BOB HOPE STARS AT THE CAPITOL, SUMMERSIDE

—The maddest, merriest mix-up of comedy, songs and romance in many a day is now at the Capitol Theatre when Paramount's lavish Technicolor musical, "Here Come The Girls," makes its appearance.

The tip-off on its surefire entertainment values is the top-notch dancing which brings Bob Hope, Tommy Martin, Arlene Dahl and Rosemary Clooney together doing a bang-up job.

With Bob Hope portraying the role of the world's oldest chorus boy who is suddenly whisked to stardom because he is being used as a decoy for a homicidal maniac, you just know that there is plenty of fun afoot. As the hilarious action unfolds, Bob, in his chagrined discovery that it isn't his talent they're after but his act. All of this leads to what has been described as one of the most delightful situations ever to have been lashed on the screen.

Backing up the stars is a group of Hollywood's finest supporting players, including Millard Mitchell, William Demarest, Fred Clark and Robert Strauss. They, in turn, are magnificently backed by a bevy of isome lassies, a melodious melange of new song hits, dazzling color photography and if that were not enough, some costumes that are strictly out of this world.

Needless to say, "Here Come The Girls" stacks up as a film that whets the entertainment appetite—bring on those girls!

Truman Urges Election Of Democrats

—By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL, KANSAS CITY (AP)—Harry S. Truman urged the American people Saturday night to elect a Democratic Congress and end what he called a Republican spectacle of "blunder after blunder" in foreign policy and tragic surrender at home to "selfish interests."

In less than 20 months, the former president said, the Republican administration has "shown its incapacity to govern."

Truman stepped into the political arena with his only speech of the campaign, delivered at a mid-west Democratic political rally in Municipal Auditorium.

He attacked the Republicans for what he termed "tremendous diplomacy" that has cost the U. S. the confidence of friends and Allies, for serving special interests instead of those of the people, for a "shocking give-away" of the nation's resources, for "waiting for a miracle while millions are jobless."

And under the new administration, Truman said, farmers have received just what he warned about in 1952—lower income and a cost of living at an all time high.

Some Sidelights On Toronto Flood Crisis

—TORONTO (CP)—Crime, usually No. 1 on the police list, was all but ignored during the flood crisis.

At the height of the storm, the main police dispatcher radioed the morality squad: "Use the wagons as rescue cars. Forget the prison-ers."

Mrs. Sydney Jameson was standing on Raymore Drive, one of the hardest-hit streets in suburban Etobicoke, when somebody asked where she lived. "Our nice house used to be at the top of the street," she replied. "Now it's all broken up at the bottom."

A baby girl was passed arm-to-arm across a flooded street by rescuers. By the time the baby was on dry ground, the water was rushing too fast for the parents to make it. The child was taken to hospital for a good sleep. Police didn't know where the parents are.

Old streetcars floated down the Humber river. The cars, sold by the Toronto Transit Commission when they were replaced by subway trains, were bought by Woodbridge residents and used as houses.

Observe 40th Anniversary Of Royal 22nd Reg't.

—QUEBEC (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent said Sunday Canada's armed preparedness should not "incite us to become arrogant and unconcerned about points of view different from our own."

In a speech in French marking the 40th anniversary of the establishment of the Royal 22nd Regiment at the start of the First World War, Mr. St. Laurent said Canada should remain calm and confident and not "propagate fear" in the current world situation.

Mr. St. Laurent's remarks were included in the text of a speech issued to the press before delivery.

The prime minister spoke at the St. Joan of Arc monument before troops of the regiment. He said a middle-of-the-road course between confidence and fear must be followed.

"For, any excess in one direction or the other could have equally disastrous results."

"We dare to hope that Providence will watch over the efforts of our Allies and our own, to organize peace in the world, that Heaven will help those who help themselves mutually to that end."

"During the past years, we have had to make grave decisions, and impose heavy sacrifices on ourselves, to ensure our defence, which is inevitably bound up with that of our Allies."

"We have to be ready to defend ourselves in case of attack and or-

Shocking Scene At Woodbridge After Hurricane

—WOODBRIDGE, Ont. (CP)—It is a shocking scene here. Slimy brown mud covers one-third of the town.

Bulldozers shove masses of fallen trees and debris from the streets.

Red Cross workers prepare food and distribute clothing to the homeless huddled in the United Church and public school.

Searchers slog through the mud in search of bodies.

The nightmare for the town's 1,900 residents, which began Friday night, continued.

Sunday town council totalled the damage wrought by the wild Humber river. At least six dead, 250 homeless, property losses estimated at $1,175,000.

BEGAN DEATH RACE

—Woodbridge nestles in the Humber valley on Toronto's northwestern outskirts. Friday night the Humber, fed by torrential rains from hurricane Hazel, began its death race to Lake Ontario.

By the time the flood crest reached here, the Humber had swelled from its normal 65-foot width to 350 feet.

It wrecked 20 houses and every trailer in a trailer park, and severely damaged 50 other homes in Woodbridge and adjacent Pine Grove.

By midnight the town's water supply was contaminated and supply was cut off. Four thousand gallons of water was rushed by truck. Three doctors inoculated more than 1,000 persons against typhoid.

A 95-year-old woman was taken from an upper floor of her home, strapped to a mattress, and carried through a window to a waiting boat.

Six navy rescue workers collapsed from exhaustion. Seaman Charles Puckwell broke his arm when he was smashed against a whaler.

Many were saved, but some were lost.

Donald Reid, his wife and daughter Dallas were drowned when their car was swept off a bridge just west of the town. Bodies of Mrs. Reid and Dallas were found during the weekend.

The headlights of the car could be seen shining through the darkness as the auto was carried downstream.

Rug salesman John Clark met the same fate on the same bridge a few hours later.

FAMILIES WIPED OUT

—The families of Kenneth Edwards and Mrs. Jean Neil—nine persons in all—were in their shared home at 148 Raymore Drive when the flood struck. Mrs. Edwards and her daughter Caroline, 4, and Mrs. Neil were identified Sunday among the dead. Listed as missing and presumed drowned were Mr. Edwards, his small sons Frank, 3, and John, 3 months, and Mrs. Neil's children, Darlene, 6, Susan, 5, and Adele, 3.

Special prayers were offered Sunday for flood victims and their families in almost all metropolitan Toronto churches. Many of the churches, still in harvest dress, had planned Thanksgiving services the second Sunday in succession.

Estimate 1,500 Buildings Destroyed, 10,000 Damaged by Hurricane In U. S.

NEW YORK (CP)—The Red Cross estimated Sunday that hurricane Hazel destroyed 1,500 buildings and damaged 10,000 others on its sweep from the Carolinas northward through New York.

The estimate was made as light rains fell on areas still smoldering from the hurricane's deadly weekend rampage which has claimed at least 127 lives in the northeastern United States and Canada.

The Red Cross said early reports received at headquarters in Washington indicated that the worst destruction in the U. S. was in the area between Norfolk, Va., S. C. and Wilmington, N. C. About 1,000 homes, most of them summer cottages, were destroyed or badly damaged there.

The powerful storm ended its 200-mile-wide trail of destruction in Ontario and the fringe of Quebec where it disrupted communications, caused floods and wrecked houses. The death toll Sunday was at least 45 known dead in the two provinces, with most of the casualties in the Toronto area.

TOWN PARTLY SUBMERGED

—Wheeling a town of 58,000 in northern West Virginia, was partly submerged Sunday by Ohio river flood waters. At least 2,400 families fled their homes as water levels rose to the 45-foot stage, nine feet above flood level. It was the worst flood to hit Wheeling since 1945 when the river rose to 47.3 feet.

President Eisenhower, cutting through red tape, Sunday gave authority for necessary federal assistance to areas of the Carolinas devastated by Hazel.

This was the toll of death left by the hurricane:

New York 18; North Carolina 18; Virginia 8; Maryland 9; New Jersey 7; Delaware 4; Washington, D. C. 3; Massachusetts 1; Connecticut 1; West Virginia 1; Ontario and Quebec 45.

HEAVY DAMAGE

—The impact of the storm on U. S. cities was indicated by these reports:

Charleston, S. C., and beach towns to the north—Piers wrecked; hundreds of houses demolished at Myrtle and adjoining beaches.

Wilmington, N. C.—About 475 houses destroyed and 200 badly damaged; essential services disrupted.

Baltimore—Much of the area's short sea food industry wiped out.

Washington—Streets littered with fallen trees and branches; part of the national airport hangar roof ripped off and a number of grounded planes smashed.

Annapolis, Md.—Two vessels sunk.

Philadelphia—Extensive damage to buildings; five ships swept ashore in Delaware river.

150 FAMILIES MAROONED

Says Yugoslavia Not Returning To Soviet Bloc

—(By Hazel Earle)

BELGRADE, (Reuters)—President Tito said in a Sunday interview published here Saturday that Yugoslavia has no intention of returning to the Moscow-dominated Soviet bloc, with which she broke in 1948.

"The press abroad is wrong when it writes that Tito is going back to Moscow," he said. And, referring to the close relations Yugoslavia has developed with the West, the president added: "We were never turncoats."

Yugoslavia, an independent Communist country, has until recently been on bad terms with Moscow, although Tito has several times stated a desire for the "normalization" of relations with the Soviet bloc states.

Recently the atmosphere has improved, and preliminary agreements have been reached regarding trade exchanges and the return to Yugoslavia of cadets sent for training to Moscow's Suvorov military academy in 1948.

More than 200 Yugoslav cadets were believed to have been stranded in Russia in 1948 when the split occurred between Russia and Yugoslavia.

Meanwhile, Yugoslavia has been forging closer ties with the West and this summer signed a military pact, agreed to with her non-Communist neighbors, Turkey and Greece.

EXTENDS OLIVE BRANCH

—In his statement, Tito said that while Yugoslavia would not return to the Soviet bloc, it would nevertheless be a mistake to reject "constructive offers from the East." He said this would not contribute to peace. Yugoslavia was making her own contribution to the stabilization of peace, he said.

"We will never leave the position which we have gained, the position of an independent country which is completely independent in its foreign policy."

Tito made his statement in an interview with the Belgrade correspondent of the Associated Press agency. The text was issued by the official Yugoslav news agency Tanjug.

Tito urged closer co-operation between Yugoslavia and Italy now that the thorny Trieste dispute, which for several years has bedeviled relations between the two countries, has been solved.

Jordan Elects First Communist To Parliament

—AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—Jordan picked its first Communist-tagged deputy in Saturday's rotund parliamentary elections which left three persons dead and more than 40 wounded.

The extreme leftist, Abdel Qader Es Saleh, won in Nabulus, 30 miles north of Jerusalem in the Jordan-held section of Palestine. He was supported by a pro-Communist National Front but ran as an independent. Although referred to here as the "first Communist ever elected in Jordan," Saleh is not a legally designated Red since the Communist party is outlawed.

Later returns, from Hebron, showed another candidate backed by the National Front—Rashad Maswadeh—had won a parliamentary seat.

Results of contests for half the 40 parliamentary seats were known early Sunday—pro-government independents won 17 seats to three for the opposition.

Utah Congress Member Admits War Tales Hoax

—SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP)—Douglas R. Stringfellow, disabled war veteran Republican member of the House of Representatives from Utah, admitted Saturday night he had fallen into a trap "laid by my own glib tongue" and had lived as a phony war hero for years.

The handsome 32-year-old congressman made a hastily arranged radio and television broadcast and said with tears streaming down his face that his war services consisted of a few weeks in southern France as a private first class who never saw actual combat although he was critically injured by an exploding land mine.

"I was never an OSS (Office of Strategic Services) agent," he said. "I never participated in any secret behind-the-lines mission for our government. I never captured Otto Hahn or any other German physicist."

Thus he repudiated a story which had brought him national fame, which played an important role in his election to Congress in 1952, and which he had insisted could be substantiated by secret files of the Central Intelligence Agency.

"The repudiation may have gone his chance for re-election to Congress. He said he would bow to the will of the Utah Republican party, and party leaders immediately called a meeting of the 120-member state central committee for tonight to decide whether to accept his resignation."

A politician, who walks with a cane and braces on his legs, was forced into a corner on his story when the Army Times in Washington questioned the tale. He at first branded the Army Times story a political attack. Then he appealed to the White House to have the secret files opened to prove he had served with the OSS.

But Saturday night he said "I came before this radio and TV audience tonight a humble, contrite and very repentant individual. I ask your forgiveness."

Stringfellow said that following his wound in France he faced the dread prospect of going through life as a paraplegic paralyzed from the waist down. But he re-
