

A CHAT WITH TIGNISH FISHERMEN

Clinic Falls Short Of Donor Objective

SUMMERSIDE — The two-day blood donor clinic here under the chairmanship of the Junior Chamber of Commerce reached the 468 donor mark. The quota set for the clinic was 540.

Afternoon quotas were set at 120 for the two-hour periods between two and four o'clock each day. Monday afternoon 58 donors were on hand. The final afternoon clinic saw 93 donors present.

Evening quotas were set at 150 donors. The first evening the quota was not reached with only 95 donors attending. Last evening 222 donors turned up to surpass the 150 mark set for that clinic.

The local Canadian Legion home housed the clinic which was co-chaired by George Smallman and Ralph Crossman. Previous to the clinic workmen's groups had carried out a telephone blitz calling every number listed in the Summerside directory asking for donors.

Today's clinics will be at the recreation centre, RCAF Station from 9:30 a.m. to 1 o'clock with an objective of at least 225 donors, and at the Tignish Legion Home this evening between 8 and 10 p.m. with a quota of at least 150 donors.

Red Cross officials would again like to remind previous donors to bring their "type cards" with them as this avoids delays and lessens the cost for re-typing. It was stated that donors of all types are urgently needed but particularly those of the O-rh negative and A-positive and negative for which the demand has been very heavy during the past couple of weeks.

Retired Summerside Man Graduates At University

Robert Gordon, a 67-year-old native of Summerside, widely-known throughout the Maritimes, has graduated from university in Montreal three years after retiring as head of Canadian National's nation-wide express department.

Retiring on his 65th birthday, July 31, 1962, Mr. Gordon was at the registrar's desk of Sir George Williams University in Montreal the next day applying for entrance.

At least three times older than most of the other 600 graduates, he received his arts degree during recent convocation exercises.

It was 41 years after he took his freshmen credits at Halifax's Dalhousie University and a successful conclusion to three years crammed with 17 heavy courses and near-honor grades. GIVE IT A TRY

"Dr. Wilder Penfield, the famed neurosurgeon, said a brain over 60 can still learn. I thought I'd give the theory a run," explains Mr. Gordon. He did and he won.

"It's been an ambition of my life," says Mr. Gordon. "I'm very proud to be a college graduate."

He joined CN in 1924 as an express clerk at Summerside and served as an agent there and at Saint John. He worked as a traffic supervisor at Halifax, assistant supervisor and later superintendent at Moncton.

From that position, Mr. Gordon was promoted general superintendent at Winnipeg, asstant general manager at Montreal then general manager of CN's express activities in 1960.

KEEP ACTIVE

He shrugs off comments about his brief retirement, explaining "I just wanted to keep active. College was tough and I tired more readily than the other students."

"With age there is a difficulty in retaining things," says Mr. Gordon. He overcame that disadvantage, however, by a "regular and persistent work schedule — I don't have the stamina for concentrated cramming that younger fellows have."

University was not only sheer fun to him but something that filled the void left by the death of his wife, the former Jean Wright of Summerside, about the time of his retirement.

"I would say that going back to university just about saved my life. . . it became that engrossing," commented Mr. Gordon, "and in some respects they were the most enjoyable three years of my life."

Town Council Passes Two Resolutions

SUMMERSIDE — At a special meeting of the town council here last evening two resolutions were passed. A tender submitted by Curran and Briggs, totalling $57,862.50, was accepted for the preparing and paving of certain streets in the town.

Acting mayor George Key Jr. stated that the contract will be of a different type from previous years since there will be a partial hold-up in payment with a one-year guarantee that the tender holders do all paving in the event of any break-up.

The second resolution was that David Morrison be appointed a member of the Summerside School Board Trustees for a period ending June, 1968.

The position had been vacated by Alex Horne due to illness. Acting Mayor Key said that Mr. Horne had given many years of service in this position and expressed his thanks. He stated that the nominee was a good one and that a job well done would be ensured.

Councillor Frances Perry added her thanks to Mr. Horne and stated that he is "a very community-minded citizen."

Canadian Legion where a lobster dinner was served by the legion auxiliary.

The cabinet's first call of the afternoon was on members of the Tignish Arts Foundation. The premier was greeted on his arrival by grade three convent pupils who sang "we welcome you, Mr. Premier."

Premier Shaw and his cabinet were shown art displays by Miss Alma Buote, a leading figure in the arts' foundation. Attending were representatives of many Tignish groups interested in art, including the Catholic Women's League, the local farmers association, girl guides, the Royal Canadian Legion Auxiliary, the Society of St. Thomas Aquinas and members of co-operatives.

"I am very impressed with the effort you went to to welcome us," the premier said. "And I am particularly interested in the displays shown to us today."

INTERESTED IN AREA

Premier Shaw said he was "particularly interested in the Tyne Valley area. It hasn't received the attention it should have in the past."

The premier said there is "tremendous opportunity for development in Prince County — as in all parts of the province, particularly in the tourist industry. Wherever you go, you have a beauty spot. I don't think we have publicized this fact enough."

Premier Shaw said he wanted to see "people in all parts of the province receive the attention they deserve and the support necessary to develop their opportunities." He said "with extra effort, if 10,000 people carried an extra $100 per year that would mean $1,000,000 annually to our economy."

FLYING CLUB

At Mt. Pleasant, the cabinet was greeted by John Lavigne of the Mt. Pleasant Flying Club.

The premier said he was interested in the future of air services and said the Mt. Pleasant airport will "add to the development of county services that were not rendered before."

In the Tignish area, the cabinet visited two lobster packing plants before leaving for Alberton where a visit was made to Alberton Industries Marine Railway.

The cabinet wound up its tour in O'Leary, visiting a carrot processing operation and a butter manufacturing plant.

At the end of the tour, the cabinet had lunch at the home of Dr. George Dewar, minister of education.

European Firms Visit Said Important Here

MONTAGUE — Hon. Andrew B. MacRae, minister of agriculture, addressed the Montague Regional Board of Trade at the annual meeting held last evening at the Kingsway Motel.

In his address he outlined his recent trip to Europe. He said he was very impressed with the Scandinavian countries and made special mention of the cleanliness of the cities.

He visited the Findus headquarters in Switzerland, this company employs over 90,000 people. Gulf Garden Frosted Foods Ltd. at Georgetown was processing for this company.

He also visited Bjuv in Sweden where the largest fish processing plant in the world is located. This plant has a fishing fleet and over half the engines are supplied by Bathurst Marine Ltd.

He also visited a potato processing plant. At this plant potatoes were being processed for alcohol. The operation was a simple one, he said, and could be made into a profitable business here, giving the potato grower an outlet for his cull potatoes.

He stated this trip to Europe was of tremendous importance to the province especially the information gathered with reference to the Georgetown industrial promotion.

Jens Moe, president of the plants at Georgetown, acted as interpreter and accompanied

Mr. and Mrs. MacRae on the greater part of the tour. William Reddin was elected president of the board for the ensuing year. Mr. Reddin had previously been president of the West Prince Board of Trade and brings considerable knowledge of board of trade work to the organization.

OTHER OFFICERS

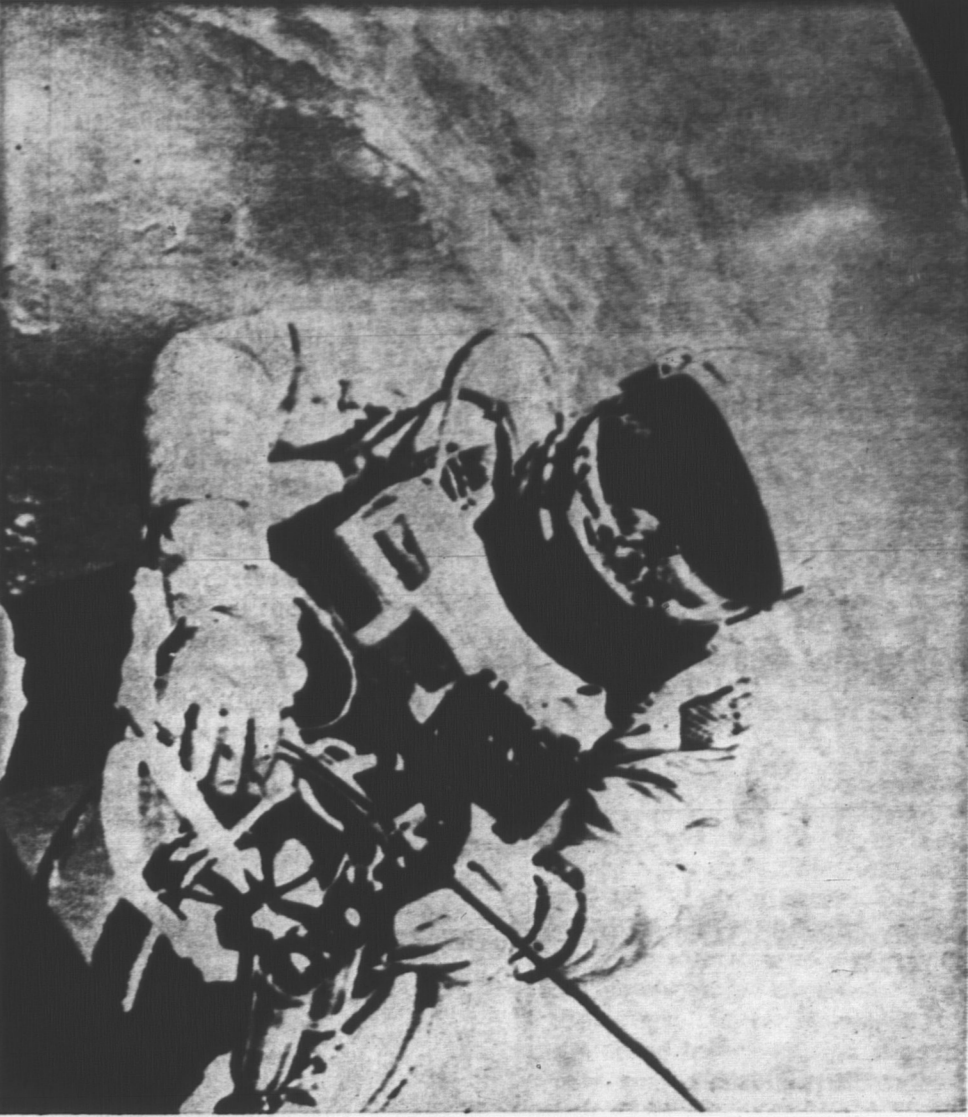

Other officers elected were: vice president, H.M. Smith; secretary-treasurer, L. Somers; directors, A.F. Campbell, K. MacDonald, Bob Ferguson, George Reynolds, Rev. David Barwise and Garnet MacIntyre.

Kenneth R. MacDonald, the retiring president, in his report outlined the several projects in which the board had taken part during the past year. These included the paving of the Kings Road, the senior citizens housing, the golf course being established at Brudenell, the fire protection arrangement at Montague, all-weather roads to the area, the scenic drive to be known as the Kings By-Way and several other matters pertaining to the southern Kings area.

Under new business Willard Jordan, owner of the Point Pleasant Park, outlined the work already done at this park and suggested it should be taken over by the provincial government as one of its parks. He also pointed out that more land was available and the whole area should be taken into the national park system. It could be one of the several projects to attract tourists to the area.

At present, it was pointed out, people from Nova Scotia via Wood Islands would most likely head along the highway to Charlottetown, an area which could be considered overcrowded during the heavy tourist season.

G. Arnold Wightman expressed thanks to the retiring president, Mr. MacDonald, saying he had done considerable work on his own and always kept the work of the board active.

Summerside Man Elected

Ed Clow, Summerside, was elected president of The Refrigeration Service Engineers Society (Canada) P.E.I.-N.B. branch, at the annual meeting held recently at The Brunswick Hotel, Moncton.

G. S. Storey, Charlottetown, was elected as a member of the executive.

Three interesting and informative talks were given by Robert Niedermeier, sales manager of Spartan Valve Co., Arthur Leach, Wolverine Tubing Co., and E. O. Allain of the department of labor, N.B. The latter speaker explained apprenticeship training and how it affected the refrigeration trade.

Island members attending the meeting in addition to Mr. Clow and Mr. Storey, included Philip Palmer, Bruce Hillstrom, Elton Doucette, Jack Kirby and Gordon Batt.
