Two U. S. Jets Crash 16 Miles From Goose Bay

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., (CP)—Two United States Air Force F-94 Star fire jet fighters crashed Wednesday 16 miles from Goose Bay airport in Labrador and the four crew members were killed.

U. S. Northeast Air Command headquarters here said the jets burned into the bushland east of the big Labrador terminal while on routine flights.

Each plane carried two men.

The air force did not make clear whether the jets crashed independently of one another or tangled somehow in the air.

An SA-16 amphibian of the U.S. 54th Air Rescue Sqdn. landed near the wrecks less than an hour later and reported no survivors. The fact that the debris was scattered over a fairly small area strengthened the theory that the Starfires collided in the air.

The names of the victims were withheld until their families could be notified.

The crashes occurred shortly before noon but word did not reach here until late Wednesday.

The air force could not identify the squadron to which the Starfires belonged.

3-Act Musical Comedy Is Big Success At S'side

—"Show Folks At Shadow Lake" a three-act musical comedy with the locale set in Prince Edward Island went on the boards at the Baptist Hall last evening for its premiere. From the pen of Norman MacDonald, C.D.A. ,the play lived up in fullest measure to all advance notices and judging by the warm reception and keen appreciation it received from the "first nighters" this musical comedy topped all former efforts of Mr. Macdonald. Directed by Mrs. Hope Jones, the production showed careful grooming and good timing, things very often missing in an amateur show.

The plot, which dealt with the doings of a group of actors vacationing at Shadow Lake was carried through and capably acted by a group of players, many of whom have appeared in previous plays written by Mr. Macdonald. Their efforts were well received by an audience which was generous with its applause, an audience which apparently enjoyed the entertainment from the opening curtain to the closing scene.

In the musical parts of the show the solo parts were taken by Elizabeth Brookins, Ann Wedge, Clarianne Found, and Myrna Hancock. The chorus consisted of Marlene Huestis, Margaret Joan Carruthers, Sylvia Boyle, Lorna Legard, Audrey Miller, Irene Mountain, Arlene Bernard, Jane Morrison, Judy Campbell, Maxine Campbell, Mary Cairns, Ruth Cairns Patricia Bolger, Mary Rae Tanton, Donna Silliphant, Helen MacMillan. Miss Maureen Forbes was the pianist of the evening. Recitations, Gerald Perry, June Ford, Pat Bolger. Fortune telling singers, Sheila Baglole, Cheryl Perry,' Audrey Woodside, Natalie Johnson, Greta Dunbar. Catherine Harper.

S'side Lions Club Meeting

—The regular bi-monthly dinner meeting of the Summerside Lions Club held at Howards Restaurant last evening, with president Herb Schurman in the chair, took the form of a joint meeting with the Kensington Lions Club. King Lion Eugene Spicer of the visiting club expressed warm appreciation for the invitation on behalf of his club.

Visiting Lion Jack Sewell of New Glasgow, in jovial vein, passed along greetings from his club and made helpful suggestions for promoting lionism in the community.

Lion Jack Harper presented the minutes which were approved as read.

The guest speaker, Mr. Phillip Bower was introduced by King Lion Jack Stevenson of Charlottetown. Mr. Bower, who himself is totally blind, is field secretary of the Canadian Institute for The Blind, and he dealt primarily with the object of the National White Cane Week. Mr. Bower was high in praise of the assistance rendered the institution by the Lions Clubs throughout Canada and stressed the many avenues of service that were possible through the auspices of the Lions Clubs recently organized on P.E.I. It was interesting to learn that the Charlottetown Lions Club provide coaches who supervise bowling for the blind at the alleys in Charlottetown. The alleys are donated each week by Mr. Joe MacDonald of the Rollaway Club.

Mr. Bower stated that there are 163 blind persons on the Island, 53 of whom are in Prince and 11 of these are in Summerside. He suggested that organized parties during the winter months and picnics and camps during the summer would contribute much in bringing cheer to those afflicted by blindness.

Mr. Bower was thanked for his most informative address by Lion Alan Wedlock.

It is the intention of the Summerside Lions Club to carry through some project in conjunction with the Institute for The Blind.

It was announced at the meeting that practice will commence next week for the minstrel show. Lion Buddy D'Athe acted as finesmaster in the absence of tail twister Ted A'Hearn. S

Report On Air Problems At Moose Jaw

OTTAWA (CP) — The transport department says technical difficulties make it impossible to alert all RCAF trainer aircraft in the Moose Jaw, Sask., area to approaching Trans-Canada Air Lines planes.

A return tabled Wednesday in the Commons by Transport Minister Marler for Ross Thatcher (CCF — Moose Jaw-Lake Centre) also said TCA planes approaching Moose Jaw on regular or delayed flights do not notify the RCAF control tower at the Moose Jaw airport.

The return did not explain the technical difficulties. However, it said they do not apply to aircraft intending to land at Moose Jaw which are in contact with the air force control tower.

The information contained in the return was furnished by TCA and the transport department in reply to a series of questions placed on the Commons order paper by Mr. Thatcher.

DISASTER SITE

A resident of Moose Jaw, site of Canada's worst civil air disaster, Mr. Thatcher requested the information after an air incident near Moose Jaw Jan. 6 last involving a TCA North Star and an RCAF Harvard trainer. It also was disclosed this week that a similar incident occurred near Moose Jaw last Friday.

Before asking the questions, Mr. Thatcher charged in the throne speech debate that TCA and officials of the transport department have been lax in taking elementary safety precautions.

He was commenting at that time on the Jan. 6 incident which occurred nine months after the crash of a TCA North Star and an RCAF Harvard trainer over Moose Jaw's outskirts killed 37 persons.

The first period ended 3-2 in favor of Summerside, L. Bernard, and W. Harris tallying for the Maroons and Taylor with one and Howatt two for the Aces. In the sandwich session each side managed a lone marker in a period of keen competition, O'Leary playing coach Schurman getting one and MacArthur of Summerside getting the equalizer.

Shakeup In

this declaration, also heard the new premier, Marshal Nikolai A. Bulganin, say:

"Those lunatics who are brandishing atomic weapons and calling for atomic war must be called to order, and not a single government can ignore this."

BIG COME DOWN

Bulganin nominated Zhukov to succeed him as defence minister. He also nominated the deposed premier, Georgi M. Malenkov, to be minister of power stations as well as a deputy premier, a big comedown for Malenkov but still an important government position.

The historic joint session of the Supreme Soviet's 1,300 members accepted both nominations — as they had accepted selection of Bulganin Tuesday—with a show of hands and stormy applause.

Zhukov, once in relative eclipse in the post - war Stalin days, emerged to great prominence after Stalin's death. Since then he has been serving as one of two deputy defence ministers. He was a wartime acquaintance of Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery and President Eisenhower, then Allied commander in chief, in Germany.

The session turned the spotlight on another Second World War military hero, Marshal Ivan S. Konev, also emerging to greater prominence. Konev headed the military court which condemned police boss Lavrenty Beria to death in December, 1963, in a purge of the Soviet Union's secret police system.

PARLIAMENT CHEERS

To cheers from the parliament deputies, Konev declared recent Soviet Army manoeuvres "have improved the Soviet Army's training in ways based on Soviet science." He accused American "imperialists" of surrounding the Soviet Union with bases and propagandizing for atom warfare, adding that "the Soviet Union loses no time in perfecting its skill and training" under such circumstances.

"Our army," said Konev, "represents a mighty force which fully answers the demands and characteristics of modern war. If the imperialists dare to attack our motherland, the Soviet armed forces have at their disposal all kinds of weapons for the complete defeat of the aggressors."

A similar tone was set Tuesday in a major foreign policy statement by Foreign Minister Molotov, providing the background for the Soviet appeal drawing attention of the world's parliaments to "the situation in Europe."

D. T. Shepilov, editor of Pravda and chairman of the Council of Nationalists (lower house) foreign affairs committee, read the statement to parliament. It backed the government's contention that the United States is leading an "arms race of the imperialists" and renewed the Soviet demand for unconditional prohibition of all atomic weapons. The action looked like the kickoff for a new major "peace offensive" by the Soviet Union.

OPINIONS DOVETAIL

It also seemed to indicate a dovetailing of the opinions of the Soviet military and ruling Communist party, whose first secretary and boss, N. S. Khrushchev, has just presented a display of personal influence and power. Khrushchev dominated the scene Tuesday when Malenkov, confessing himself an inexperienced failure, quit the premiership in favor of Bulganin.

Zhukov's appointment was another link in this chain of important Soviet events, underscoring a Soviet policy linked to heavy industry for "building the defence might of the Soviet motherland."

The general theme of toughness and strength was advanced by Bulganin. In his first address as premier, he pledged the government to work unswervingly to expand Soviet heavy industry to increase Soviet armed might.

Plan To Test Guided Missile At Churchill

OTTAWA (CP) — A team of Canadian and United States military experts are expected to fire the guided missile Nike in a series of winter tests this week at Churchill, Man., it was learned Wednesday.

A spokesman at army headquarters said a party of Canadian and American senior officers and scientists went to Churchill, 600 miles north of Winnipeg, for the tests.

The firing of the 20-foot-long guided missle will take place this week providing weather conditions at the northern testing station are favorable. Nike is an American - developed, supersonic guided missle used as an anti-aircraft defence weapon.

The missile measures about a foot in diameter and is launched by remote control from a launching platform. It first was developed in 1946 without the guided features. These were added by several U.S. electrical companies and the missile was tested at proving grounds in the U.S.

The Churchill tests are expected to give military experts an indication of Nike's performance under cold weather conditions.

—The trial of Simmons and MacFarlane Ltd., of Summerside continued in county Magistrate's court last evening before Magistrate R. S. Hinton, Q. C., with evidence on the second of three charges being heard, that of violating the Potato Marketing Board regulations by failing to obtain a producer's license for the 1954-1955 season.

The hearing on the first charge was begun at 7.30 p.m. but was adjourned after a brief but heated argument arose over the objection of the defence counsel concerning the legality of evidence given by Mr. Henry S. Cannon, of St. Eleanors, a witness for the prosecution.

Mr. Cannon is a seed potato inspector for the Summerside area. After several preliminary objections to the second charge by the counsel for the defendant, Mr. J. O. C. Campbell, Q. C., Mr. Donald MacDonald, chairman of the Potato Marketing Board took the stand for the prosecution and told the court he controlled the issuance of potato producers licenses on P. E.I. and stated that the firm of Simmons and MacFarlane Ltd., were not licensed as producers between December 1 1954 and January 6, 1955. he said the firm was licensed the year before.

During cross examination by Mr. Campbell, Mr. MacDonald showed the court a copy of the licensed producers in the Summerside area, which he said was prepared from the official records, but on the objection of the defence counsel, this copy was not accepted as evidence.

Mr. J. W. Profitt of Summerside, a seed potato inspector was also called by the crown and he stated he had inspected potatoes grown by Simmons and MacFarlane Ltd., in fields located in the New Annan area. He produced records of applications asking for the field inspection, but on cross examination could not identify the signature of the applicant on the application form due to illegibility. The witness showed the court that the bottom of the application stamped "Simmons and MacFarlane Ltd.," presumably with a rubber stamp.

Mr. Cannon also took the stand again as a witness for the prosecution, which was represented by Mr. J. B. Johnston of Charlottetown.

The case was adjourned until Wednesday, February 23rd, at 7.30 p.m.

Tiny Premature Baby Still Alive

MONTREAL (CP)—A baby girl born three months prematurely and weighing little more than one pound was still alive Wednesday in hospital here six days after birth.

The baby, about the size of a person's hand, is in an incubator at Children's Memorial Hospital.

A hospital official said its chances of survival are "very, very poor," but said no hospital in Montreal has any record of a baby so small having survived such a length of time.

The girl was born last Friday afternoon at her parents' home. Hospital authorities declined to give the parents' names or address, but said they have one other child, a 12-year-old boy.

The baby weighed one pound, three ounces at birth.

Says Job

ried to and from the Province had multiplied more than ten times in the past 20 years. "We never hear what the Railway makes on freight," he said. He was of the opinion that it was a paying proposition, since much of the freight moved to the Island comprises a long haul and the rates are high. Mr. Bell thought that if the Railway was losing on its passenger trade it was making up for it on the freight. He implored the support of every member of the House in seeing that the present service is maintained.

OPENING REMARKS

In his opening remarks Mr Bell expressed his pleasure that the Speaker of the House was in his accustomed place and that he seemed to be enjoying good health. "I am glad to have this opportunity of saying this to you, Mr. Speaker, because I might not have the opportunity of doing it again. . .you might not be here. . .I might not be here next term," said Mr. Bell. He expressed the hope that the Speaker would follow in the job of his former colleague from 2nd Prince, who is now in the Senate.

Mr. Bell noted that many prominent citizens had departed from this life during the past year. He made particular mention of the passing of His Excellency Bishop Boyle whom he described as a kindly man who was highly regarded by all the citizens of the Province.

In making reference to the North River Causeway, the opposition leader said he was happy to note that his colleague from 2nd Queens was planning a formal opening.

Hon. Mr. MacDonald: "And that's going to be before the election."

Mr. Bell: "You may have the North River causeway opening before the election, but I am sure you won't have the West River done by that time."

Hon. Mr. MacKinnon: "Would you suggest a causeway over the West River?"

Mr. Bell replied that, in his opinion, a causeway would serve the purpose just as well as a bridge. He felt that it should be built at a point on the river which would best serve the needs of the people in the South Shore area.

Mr. Bell who followed the mover and seconder of the address, told the Speaker that he had had very little time to examine in full the Throne Speech and asked for an adjournment. The House adjourned about 4.30 p.m. to meet at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Premier Matheson intimated that following todays setting the House would adjourn for the week-end.

Haiti Looks For Sugar, Coffee Sales In Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—President Paul Eugene Magloire of Haiti said Wednesday he would like to see Canada buy more sugar and coffee from Haiti.

The head of the tropical republic told a press conference that the main purpose of his five-day visit to Canada is "friendship" but that he welcomes the opportunity to discuss commercial matters with Canadian government officials.

Haiti buys much more from Canada than it sells, he said. One of its main imports is smoked fish.

The 48-year-old president, his wife and Haitian government officials arrived here Wednesday by plane from Boston. They will visit Quebec City and Montreal before leaving Feb. 14.

DESCRIBED AS POOR

The tall, dark-skinned president and his wife are guests at Government House, where the press conference was held.

Speaking in French, the official language of Haiti, the president described his 10,000-square-mile West Indies republic as a "poor country."

However, he said, the five-year plan of economic and social reforms he introduced soon after his election in 1950 is beginning to show results.

Dosco President Claims Canadians A Little Smug

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — The president of the Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation says Canadians may be becoming " a little smug, slightly complacent, self-satisfied and too sure of ourselves."

Lionel A. Forsyth told the annual meeting of the Newfoundland board of trade Tuesday night that Canadians were perhaps "to ready to accept the appraisal of the outside world and disinclined to search and root out our failings."

He asked: "Have we perhaps forgotten the dependence of Canada as a trading nation upon other nations in the world, both as consumers of our production and suppliers of our needs?"

SYNTHETIC MARKET

Speaking of free enterprise, Mr. Forsyth asked "how can one speak of a free competitive economy in a country where the prinicipal agricultural products are produced for and sold in a fictitious or synthetic market at uniform prices having little or no relation to supply and demand?

"Where is the free competition in a situation where labor rates are the result of combination and the use of uncontrolled economic strength?

"How free is the competition in a country where the production of minerals including coal requires the aid of public monies to survive?"

NO DISAPPROVAL

He said he did not disapprove of this policy but "I refuse to live in a 'fool's paradise.' "

Mr. Forsyth said "we must have no illusions about that policy. We must recognize it, support it, and above all, adapt it to conditions as they exist from time to time."

"And I do not believe that those who think as I do should be branded as reactionary monopolists or economic royalists."
