LIBERAL OPINION.

The Winnipeg Tribune, one of the ablest journalistic supporters of the Liberal party at the time of the last general election, and still representing the honest Liberalism of the country, says, in the course of a recent issue, that "the baneful and blighting effects of the political 'machine' on everything that comes within the radius of its influence has been nowhere more strikingly exemplified than in the case of the Toronto Globe." It proceeds to review the course of the Globe and declares that "there are those who declare the beginning of the moral disintegration of the Globe was synchronous with the refusal of the Ottawa government to grant the British Columbia petition to disallow the gift of the Crow's Nest coal lands to charter-mongers, and the consummation of the celebrated (or notorious) Crow's Nest Pass subsidy deal, by means of which the president of the Globe Publishing Company became the beneficiary, to an enormous amount, of a wasteful and wanton alienation of the public resources."

The Tribune's closing words are of general application, and ought to be carefully perused and considered by every elector. The Tribune says: "If the people of Canada will profit by the history and experience of the past, they must see that the end of every tree Government has been brought about by the decadence of political morality, and by the prevalence of the political ideals of which the Minister of the Interior is a prominent exponent. Already matters have reached such a stage that it is the bounden duty of every man and journal to declare boldly against the melange of venality, incompetency, and humbug which constitute nine-tenths of what we call our 'politics.' Hypocritical appreciations of virtue in the abstract, combined with sophistical defences of shortcomings in the concrete, should not be accepted as adequately filling the requirements of patriotic journalism, nor should rhetorical platitudes be regarded as the unfailing indication or as an unmistakable symptom of statesmanship." The truth and the importance of these words admit of no doubt.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

—It is stated by one who claims to know that there was no canned goods of any kind eaten at Morell picnic.

—We shall see whether or not the Government will investigate the case of alleged "failure of justice" referred to by the Guardian this morning, or proceed, in an effective way, against the party official.

—Mr. James A. Ogilvy, of Montreal, received a cablegram on the 24th inst., from his daughter, Mrs Percy Leslie, dated Shanghai, conveying the pleasing intimation that both she and her husband were safe, and that they were sailing for home then via San Francisco. This is the first direct information from the Canadian missionaries who are on their way out of China.

—The Montreal Gazette remarks as indicative of the prospective result of the United States presidential election that old Democratic papers which opposed Mr. Bryan's candidature in 1896 are again arrayed for the fight of 1900 as hostile critics of the platform. The sign is not the least ominous of those which threaten the Democratic ticket. The party newspaper that is forced on principle to assail its party's nominees or platform on record, makes ten votes against it for every one that an equally influential opponent can convince.

—The Russians have announced their intention to keep control of the entire railway line between Taku and Peking until the conclusion of hostilities, when they propose, they say to restore it to the Chinese. Admiral Seymour strongly disapproves of allowing them to repair the line beyond Tien Tsin. He considers that the British should insure the undertaking and conduct the repairs. Meanwhile the French are endeavoring to obtain control of all the river tugs. It is believed that they intend to share the control with Russia. The mutual distrust of the allies gives rise to uneasiness.

—The New York Dry Goods Record says much nonsense is being printed about the effect of the war on the export of grey cottons. In New York where the export trade is done it knows of no cancellations, and of only one case where the purchaser asked for delayed shipment. It has knowledge of a case where several thousand packages were ordered for immediate shipment, and that shipments to Shanghai in the last two weeks comprised 16,499 packages. The huge size and diverse governments in China make the situation difficult for those unacquainted with the country to understand its peculiarities. Shanghai is 600 and Canton is 1,200 miles from Peking. While owning the same central government the provincial administrations are so independent that the conditions in one hardly affect the others. A riot in Philadelphia or New Orleans would have as much influence on Montreal's trade as the siege of Tien-Tsin had on that of southern China commercial centres.

—The Toronto World states that the Paris Exhibition is an admitted failure. The enterprise was badly planned and badly carried out, both as a whole and in detail. An insignificant attendance is the penalty the Parisians are paying for their lack of business ability, and their attempt to fleece the people by innumerable fakes. These latter are experiencing very bad luck. Stock in the moving sidewalk, which sold some time ago at 140, has dropped to 98. Shares of the Venice in Paris fake have fallen from 100 to 8 francs, and the same drop has occurred in the shares of almost all the other special attractions. The amount invested in these is represented by a capital of 45,000,000 francs. Exposition bonds, issued at 20 francs, have declined to 8 francs, in spite of the advantages which they are supposed to confer as the holders. Every day a dozen business failures are reported, due directly or indirectly to the lack of attendance at the Exhibition. In addition to the other troubles, the city of Paris has been inundated with law suits from the concessionaires along the moving sidewalk. The noise and dirt of the thing, it is claimed, have ruined their business, and it is announced that the moving sidewalk will go out of business in consequence. The Exhibition has turned out a decided frost. Few have gone to Paris from this side of the Atlantic, while the attendance from Great Britain has been very disappointing. The experience of world-wide exhibitions has latterly not been very encouraging. The World's Fair at Chicago failed to attract visitors from Europe, and the Paris Exhibition will draw very few people from America.

ESTEEMED EXCHANGES

Halifax Chronicle: There is just one thing of which we may all feel sure—and that is that we cannot be sure of anything just now in China.

Montreal Star: There is not the slightest reason for believing that the drought prevailing in Manitoba is the result of Hugh John's prohibition act.

St. John Sun: The new premier of British Columbia owns and operates most of the working coal mines on the Pacific Coast. The first measure he proposes is a tax on coal produced. Mr. Dunsmyth will have to pay the most of it, but as he is the richest politician in Canada he can stand it.
