AN EMPIRE ON REVIEW.

Britain Teaching the World a Salutary Lesson.

Under the caption, 'An Empire on Review,' the New York Tribune publishes the following on its editorial page. 'The troubles in South Africa are a second time placing the British empire on review before the world. The first time was just after the Jameson raid. Great Britain was then at the height of her "splendid isolation." There was unpleasant, not to say menacing, talk upon the Continent. The spectre of hostile intervention began to take form. It was necessary for the insular Athanasius to make a demonstration, not against the Transvaal, but the world. The word was given. And in the twinkling of an eye, from every wave-made hollow of all the Seven Seas there seemed to start a British battleship, with decks full cleared for action. Never, perhaps, was a more startling exhibition made of a great nation's readiness by the potential threateners. As that amazing reserve fleet steamed into view the possible meddlers vanished. As "Oom Paul" put it in a racy speech, "the Old Lady just sneezed, and then where were they?" For answer, here is what the New Free Press of Vienna says: "There can be no question of the intervention of any European power. No one will rob the British lion of his prey."

"To-day this second review is of a different character. It is not the navy but the army. Now, the British army has been much despoiled upon the continent since the memory of Waterloo began to fade. Its hideous mismanagement in the Crimea discredited its system as much as Balaklava honored its individual valor, and since then it has had to deal with none but petty tribes or with remote enemies. Upon the fields of Europe it has been unknown, and Waterloo has been eclipsed by Duppel, Sedowa and Sedan. With no conscription, outnumbered more than ten to one by rivals, and scattered to the four corners of the earth, it has come to be regarded as a negligible, if not an outright minus, quantity; but now that estimate is reconsidered. With a promptness, a smoothness and an ease that make the Continental captains rub their eyes, the British army is mobilized and sent half way around the globe for action; and it shows a fitness of physical condition a perfection of equipment and discipline and, in brief, an all-round efficiency that excites the amazement and admiration of even the German headquarters staff, and calls therefrom formal but most cordial compliment. True, it is a small army compared with what the great military powers could put into the field. But size does not always count. It shows in field action the efficiency which a German expert in the Sudan campaign pronounced "simply incredible." True, also it has to be summoned from distant parts. But, then, too, all the scattered colonies stand ready with their contingents. It is not an army from Great Britain and Ireland alone, but from that greater Britain which includes the Dominion of Canada and the United States of Australia.

"So the world is made to realize that the British empire is still a military force on land as well as sea and on sea as well as land. There has been some vain talk of Europe's opportunity while British hands are busy in South Africa for making anti-British advances elsewhere in the world. In the first place, it is not to be believed that any power or powers have such a purpose or desire; and in the second place it is to be observed that, despite her business in South Africa, Great Britain is just as free as ever to deal with any other foe. The hand with which she has been expected to grapple with Russian or French or German aggression are not tied nor busy. Her fleet is not engaged in the Transvaal. Just a few ships under the gallant Chichester—the friend of Dewey at Manila—are sufficient for her purpose there. All the rest remain on duty as before around her coasts, in the narrow seas, in the Mediterranean, and wherever there is an interest to guard or a menace to check. It is not in vain glorious boasting nor in swaggering jingoism, but in the calm confidence of well prepared and well tested strength, that the British empire stands on review to-day, ready at every point, on land and sea, to keep alive her martial drumbeat sounding and her peaceful commerce moving and her vast realm intact all around the crimsoned circle of the globe.

Olive Schreiner, the Afrikaner novelist, appealed to the sense of pity in the Britisher against the war against the Boers, in which he said mere children would have to be enlisted in defence of the Transvaal. It appears there are British children, too, in the war, but that they are a subject for pity seems doubtful, if we are to believe a despatch which tells us that a young but apparently bloodthirsty cub of the old lion, a bugler of fortune, shot down four Boers in Saturday's battle at Elandsplaagte. We suppose the Black Prince at Crécy was a couple of years older when he distinguished himself by his fierceness and valor. Rudyard Kipling's 'Drums of the fore and Aft' may have inspired the young Britisher of Elandsplaagte, who probably never had heard of the Black Prince.

TEST THE KIDNEYS

And if they are diseased use the world's greatest kidney cure

Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills

It's a simple matter to test the kidneys. You need not consult a doctor. By asking yourself three questions you can determine whether or not your kidneys are deranged.

First: "Have you backache, or weak, lame back?"

Second: "Do you have difficulty in urinating or a too frequent desire to urinate?"

Third: "Are there deposits like brick dust in the urine after it has stood for twenty-four hours?"

In its earlier stages kidney disease is readily cured by a few boxes of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, a preparation which has made Dr. Chase famous throughout the world for his wonderful cures of diseases of the kidneys.

If you have kidney disease you can take Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills with perfect confidence that what has proved an absolute cure in so many thousands of cases will not fail you.

So long as the cells of the kidneys are not completely wasted away, as in the last stages of Bright's disease, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills will give them new vigor and strength and make them strong, healthy and active. One pill a dose, 25c. a box, at all dealers, or Edmanston, Bates & Co., Toronto.

AMBITIOUS CITY AGAIN

Mr. Harry Bawden, of Hamilton, Ont. Cured of Lumbago; by

Dodd's Kidney Pill

Hamilton, Oct. 16.—Mr. Harry Bawden of this city corroborates the report printed recently relating to his cure of Lumbago by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"For six years," he says, "I suffered with Lumbago and Kidney Disease. I tried everything under the sun, but absolutely nothing I ever took gave me the slightest relief. A friend advised me about one year ago to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I finally decided to do so, and purchased one box and found relief. I used in all five boxes and am completely cured.

The case has created quite a stir and there are found, too many warm, endorsees of Dodd's Kidney Pills in this city. Little faith is put in the many imitations on the market, the verdict being that the original is the best.
