

Student Pugwash needs a leader

IF you are looking for a position that will offer you an unusual challenge,

IF you are eager to test your abilities and learn many new skills,

IF the prospect of leading a national organization excites you, and

IF you are willing to work hard in a demanding environment,

THEN you might be interested in Canadian Student Pugwash.

Canadian Student Pugwash is seeking a new National Coordinator for a two-year term, beginning July/August, 1985, when the term of the current National Coordinator expires.

The National Coordinator is the Chief Executive Officer of Canadian Student Pugwash, and is responsible for a broad range of tasks, including the planning and coordination of a national conference, the direction of a fund raising campaign, the formation and development of Student Pugwash chapters at Canadian universities, the editing, publication and distribution of newsletters, conference proceedings, and reference material, the dissemination of information on issues related to science, public policy, and the social responsibilities of scientists, and the management of the National Office in Ottawa.

This position offers a unique opportunity to gain experience in the development of new education programs and in the management of existing ones, to work with a large number of students, university professors, and top government officials across the country, and to explore the social implications of science and technology.

The National Coordinator must have leadership qualities, organizational abilities, an interest in the education of university students, and a concern for the role of science and technology in society. Excellent communication skills in the English language are essential; a working knowledge of French is an asset. Preference will be given to candidates who have completed an undergraduate degree, though others will be considered.

Canadian Student Pugwash is a non-profit and non-partisan, university-based, educational organization devoted to study and discussion of the social and ethical implications of science and technology. It was founded in 1979, and now ranks among the most dynamic student-run organizations in the country with 15 local chapters, a publishing program, an information service, and a conference program. Further information about the organization is available upon request.

Updated resumes should be sent to the National Office and postmarked no later than March 12, 1985.

Candidates selected for interviews will be notified by telephone March 23-24, 1985.

Celebrate Kant with us!

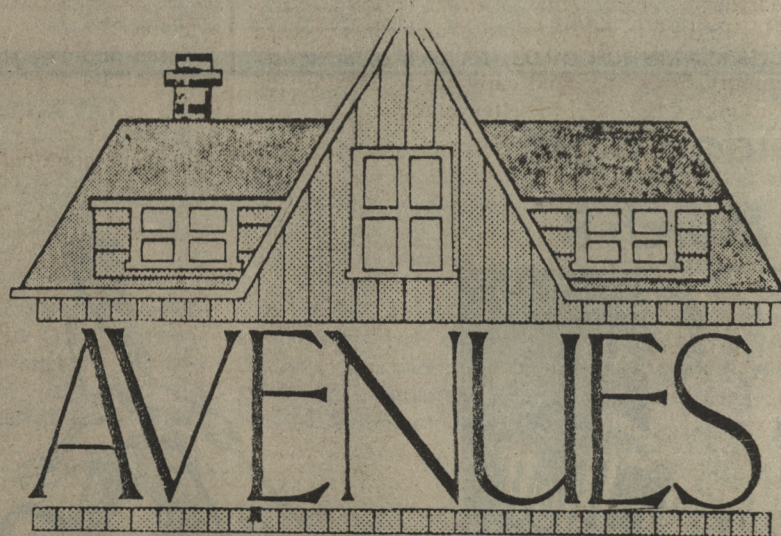

This March marks the 200th anniversary of the publication of Immanuel Kant's "Groundwork of the Metaphysics of Morals", which has proven to be one of the most influential works in western philosophy. Aside from being one of the most difficult philosophers to comprehend, Kant was still a pretty bitchin dude, nonetheless.

Therefore, the Netted Gem in co-operation with the UPEI Philosophy Dept. is proud to proclaim March 11-17 "Immanuel Kant Week": to commemorate this landmark bicentennial, a special anniversary edition album has been recorded, which includes all the best passages from Kant's major works.

You'll get the categorical imperatives,
"The Konigsburg Prussia Blues"
"What's Duty Got To Do With It?"
"Shall I Pick The Flower"
and the Immortal "When I take a Walk, It's Time To Set Your Clock"

All compiled in this once in a lifetime offer. Just think, the best of Kant in your very own home, for whenever you want to be enlightened. Just send $9.99 cash, cheque or money order (no COD's please) to:
