoke at last night's meeting but none of them, they said, could speak for their county association. They came merely as interested observers, they explained. Mr. Acorn is the long time secretary of the Kings County Plowing Match but he was not there last night in that capacity.

Asked by President Therin Ellis if the county would name directors for this year — their directors resigned last year — the Kings County trio indicated they would take that up with their county directors at their next meeting. They could not give any reply last night, they explained.

Some of the difficulties were threwed out last night in discussion which was good natured, though it was spirited at times.

Mr. MacDonald said, for example, he felt that the Kings County Plowing Match association people at Dundas should have been given the privilege of staging the Canadian match on their grounds.

"Our people offered every possible co-operation, and the match had been examined and declared satisfactory," Mr. MacDonald said. The people of his county felt they had been given a dirty deal, he suggested.

Mr. Ellis indicated that it had been intended to hold the Canadian match at Dundas "until your people walked out on us."

This, apparently, was a reference to the Kings County directors leaving the council. Mr. Acorn retorted quickly that the Kings' directors had resigned when they were told they were out, or words to that effect.

The Kings County people are this year observing their 25th anniversary as a plowing match association, and Mr. MacDonald suggested it would be a diplomatic gesture on the part of the Plowing Council members if they would give the provincial match to Kings this year.

HAVE EXHIBITION
The Kings County people advertise their match as the "25th Annual Prince Edward-Island Plowing Match and Agricultural Fair Association" — they have an agricultural exhibition in addition to their plowing match.

But Mr. Ellis replied that the Kings people had the provincial match last year. It's Prince County's turn this time, he said. But the site of the provincial match and the date were left open, until Kings County has an opportunity to name Plowing Council directors, if they decide to do so.

Dates of the big match and exhibition at Dundas this year are Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 8 and 9.

Named to replace retiring directors were B. B. Jones, Buncburn, for Queens County and Arthur Hudson, Cascumpec, for Prince.

Activities of the council were reviewed by Mr. Ellis who presided. Speakers included Agriculture Minister Andrew MacRae and Stanley Willis, Cornwall, a member of last year's Canadian team, who reported on the world plowing match held near Vienna, Austria.

Local Television Viewers To See Georgetown Film

GEORGETOWN — The half-hour commentary on Georgetown recorded and filmed by the CBC will be shown at 6.30 p.m. Thursday, July 22, on the regular Gazette program.

The announcement was made at Monday night's meeting of town council, which met after having adjourned the regular monthly meeting July 12.

Also at the meeting a number of applications were received from citizens asking for exemption because they fell within a certain age group. The Town Act says persons over a stated age, being not less than 60 years, may be exempt from any or all taxes.

The council took the stand that a large percentage of taxpayers fall within this age group and granting an exemption to anyone would open the door for a flood of requests for exemption.

REDUCED TO $1,254
The clerk reported that the $3,000 in past years' tax arrears had been reduced to $1,254 through collections. It was decided that the past and current arrears for poll taxes would be handed to a solicitor for collection after July 31.

The council is carrying on negotiations to rent a house in the town for the use of the town policeman. The inability of a policeman in the past to obtain living quarters and the situation now faced by the town in this regard could lead to loss-ing the present police officer. It was decided that those holding the lease contract on the rink would be allowed to operate the building on the understanding that the payment of each current month's rent be accompanied with the amount of a monthly rent of the months now in arrears until the total is cleared up.

It is expected that an official of the sanitary division of the department of health will visit Georgetown during this week to further inspect certain sewage disposal systems. It was decided that if certain citizens have complaints regarding unsanitary sewer systems, they should file their complaints in writing with the town clerk, so that action may be taken.

The council again expressed disappointment over the manner in which some citizens are using the town dump. The dump has been bulldozed and cleaned up on various occasions this year but indiscriminate dumping continues, it was stated.

VANDALISM

It was reported that the speed limit warning sign and a street sign at the entrance of the town had been torn down, and that vandalism of this type would be severely dealt with should the offenders be apprehended.

It was decided to move a street light on Durham Street to a location on the corner of Durham and East Streets.

A street light will be installed on the corner of Glenelge and East Streets. The installation of one more street light is under consideration pending arrangements with the electric company. This would then fulfill the quota of street lights budgeted for this year.

Council gave third reading to a by-law authorizing the erection of a number of stop signs at various intersections in the town.

An application was received from a resident of Souris asking permission to establish a home bakery in Georgetown. The clerk was instructed to write the applicant for information as to whether a site had been procured and its location. The town on receipt of this information would then give consideration to the application.

An application from McConnell's Shopping Center to erect a four foot by eight foot sign at the intersection of Richmond and Kent Streets was left in the hands of the chairman of the street-committee, who was authorized to contact the applicants and obtain further information on the request before final council approval.

TO CONTACT LIONS

Council received a request from the Red Cross regarding the sponsoring of the blood donor clinics in Cardigan and Montague August 12. It was decided that the Lions Club would be contacted and asked to canvass for donors and help arrange transportation.

The clerk was instructed to write all organizations in the town asking them to send representatives, along with all interested citizens, to a meeting in the Town Hall on Friday, August 13, to discuss Georgetown's permanent project for 1967 Centennial Year. Application must be made before October to qualify for the amount of financial assistance available from governments at the provincial and dominion level.

Boy Loses Leg After Early Hope

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Seven-year-old Monty Holmes fought for more than six weeks to keep the right leg surgeons reattached, after both legs were cut off by a freight train. But he lost the leg again Sunday.

Doctors said Monday they were forced to reamputate the leg they restored right after Monty fell under the train June 2. On June 12, he had excitedly wigged his toes.

"An efforts were made to control and minimize the infection caused by debris ground into the tissue," a Herrick Memorial Hospital spokesman said. "The limb was removed above the knee because the child's general condition was deteriorating."

Doctors described Monty's condition as "serious but satisfactory."
