OCTOBER 28, 1897.

NOVEMBER LADIES' HOME JOURNAL.

"The First Thanksgiving Dinner," "Lillian Bell's First Days in London" and "When Dr. Whitman Added Three Stars to Our Flag" are among the leading features of the November Ladies' Home Journal. The first tells of the most historically important dinner in America, at which Indian chiefs were guests, and at which oysters were first eaten by white men. Miss Bell finds much in London to inspire her pen to its smartest activity, and the descriptions of her sight-seeing tours, her impressions and experiences fairly sparkle with wit. Dr. Whitman's service to the United States in saving Oregon, Washington and Idaho from the British are acknowledged in an article which follows the first women across the continent and the first whites over the Rocky Mountains. Magician Keller writes on "How I Do My Tricks," showing how simple is their solution when it is known.

The second article on "Inside of a Hundred Homes" is more attractive and rich in suggestions on furnishing and fitting up a home than was the excellent inaugural one of the series. It presents fifteen views. Edward W. Bok advises young married people against living in a hotel or boarding house, points out the beauties of the small courtyards of life, and expresses hearty approval of the renewed interest in sewing—woman's truest accomplishment. Alice Wellington Rollins introduces a new and charming character in fiction in the first of her Philippa sketches—"The Mistakes of Philippa"—and Clara E. Laughlin contributes "The Revelation of Christopher," a story of strong human interest.

Pianists will be delighted with the musical feature, "Poets Dream Waltzes," by Reginald de Koven, author of Robin Hood, etc., and people who are home-seekers, with the Journal's special architect's plans for a $2200 house for a small square lot. Mrs. Rorer tells how to cook eggs and to handle the family wash, and other articles give hints for church societies and parties. Suggestions for Christmas presents that can be made by the giver are timely, as are articles upon dress, needlework, and the various departments covering nearly every phase of home life and of woman's work. The November Journal is interesting, instructive and practical. By The Curtis Publishing Company, Philadelphia. One dollar per year; ten cents per copy.

MACAULAY—CROKEN.

A very pretty wedding took place this morning at the immaculate Conception church, the contracting parties being Augustus Macaulay, of Springfield and Miss Sadie Croken, of this city, daughter of Bernard E. Croken, of Norboro, Prince Edward Island. The bride was attended by Miss Rose McMahon, cousin of the bride, and the groomsmen were George McGilivray, of Springfield. The bride wore a becoming gown of white silk and wore a tulle veil and carried a white pearl prayer book. The bridesmaid wore white and carried a pink silk and carried a bouquet of pinks.

Mr. Macaulay is a well known young man of Springfield and is one of the foremen of the New England Telephone Co., of that city. After the ceremony the wedding party retired to the home of the bride's uncle, James McMahon, of Whipple street, where a wedding breakfast was served by Caterer Mills. Guests were present from Springfield, Beverly and Lynn. The happy couple left on the noon train for Newport, where they will take the boat for New York. After an extended tour they will reside in Springfield. The wedding presents were numerous and costly.—Fall River Herald, Oct. 12th.

According to our commercial advices from New York, the business situation is fairly satisfactory, though not as good as was expected in many lines. Business is irregular, and there is a falling off in demand that has not been made up by speculative activity. Warm weather has interfered considerably with the movements of seasonable goods. Collections are reported as "weak" in several directions. Prospects are generally encouraging.

Pousse Pâté...

And why not a pie-pusher as well as a coffee-pusher? It's far more necessary. Do you suffer with dyspepsia? Ayer's Cathartic Pills will cure you. Take a

PILL AFTER PIE.

Large and Respectable.

In Hannibal Hamlin's earlier days, at a certain caucus in Hampden, the only attendants were himself and a citizen of large stature. Mr. Hamlin had some resolutions to pass which began by representing that they were presented to a "large and respectable" gathering of voters. "Hold on!" cried the other man. "We can't pass that, for it ain't true! It ain't a large and respectable caucus! There's only two of us." "You keep still, brother," commanded the wily Hannibal. "It's all right, for you are large and I am respectable. You just keep still." So the resolutions were passed without further demur.—Argonaut.

An Appreciative Reader.

Newsboy Jimmie—Say, I guess all dem jokes is new to dat fellie.

Newsboy Johnnie—Whatjergivins? Don't yer know him? He's de fellie what writes 'em.—New York Journal.

If men would only realize that ill health robs them not only of life, but of their fortune as well, there would be fewer penniless widows and orphans to drag out cheerless lives. When a man holds a dollar close up to his eyes, it shuts out the light of good judgment, and looks bigger than life or death, or wife or child. The facts are that ill-health very soon puts a stop to a man's money-making powers and turns them into money-losing disabilities. When a man's digestion is out of order and his liver sluggish, his brain gets dull, his muscles sluggish, his blood impure and every organ in the body—brain, lungs, heart, stomach, liver and kidneys—becomes crippled. A man with a crippled lung, liver, heart, brain or kidney, is a worse cripple ten times over, than a man who is minus a leg or an arm. The man who is crippled outside may live a long life but the man who is crippled inside is taking a short cut to the grave. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures indigestion, makes the appetite keen, the liver active, the blood pure, and every organ healthy and vigorous. It makes blood and builds flesh up to the healthy standard. Honest dealers don't recommend substitutes.

"I wish to say to those who suffer from kidney and bladder trouble—take Dr. R. V. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery," writes Dr. Anderson of Carthage, Jasper Co., Mo. "A patient of mine says it is worth $50 per bottle to any one who is afflicted as he was. Three bottles cured him entirely. Perfectly miserable he was before taking the Discovery, and now is one of the happiest men in this County. Prof. Chreine would gladly sign this if he were in town. He requested me to write a testimonial and writes it as strong as the English language could make it."

A $1.50 home doctor-book FREE. For a paper-covered copy of Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser send 31 one-cent stamps, to cover cost of customs and mailing only. Cloth binding 50 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

HOME DRESSMAKING.

Do not set your belt up so high on a waist that it feels as if it were short waisted and pulling up.

All cotton and linen goods are apt to shrink; therefore do not forget to turn down an extra inch at the top of the skirt.

Do not forget that a better shape can be given to a cotton dress by cutting it off and then facing the lower edge rather than hemming it.

Bent whalebones, the genuine article, are straightened by soaking them in boiling water for a few moments and then ironing them straight.

Stockinet and good rubber dress shields can be washed in warm soapsuds, pulled into shape and dried by hanging them in a window.

Use small hooks and eyes for the front of a dress and the extra large for the skirt, which is fastened without seeing and needs larger catches.

Do not fail to run a skirt braid along the under edge of street skirts of linen or heavy cotton goods unless you prefer to see the edge cut out after wearing them a few times.

Do not work buttonholes with too coarse a thread. Twist for silk and woolen goods and 45, 50 or 60 thread for cotton materials are of the correct thickness.—American Queen.

Not Entirely Satisfactory.

The old gentleman in the checked shirt and runover boots stood his whip in the corner of the phonograph parlors and said to the attendant:

"I jes' sold my hay, and I want ter have a try at one of these here machines—scopes, or whatever you call 'em. I've been readin in the papers about 'em, and how they represented things jes' like they happened. I want yer ter fix up that 'un 'bout that actor feller—what wuz his name?—the feller that—" "Oh, I know whom you mean," said the attendant. "Sit down and put these tubes in your ears."

The attendant started up that blood curdling imposition known as "The Ravings of John McCullough," and the old man sat holding the tubes in his ears, listening with great intentness until the conclusion. Then he arose, gave the attendant his dime, and picked up his whip in a thoughtful manner.

"How'd you like it?" asked the attendant.

"It wuz pretty well," said the old farmer, rubbing his ear dubiously, "and I guess it wuz all jes' like it happened, but I must say I wuz a leetle bit disappointed. I couldn't tell which wuz Corbett and which wuz Fitzsimmons."—New York Truth.

An Ominous Phrase.

"I hope you will excuse what may seem to you to be a liberty," said the young man.

"Certainly," replied the merchant. "I am sure that you will not presume on your position as a trusted employee."

"It is just that that I desire to mention. I heard you speaking of me to one of your friends the other day as 'a trusted employee,' and I wanted to ask you as a special favor to call me something else. After all that's been happening I can't help feeling that it causes me to be regarded with a suspicion which I do not deserve."—Washington Star.

Two Kinds.

"I knew Jagway had once lived in Colorado, but I didn't know he had ever been worth $50,000. How did he run through it?"

"Sunk it in canals." "Irrigating?" "Yes, and alimentary."—Chicago Tribune.

May Be So.

"I don't know what I would have done if it hadn't been for you!" exclaimed the discharged prisoner.

"Well, you probably would have done time," said the proud lawyer.—Yonkers Statesman.

Romance Versus Reality.

She (after the quarrel)—And must we part forever, Harry?

He—Well, at least until tomorrow night, Maude.—Philadelphia North American.

The Enchantress.

She played upon her sweet guitar. She smiled at him the while. Emboldened then, she sang a bar or two in awful style.

He yawned—his larynx was displayed. She dropped her sweet guitar. "Perhaps," exclaimed the angry maid, "you know what manners are."

"But if you do I must declare you must have concealed the fact." He went and kissed the maiden fair—He was a man of tact.

"Sweet little scroacher," he said, "I fell beneath a spell. And so I nearly lost my head, For you performed so well."

Ah, woman, woman! Flattery Goes straight into thy heart. It dries thy tears, it comforts thee, It soothes thy keenest smart.

She gave her hand to him, and so She never plays today. The first thing that he did was to throw Her sweet guitar away! —Cleveland Leader.

Henrik Ibsen is breaking up his home in Christiania, Norway. He will first go to Copenhagen and about the end of the year will permanently settle in some Italian city.

Harry B. Smith has finished the book of "Peg Woffington" and handed it over to Davis & Whitney for Camille D'Arville's starring tour. The music is by Reginald De Koven.

Tailors are not Mind Readers

You select the cloth, see the fashion plate, and form a mental impression of how a chosen style would look on you.

The Tailors idea differs, and the suit, when finished, looks as he thought you wanted it to appear. It bears his individuality not yours. It may lack the little characteristics of shape you like—possess those you would avoid.

"Fit-Reform" suits (ready made in nine shapes) permit you to see just how they look on you, just how they fit your ideals before purchased.

You know what you get, pay half the tailor's price, have no further "fitting on" and the suit is sent home at once.

Makers brand and price in left breast pocket.

$10, $12, $15, $18, $20 per Suit.
