Report Negro Admits Murder

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Detectives say a 37-year-old Negro houseboy has sobbingly admitted the strangulation of a silent movie heroine with this troubled reflection: "I've seen her face on every wall."

THE BIG Sherman tank displayed by the P.E.I. (17th Recce) Regiment attracted throngs of children all afternoon during the Army Day exhibition staged by...

No. 2 Militia Group at Victoria compound Saturday. Climbing aboard the huge armored vehicle they were allowed to roam at will through the open area in the tank's interior, examine its equipment, and try out the drivers seats up front. This happy group are being chaperoned by Sgt. Max King of the 17th Recce.

TWO ISLAND girls try out one of the Provost detachment's motor bikes during Army Day held at Charlottetown's Victoria compound Saturday afternoon.

Each group of visitors to the miniature range was privileged to witness the amazing accuracy which the big tank weapon could bring to bear. During the afternoon the visiting public were entertained by the Recce Regiment Band under the direction of W.O. 1 Charles MacGregor. Lt.-Col. A.W. Rogers, acting Commander of No. 2 Militia group said he was extremely pleased with the interest shown in the Islands first Army Day, and indicated that more "movement" would be incorporated into future exhibitions.

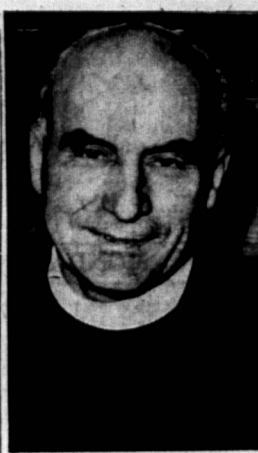

Army Day Draws Crowds To Victoria Compound

Prince Edward Island's Militia formations Saturday stole a march on the rest of the Canadian Army by holding their annual Army Day one day earlier than most. In Canada generally Army day was held Sunday. Hundreds of citizens viewed the exhibition given at the Victoria Compound Saturday afternoon, which was described by... one of the senior officers as a "static display." In other words the Island Army components showed the visiting members of the public the equipment, training aids, and vehicles with which they were expected to carry out their role in peace or war, without attempting any type of drill or demonstration. The staid old training area on Brighton Road, like an old soldier on parade, shone brightly for the occasion; the color and movement of the casually strolling groups somehow reminiscent of the bustle of summer training camps held there in pre-war days.
