

FRENCHMEN QUIT MEETING OF UN

Expect New Ministerial Link From Conference

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, (CP)—A new federal-provincial permanent ministerial body likely will emerge out of next week's conference of premiers.

Into its lap undoubtedly will be dumped a number of sticky issues such as health insurance and public investment which the experts here believe will not be resolved at the October session.

How far the federal government will go on health insurance will depend on how strongly the more influential provinces—particularly Ontario—push their views. But federal officials are not hopeful of anything being achieved more than agreement in principle among the 11 government leaders to work on the scheme.

"CATCH-ALL" BODY

The whole issue then would be tossed into the hands of a working committee—the permanent federal-provincial link envisaged by authorities here. The committee probably made up of federal-provincial cabinet ministers or their deputies, would be a "catch-all."

Problems which the premiers cannot resolve or on which they want more study or negotiation could be referred to the permanent body.

It may prove useful to the federal government which next week expects to hear a lot of demands from the provinces for financial aid in expanding and exploiting resources through public investment.

Informants said that at the Sept. 10-11 Halifax meeting of federal-provincial deputy ministers the provinces voiced many demands for federal aid in this field.

One wanted federal aid in resources survey work, another in the first against water pollution, a third in developing forestry projects, a fourth in developing an irrigation and power project.

It is understood the federal government will give these provinces little encouragement. The federal view is that it is doing enough: It is aiding in building a trans-Canada highway; working with the provinces in developing land for housing; and putting up money for harbors and some river works.

But the central administration is certain to agree to have all these requests "looked at" by the permanent committee.

Check Possibility Raft Seen From Missing Plane

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., (AP)—The navy said Friday it had a report from Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, of the vague possibility a raft from a hurricane hunter plane, missing with two Toronto newspaper men aboard, had been located by radar.

Contact with the plane was lost Monday just after it had radioed it was about to enter hurricane Jane in the mid-Caribbean sea.

On board were Alfred O. Tate, a reporter, and Douglas Cronk, a photographer, both of the Toronto Star, and a crew of nine.

The navy said its report indicated the search and rescue headquarters at Guantanamo Bay had picked up some kind of object by radar in the wake of the storm but that identification was uncertain inasmuch as a great amount of debris was in the water.

Storm Damage Reports Delayed

MEXICO CITY, (AP)—Rivers flooded by hurricane Janet's heavy rains covered or washed out highways and communications lines over a long stretch of Mexico's Gulf coast Friday, delaying reports of the storm's toll.

Coastal towns from Tuxpan to below Nautla, a small fishing port 75 miles north of Veracruz, have not been heard from directly since the season's most vicious tropical storm crashed inland Thursday and beat itself out against the Sierra Madre mountains.

Floods extended inland as far as Pachuca, 100 miles west from the coast and 70 miles north of Mexico City. There was some radio communication with the fringes of the flooded area and no reports mentioned any deaths or injuries.

Typhoon Poses New Threat For Japanese Island

TOKYO, (Reuters)—Typhoon Louise, which killed at least 31 persons and is reported to have left 500,000 homeless when it struck western Japan, turned north and threatened new destruction to Hokkaido island today.

An official weather bulletin issued Friday night said the whirling storm, which curved out over the Japanese sea after pounding Kyushu early in the day, had turned again and was headed straight for Hokkaido, most northerly of the main Japanese islands. It was expected to strike there this morning.

Police reported that the typhoon left widespread destruction in Kyushu, chief southern island of Japan, during a seven-hour assault by 123-mile-an-hour winds. The storm now is reported to have lost some force, with maximum winds estimated at 80 miles an hour.

Eisenhower Makes Progress

DENVER, Colo., (AP)—President Eisenhower, still progressing after an "excellent" night, prepared Friday to take the first step on the road back toward active direction of the government.

But even as he made ready for the step-initiating of a couple of official documents—one of his heart specialists, physicians, a world leader in the field, contributed to already strong indications that Eisenhower won't seek a second term.

Dr. Paul Dudley White of Boston, who examined the president last Sunday and Monday, told a television audience that if he were Eisenhower he "wouldn't want to run" for re-election.

New Outlets Seen For Canadian Farm Products From Birds Eye Purchase

The recent purchase of the Canadian Birds Eye frozen foods business by an all-Canadian group is expected to result in new markets for Canadian producers of fish, poultry, fruit and vegetables, reports the Financial Post, Toronto, in its current issue.

All the details in connection with the new operation haven't been worked out yet, but an announcement is expected within the next few weeks.

Hugh Paton, president of Paton Corp., Toronto, who sold his half interest in Canadian Birds Eye to the new group, sees the Birds Eye organization as a major potential outlet for Canadian products. The company markets about 50 per cent of the frozen foods sold in Canada. And 65 per cent - 70 per cent of frozen foods sold here in the past have originated in the U. S.

It's expected that the new group may be able to base its operations in the U. S. Continued on page 2, Col. 4

Protest Move To Debate Algerian Issue

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., (AP)—The United Nations decided Friday night to take up the hot issue of Algerian independence.

Over bitter French opposition, the assembly decided by a margin of one vote to place the highly controversial question on its agenda.

What the assembly actually did was reverse a decision of its 15-nation steering committee to turn down an Algerian debate. The vote was 28 in favor of the debate, 27 against and five abstaining.

Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay immediately took the floor and said France would regard any action taken by the assembly on Algeria as null and void. He added:

"I do not know tomorrow what will be the relations between France and the United Nations."

The French delegation then rose and walked out while the assembly went on with other business.

Outside the assembly chamber, French delegate Herve Alphand was asked whether France would withdraw from the UN.

"We might," he replied.

Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak of Belgium had warned the assembly earlier that a decision to take up the Algerian problem might cause many countries to consider how they could remain in the world organization.

Spaak and other opponents of the debate contended that Algeria was a part of France proper and thus did not fall within the jurisdiction of the United Nations, which can consider only international problems.

Members of the Asian-African bloc made the original request to take up the Algerian question. In the General Assembly they received the support of Russia and other Communist countries, including Yugoslavia, and of some Latin-American nations.

Lining up with France were the United States, Britain, the smaller colonial powers and a scattering of nations from Latin America.

It was the second defeat for the anti-colonial powers in the current assembly. Thursday this group succeeded in getting the steering committee to recommend the airing of the future of West New Guinea. The assembly will make the final decision on whether to put this long standing hot dispute between The Netherlands and Indonesia on its agenda.

France has boycotted previous sessions of assembly committees on debate over Morocco—an issue which the assembly has shelved for this session. Morocco is a French protectorate.

Canada's Wheat Crop Figures

OTTAWA, (CP)—Canada's 1955 wheat crop was officially estimated Friday at 498,342,000 bushels, down 2,245,000 from the preliminary estimate last month of 500,587,000 bushels. This is the eighth largest crop in history.

The prairie wheat crop was estimated at 476,000,000 bushels, down 2,000,000 from the preliminary estimate, the bureau of statistics reports. The estimate is based on a survey made on Sept. 15.

The revised estimate places the all-Canadian wheat crop at 61 per cent higher than the 308,900,000 bushels last year and 12 per cent higher than the last 10-year average of 445,900,000 bushels. It would be 29 per cent below the record 701,900,000 bushels harvested in 1952.
