

Ice Water.—Doctors Disagree.

A celebrated physician says "All ice-water drinking is bad," also that "a severe blow upon the body just over the solar plexus," which in good United States language means an important portion of the nervous system located just back of the stomach, "will cause almost instant death," and "the further says "The sudden shock caused by the further of ice-water upon the solar plexus as the blow, and may cause sudden death by its action upon it and through that on the heart." Another equally celebrated physician says, "Any diet which unqualifiedly say that cold drinks are bad and hot drinks are good must be absurd" and further "cold water stimulates gastric secretion; therefore do not smile at your friend because he thinks a half-glass of ice-water before eating gives him an appetite and helps his digestion." In continuation, we will say, drinking ice-water in copious draughts when over-heated is injurious, if not dangerous, that is undeniable. But that the free drinking of water, in some form, in hot weather, must be avoided, is deniable, and is one of the greatest popular errors extant. When a man is perspiring freely, a vast amount of water is drawn from the body, which must be resupplied, or great injury is done to the physical health, and the foundation of some of the worst forms of kidney disease is being slowly but surely laid. Do not drink ice-cold water, but pure cool water; a little lemon juice will improve its effectiveness. Plain soda water with a little acid is also excellent in hot weather. If from drinking too much ice-water you have stomach cramps, or are "water logged," as it is called, or are attacked with cholera morbus, summer complaints, diarrhoea or dysentery, do not resort to alcoholic stimulating drinks, which irritate rather than allay the inflammation which has caused the trouble; but adopt the practice of taking daily just before retiring, during July and August, one teaspoonful of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment in a little sweetened water, which will prevent all such attacks and ill effects from ice-water. In fact a little pamphlet sent free to any one by I. S. Johnson & Co., Boston, Mass., contains a vast amount of information about treating those summer troubles with that good old household remedy.

Odds and Ends.

She cannot Afford To.—Goslin—"Maud doesn't seem quite as cold as formerly, doncher know." Dalley—"Well, the price of ice is up, you know." A St. Louis negro with only two fingers can play eight musical instruments at the same time. What a mercy it is that he hasn't the conventional number of fingers. Cashley—"It's a fact, old man. Since I met that girl I cannot eat or sleep. I am a miserable man. Is there nothing I can do to cure me of this mad infatuation?" Dashley—"You might try marrying her." At the Trotting meeting.—"I missed the first race, Billy; was it a hot one?" "Well, I should say so. Why, there were eight different heats."
