SUMMERSIDE MAYOR AND COUNCIL AT CORNERSTONE LAYING FOR CIVIC AUDITORIUM

E. Richard Elected President Of Borden Canadian Legion

The Canadian Legion Branch No. 10 Borden, held its annual meeting on Friday, February 3, at which Comrade J. J. McIsaac presided and the minutes of the last annual meeting were read to the assembly.

A special vote of thanks was asked for those members and other well-wishers who contributed greatly towards providing Christmas toys and boxes to the children of the area, and to the orphan children's homes in Charlottetown.

Matters brought up at the meeting were: many and varied.

1955 was a big year for the Borden branch as shown by the yearly report and financial statement. The loss of the old Legion Hall was a heavy blow, but one that became an added incentive towards building the new Legion Hall. Since its completion it is proving an over-whelming success in every way. The dances held there are very popular and are drawing crowds from all parts of the Island. The Ladies Auxiliary is running card parties every Monday evening.

Before closing the meeting the Officers for the year 1956 were elected as follows: president, E. Richard; 1st vice-president, W. Muttart; 2nd vice-president, J. Darrach; secretary-treasurer, D. MacLeod.

Chaplain, Father MacDonald. Master at Arms, J. Melanson. Servicing officer, R. Rodgers.

The meeting ended with a special vote of thanks to all members of the building committee for services rendered during building operations.

discussing ideas with others.

The methods of teaching the gifted child must, as has already been indicated, stimulate his creativity and take account of his larger interest-and-attention-span as well as his superior powers of insight and generalization. Routine teaching of the drill type is not suited to the gifted child. However, he must be helped to learn to do tedious and monotonous work for a worthwhile end and to finish the tasks he has begun. He needs to realize that adequate drill for the learning of certain facts and skills is sometimes very important and he will not do the routine work to master such facts and skills.

CONCLUSION

May I now summarize some of the concrete suggestions I have made.

1. The rural teacher needs help in setting up objectives for the gifted child, in identifying him, in accepting him and in giving him guidance. For this help he must look to his superintendents or supervisors of schools.

2. Either the Canadian Education Association or the provincial departments of education should prepare a small guide book for teachers entitled, Helping the Gifted Child in the Small School. If the booklet is prepared on a national scale it should be accompanied by a mimeographic sheet dealing with the local resources available.

3. The time available is only one element in the effectiveness of the rural teacher in dealing with the gifted child. The teacher must, first of all, want to help the gifted child and, secondly, he must have guidance in how to do so. This, in turn, means that the superintendent or supervisor must also want to do something for the gifted child and have available the means of helping his teachers without too great a drain on his time. Back of the superintendents, the departments of education must be willing to provide the suggestions and resource material which will enable the superintendent to do an effective job. Increasing teacher effectiveness in the teaching of gifted children is not really an extra. It is part of the job of effective teaching, and the stimulation of the teacher to be resourceful with the gifted child will promote the teacher's own growth and also make him a better teacher of average pupils.

This department is conducted by the Prince Edward Island Teachers' Federation. Contributions are welcomed and should be sent to Estelle Bowness, General Secretary, 80 Prince St., Charlottetown.

Cornerstone Is Laid For S'ide Civic Auditorium

Mayor Henry W. Wedge on Saturday afternoon officially performed the ceremony of laying the cornerstone at the new Civic Auditorium which is expected to be in operation this summer.

In his remarks Mayor Wedge, who is retiring from civic politics after six years as Mayor and twelve on the Town Council, said the laying of the corner stone would likely be his last official duty as mayor of Summerside, and added that he was happy that his term of office should end with this act.

Referring to the heavy loss suffered by the Town Electric Light Department in the sleet storm during the first of January, he said that if this extensive damage could have been foreseen the Civic Auditorium would likely never have been commenced.

He said that while the building will cost a considerable sum of money, and that while in the light of present circumstances the Town cannot afford to spend that much money, he expressed confidence and optimism that the time will come when all citizens will agree that the auditorium is a tremendous cultural and social asset with a value well beyond its original cost.

Mayor Wedge concluded by saying that he could foresee many, many uses and tremendous possibilities for this building, which is near the new High School, and that in the years to come the entertainment, enjoyment, athletic and educational value that will accrue to the citizens will be beyond ability to measure.

The program was under the chairmanship of Councillor Dr. H. E. Clark, and the Summerside Sea Cadet band provided music for the occasion.

After remarks as representative of the contractors, the M. F. Schurman Co. Ltd., Mr. Charles Linkletter presented a silver trowel to Mayor Wedge who used it in placing and levelling the mortar used in laying the large corner stone on which was inscribed the name of Mayor Wedge and the date on which the stone was laid
