Junior Red Cross Christmas Project

Members of the Charlottetown High School Red Cross Council are seen sorting, wrapping and packaging the hundreds of gifts which have come in at Provincial Red Cross Headquarters for Junior Red Cross Branches all over the Island. These gifts are for distribution to handicapped children in the province who are receiving treatment through the Junior Red Cross. This annual project, which has been carried on for almost thirty years, not only brings much happiness to the children who receive these gifts, but it is also a very practical means of putting into effect the "Service to Others" which is a very important part of the Junior Red Cross programme. Those in the photograph are:—Marie McEachern, Isabel MacDonald, Rosemarie Bulger, Carol Garnham, Mary Smith, John MacDonald and Gerald Bulger.
