100 Members Assigned Rotary Auction Chores

Rotary Radio Auction committee chairman Hugh Simpson marshalled his forces at the weekly luncheon club meeting in the Charlottetown Hotel yesterday and assigned 100 members to their jobs in the set-up at headquarters in the Canadian Legion.

"All is in readiness to make this 32nd annual fund raising project for various community endeavors the most successful yet achieved", Mr. Simpson said.

The articles listed in both The Guardian and The Evening Patriot cover a broad area of possible "buys" for Christmas and prospective buyers may select what they have in mind from these lists and start bidding at 6:15 p.m. tonight.

The veteran auctioneer Neil D. MacLean with an unbroken record of 31 years on the air, once again heads that group of 20 Rotarians designed to keep bids and goods moving.

Cheques for amounts voted at a previous meeting were presented to representatives of the projects named. Lincoln Dewar, in accepting a cheque from president Andrew Likely for $4,000, paid tribute to Rotarian Dr. Gencheff for his unremitting efforts to make the Crippled Children's Camp at Belleyue a continued success.

Robert Inkpen, president of the Charlottetown local branch of the CARC Sheltered Workshop, accepted with gratitude a cheque for $2,000 and W. R. Jenkins, the new president of the Rehabilitation Council said he was equally grateful to receive a cheque for $3,000 in favor of his organization.

Walter LePage was elected president of the stork club as a result of the recent arrival of a son. Retiring president Gordon Kerr handed over habiliments of office including a silver mug from the Club.

President Likely expressed regret at the continued illness of pianist Albert Blanchard. Fulton Pierce was acting pianist. John Ledgerwood was co-chairman.

Guests of Rotary were Heath Macquarrie, MP, Victoria, P.E.I., Ernest Stewart and R. A. Overden, Ottawa; Robert Inkpen and Lincoln Dewar, city. Thomas Guy, Saint John, N.B., was a visiting Rotarian.

Giant Tanker Due Today

According to local shipping and Imperial Oil Company officials, the biggest tanker ever to enter the port of Charlottetown is due to arrive at 8 o'clock this morning.

The tanker, the MV Belfast, is operating on charter to Imperial Oil, and is bringing in a cargo of 12,000 barrels of Diesel fuel and 20,000 barrels of stove oil.

It was not known locally what her full cargo capacity is, but oil company officials stated that the 32,000 barrel cargo for the bulk storage plant is well below her maximum cargo carrying capability.

It was stated that with full tanks it would not be possible for the Belfast to navigate into this port with an adequate margin of safety.

Minister Favors Tourist Grant

Hon. J. David Stewart, minister of tourist development, says he is in favor of a plan whereby this province would match a $10,000 grant of the federal government and the $20,000 would be used in other provinces to promote tourists visits to the province.

The inter-provincial tourist travel promotion proposal was introduced at last week's federal-provincial confeence in Ottawa by the director of the Canadian Government Travel Bureau. The conference was attended by Mr. Stewart.

It was also announced that the federal government will increase to $350,000 from $300,000 the money it spends on the Atlantic Provinces as a tourist area. The increase will be effective next year.

Optimism was indicated at the Ottawa meeting for a good tourist year in 1965 and 1966, leading up to a big year in 1967.

Mr. Stewart also presented a report on Centennial Year events in P.E.I. to the National Centennial Conference in Toronto.

He said one of the main points in the report, which was received with great interest, was the complete involvement of citizens here in centennial events.

Copies of the report will be available soon, and movies of centennial events, made by the National Film Board, are expected to be eleased about mid-February.

SIR WINSTON

ily party to which he was looking forward as eagerly as a youngster, an aide said

He was "very well and in good spirits," reported his personal physician and friend, Lord Moran, who called with a gift.

Churchill rose at noon, looked through cards and gifts, took a nap in the afternoon and then was dressed for his party.

At the parish church of Westerham in Kent, where Sir Winston has his country home, Chartwell, a special peal of bells was rung for three hours in his honor Monday night.

A few minutes before sitting down to his birthday dinner, Sir Winston made a brief, unexpected appearance at a window of his red-brick London house to acknowledge the cheers of a crowd of about 200, some of whom had waited hours in the cold and rain hoping to see him.

HELPED TO WINDOW

When Lady Churchill pulled back the curtains, the crowd surged forward. Seconds later, Sir Winston was helped to the window.

Dressed in his dinner suit, he smiled and waved as the crowd sang Happy Birthday and gave him three cheers.

Sir Winston's guests at the champagne and oyster dinner included his Son Randolph, journalist and author, and his daughters Mrs. Mary Soames and Lady Audley (formerly Sarah Churchill).

Churchill issued a special message to those who had sent him greetings, saying:

"I am most grateful to all those who have remembered me on my 90th birthday. The number of messages I have received from all over the world is, it seems, greater than every before and I hope that those who have had the kindness to write to me will understand if it is not possible for me to reply to so many. Their thoughts have given me the greatest pleasure."
