CHARLOTTETOWN Business College Writing Academy

Let the searchlight of practice illuminate the dark places of Theory. A THOROUGHLY Progressive Practical Institution, in which young men and women are not only taught Book-keeping (in all its applications to commerce) both by single and double entry, but are trained how to do business, by actual business transactions. The students act as buyers, sellers, traders, bankers, book-keepers and accountants, in actual business operations, and the currency issued by the college Bank and the notes issued from the Emorium, are used in bona fide business transactions, just the same as in mercantile and banking houses. Book-keeping in itself may be learned at home, but a knowledge of how to transact business, cannot be thus acquired. That our course system of training is eminently practical write for testimonials from business men, and from students who are now holding lucrative and responsible positions.

SUBJECTS:
 Book-keeping by single and double entry (theoretical and practical), Actual Business Practice, Business Penmanship, Business Correspondence, Commercial Arithmetic, Commercial Law, Railroading, Steamboating, Banking, (actual practice in the college Bank), Typewriting, Shorthand and Navigation.

A Curious Incident.
 Horses will form strong attachments for dogs, but it does not often happen that a horse derives any real benefit from having a canine friend. The following case will show that a dog may sometimes return a horse's affection in a very practical manner: A man living in the country had a horse which happened to be turned out just as his carrots were ready for pulling. He also had a dog that was on the best of terms with the horse. One day he noticed that his carrots were disappearing very fast, but he was almost certain that no one had got in and stolen them. Still he determined to watch and see who was robbing him. His vigilance was rewarded, for he caught the thief in the very act of pulling up the carrots. Then he cautiously followed him from the garden and found that he went off in the direction of the field where the horse was. Arrived there, the owner of the carrots saw that his horse was the receiver of his stolen goods. The thief was his dog.

In some way the dog had discovered that the horse had a partiality for carrots and was unable to gratify its taste, but with a sagacity that is almost incredible the dog found the means of obtaining the succulent morsels for his friend, and this he did without scruple at his master's expense. There was something more than instinct in this dog's head. But any one who takes real notice of the habits and curious doings of animals must inevitably come to the conclusion that the theory is not tenable which maintains that animals cannot think and reason.—Detroit Free Press.

Sweets In Queen Bee's Times.

During the Elizabethan period there grew up in England a great national liking for sweet things. Not merely was this seen in the general taste for sugar confection, but it was manifested in the general demand for sweet wines, the rich sherries, the charneco, the sack, the sugary almond flavored sack posset and other drinks of the same class. In drinking, as in eating, the increase of appetite for sugar grew by what it fed on. Though not a sweetmeat in the strict sense of the term, sack posset so largely represented the taste of that time for sweetness and flavor that the recipe of Sir Fleetwood Shepherd, given by Mr. Howard Staunton in his Shakespeare notes, is worth quoting:

"To make a sack posset take 3 quarts of pure good cream and a quarter of a pound of the best almonds. Stamp them in the cream and boil with amber and musk therein. Then take a pint of sack in a basin and set it on a chafing dish till it be blood warm. Then take the yolks of 12 eggs, with 4 of their whites, and beat them well together, and so put the eggs into the sack. Then stir all together over the coals till it is as thick as you would have it. If you now take some amber and musk and grind the same quite small with sugar and strew this on top of your posset, I promise you that it shall have a most delicate and pleasant taste." There was another mixture of the same class called "rambooz," made of eggs, ale, wine and sugar.—Gentleman's Magazine.
