MUSIC FESTIVAL AND MUSICIANS

The presses are rolling on the Syllabus for our Eleventh Annual Musical Festival.

Several new classes have been added. In an endeavour to further encourage group singing in rural areas, classes for Women's Institutes, 4 H. Clubs, Junior Farmers Clubs, etc., have been included.

An innovation to this festival but used in other Festivals is the addition of a Quick Study Class in piano solo. In this the student is required to perform. After having studied the piece for approximately two days. The piece is selected by the Adjudicator.

Another new class is the Accompanist Class. In this the contestant is required to accompany the singer following receipt of the number on the previous day.

A three-part Girls Chorus (S.A.A.) for grades 8, 9, 10 from Rural Schools of four rooms and over has been added. Class 115.

New also is Class 128 for three part Girls Chorus (S.A.A.) for Urban Schools.

Class 102 Instrumental Ensemble for the encouragement of groups who may play their own selection should prove popular.

Simple Chorus selected from the book "Canada Sings" have been set for both women's and men's service clubs in the hope of encouraging these groups to enter. There has been a noticeable lack of entries in these classes of late years and it would indeed be good to see more interest here.

A Century Of "Y" Progress

The Charlottetown Y. M. C. A. Service on New Year's day of this year. The organizational meeting was held on New Year's day 1856 in St. Paul's Anglican Church.

The leading spirit and first President was Capt. John Orlebar, R.N. who was born in London and came to Canada in 1841. He was employed in making a hydrographic survey of adjacent waters and spent many years in Charlottetown where there is a street named after him.

Shortly after its inception, the "Y" held their meetings in the Temperance Hall, for the past few years and until recently occupied by the "Guardian". (PICTURED LEFT).

FIRST IN NORTH AMERICA. In 1871 the corner stone of the Y. M. C. A. building was laid by Governor Robinson and on being officially opened by him (the last Governor before P. E. Island entered Confederation) on August 18, 1873, it was credited with being the first "Y" building in North America designed purely for "Y" work.

(PICTURED RIGHT) This building is now owned by the Federal Government and is the local headquarters for the Department of Veterans Affairs. The new Y. M. C. A. building (CENTRE) on Prince Street was started in 1947 and formally opened on August 19, 1948 when the cornerstone was placed by Lord Alexander, Earl of Tunis, Governor General of Canada.

"I assure you however that the many problems presented to us and the members of the Government will be given very serious representation."

Maritime Central Seeks European Landing Rights

MONTREAL - This month officials of Maritime Central Airways leave for Europe to arrange landing rights for their new service.

In December the Air Transport Board in Ottawa granted the private operator permission to operate a European service out of Montreal and Toronto.

Result: Maritime Central is now Canada's number two airline on the North Atlantic.

Nothing was put up at the ATB hearings by other carriers, but TCA - the only one directly affected - did not object.

Under the ruling MCA can fly a non-scheduled service between Toronto-Montreal and Europe carrying either passengers or freight.

Initially it is planned to use two DC-4 aircraft, each holding between 60 and 65 passengers. Seats can only be sold to groups, i.e., not to individuals.

This means MCA is out to cash in on a new travel trend that is growing each year in Canada, chartering of airlines for holiday parties, often from the same company.

Hoped for landing places in Europe are Britain, Italy, Germany, Norway and France.

Under the agreement MCA is not limited in its number of flights. The line gets second go on all Canadian North Atlantic charters. That is, if TCA can't handle it MCA is given a chance to take it.

Nothing can be agreed yet, but MCA executives are presently flying that the RCAF are presently flying three transport flights a week. Europe. A share of that market could possibly be chartered out to relieve pressure on the RCAF and MCA would be more than ready to take it.

At present MCA has 16 aircraft operating on the DEW line and other northern charters. The airline runs a scheduled service throughout the Maritimes using DC-3s and DC-4s.

1,000 Ducks And Six Geese Winter At Moore Sanctuary

Over 1,000 ducks and six Canada geese are wintering at the Harvey Moore Sanctuary at Commercial Cross. These six geese together with Mr. Moore's own dozen or more wild geese and the ducks remained at the pond during the past cold weather but moved to the brooks following the freezing up of the pond. With the recent prolonged thaw they have moved back again to the pond where they are assembled in large numbers.

Many people stood on the lawn yesterday to watch while Mr. Moore fed the birds, and a worthwhile experience it is. Mr. Moore has only to call and the birds will fly off the pond to come where he is. It is also of note that he is the only keeper to our knowledge who can pick up these wild birds and band them in this manner. Even the cagey wild geese will feed from his hand in a manner clearly showing their faith and trust.

Mr. Moore said that although the larger percentage of wintering birds were black ducks, there were also mallards, pintails and baldpates. It was noteworthy, he said, that this is the first winter that pintails and baldpates have remained over the winter season at the sanctuary. Mr. Moore has spent many days and weeks in building up his sanctuary so that it has become a known refuge for ducks and geese. Two years ago he constructed another large pond above the first one and in the spring and fall both ponds are filled with birds. Mr. Moore feeds them the year round so that they remain in prime condition for their continued flight either northward or southward.

During the past year thousands of people have stopped at his sanctuary to watch him call and feed the birds, and have left with a feeling of delight to have seen these birds in flight, and of gratitude to Mr. Moore, who has yet to take a Sunday away from his sanctuary, for his kindness in making their stay so pleasant.
