

The Callaghan Murder.

James Henry McInnis and George Alexander McInnis, who had been arrested, and referred to yesterday, were this morning brought before the Stipendiary Magistrate, being represented by Mr. C. Palmer, Q.C., and Mr. H. J. Palmer, The Attorney-General appeared on behalf of the Crown.

Joseph Dorion, upon whose complaint they had been arrested, was placed upon the stand and deposed as follows:—

JOSEPH DORION (sworn).—I live in Charlottetown, on Great George Street. Been living here about eighteen months. Came from Rustico. Know two McInnis (sworn.) Have known James Henry McInnis 12 or 13 years. He lives about 10 or 12 miles from Charlottetown. I know where Sherwood Cemetery is now. McInnis lives about seven or eight miles from the Cemetery. I saw McInnis on Thursday before last, 21st of May. They were in my shop. I asked James Henry if the other was Allan's son. James Henry said yes. They came into my place and were talking. I asked James Henry what he came in for this time of the year. Would it not be better for him to work his farm. He said he was for a barrel of flour. He said he was on business. He was talking about the times. He said the times were dull. He bought a pipe and a box of tobacco. He paid for them. He was short of a cent and asked his nephew for a cent to pay for the pipe. He said times were poor, and not much money going. I said that times were very dull in town. Said he: "Joe, I tell you what to do; why don't you go to the Cemetery and kill old Callaghan, the old Irish fellow, and you'll get his money; then you'll have plenty money to do business. I wish I could lay hands on him." I asked him what old fellow. Says he: "Don't you know the old fellow in the Cemetery?" I said I never heard of him. I never heard there was any man there. He said, "That old man got plenty money; why don't you go and kill him." I told him I never heard there was an old man in that Cemetery, and never heard there was a Cemetery there itself. He said, "If I can catch hold of him I will kill old Callaghan." He said nothing else that I can remember. It was James Henry said all this. The other one was in the shop, a little distance from him. He never opened his mouth. They did not converse between themselves. This was between three or four o'clock. They might have been half an hour in the shop. I did not see them again that day. Their remarks made no impression on me at the time; but as soon as I heard of his death I thought of the conversation. I mentioned it first to my missus when I heard of the murder. My father's name is Jerome. I told him last Friday morning between ten and eleven. I told him because I wanted to take his advice. I told the City Marshall on Saturday night. I looked for him in the morning. The Marshall got me to make complaint. A warrant was issued and the men arrested. There was a man at my shop the same time—Joseph Blanchard—I don't know whether he heard the conversation. Don't remember any one else present except Blanchard. Did not know he was there at all. Was never at the Cemetery. James Henry said he was thinking to get a wife. I heard there was another man present at the time. I noticed no one else there. Pretty large shop, good many people come to the Cemetery. I believe James Henry. I told him I thought he had a little drop. He knew what he was doing. I smell liquor off him. He could walk about. He was not drunk. George looked well enough. They did not say where they were going. I heard of the Callaghan murder the same day they found it, last Wednesday. I remember James Henry; he came in to my place and said, "Why don't you get this place insured and set fire to this block, and burn the whole place up." He said it the same time. I told him not to speak like that for fear someone would hear him, and if the place got burned, we would be all taken up. He said nothing else that I remember now. James Henry generally passed my place. I was always on good terms with him and George.

Cross examined by Mr. Palmer.—This was last Thursday week. I remember because a man came for a barrel of flour that day, and I gave it to him. I kept account of days I gave barrel of flour if on credit. I made no memorandum of conversation. I had made the conversation known outside last Friday. I did not hear of any reward being offered. I heard of it on Saturday, not before. I informed my father on Friday. I told it on Saturday morning about nine o'clock to the priest. I looked for the Marshall, but could not find him. I did not know a reward was out till I went into the police office, about four o'clock. I found the Marshall about five o'clock. I heard a reward was offered on Saturday evening when I went in the office and a Policeman told me to look at the Proclamation. Cannot read English. Can read French. James Henry often comes to my place. He takes a drop of gin like I do. Have none in my house. I had none that day. James Henry and George were there. Was not talking about Volunteers to them. I don't remember that I was. They said it was poor times. Not much money going. I said times are poor enough. I said I was thinking to start a rum shop and make money (Counsel suggests he'd kill a man that way if not another.) I told him I was bound to make my living in town, and it was just as well to sell liquor as anything else. I know Allan McInnis in court. I don't remember saying anything to him about making money. I don't remember telling him I would be on hand with a bottle of brandy at any time. Jas. said, "Why don't you insure your place and burn it down and get money." I heard of the murder on Wednesday. I did start then to tell the conversation, but I thought it was gas and blab, and I took no serious notice out of it. I knew nothing of the proclamation till Saturday evening. It was not spoken of in my shop. I was around the market on Friday last but never heard of it. The conversation was such that anyone who listened could hear. They did not tell me to keep it quiet. I said I would open a rum shop to make money. I can work along pretty well. I have made a living for my family so far without selling rum. I have a little money, George never said a word during the conversation. Don't think

George killed Callaghan. Know nothing bad of George or James Henry either. (Counsel read's deposit or where he swore that James Henry and George did kill an I murdered Callaghan.) Joe Blanchard was in my shop. Saw no others but Joe Blanchard and the two McInnis'. James Henry told me he was going to get married. Can't tell whether he did. He did not say he was going to be married that day. I heard he was. If this conversation had not taken place I would not have suspected James Henry more than anyone else. I had no consultation with Joe Blanchard.

The Attorney General here stated he would not to day produce further evidence for the Crown. Mr. Palmer then put on the WITNESSES FOR DEFENCE.

ANGELINA CUDMORE (sworn)—I live on Appin Road, between 18 and 20 miles from Charlottetown, on Lot 30. James Henry married my sister. I came to town last Wednesday week. My sister Lister Ann came with me; she is married now to James Henry. George McInnis came also, and James Henry. The reason we came to town was that James Henry and my sister were going to get married. The accused live some distance from me. They came down to my sister's on the Winsloe Road; she was living by herself. We arrived in town about 7 o'clock a. m. I lived a while with my sister. We came in with a horse and truck wagon. We went to Mrs. Offer's and put the horse up there. We were with the accused most of the day. We were away from them no longer than half an hour. We walked about town in the forenoon. Rev. Mr. McLeod married my sister between 4 and 5 o'clock. I was not at Dorion's. I don't know whether the accused were at Dorion's. In the morning the accused went to Rev. Mr. McLeod's and arranged about the marriage. After the marriage we walked the streets a spell, and started for home about 6 o'clock. We went home in the truck wagon. We started from Mrs. Offer's, the four of us. We went right out; I don't remember by what road. We were going home, and called in at Mr. Dart's, on the Appin Road, between eighteen or nineteen miles from town. Called at no other place between town and Dart's. Met Rev. Mr. McLeod about a mile on the road. Met Rev. Mr. McLeod as we were starting. Met another man. I forgot his name—the boys knew him—about seven miles from town. Don't know whether the accused spoke to him or not. We got to Henry Dart's between 10 and 11 o'clock. There was no one at Dart's but the children. We stayed at Dart's that night—the whole of us till half-past five next evening (Friday) Then we went home—about half a mile from Mr. Dart's. Accused went home to Rustico Road. My sister and I went a piece of the road, about two miles to show them. They did not know the road. We then went home. It is about eighteen miles from Appin Road to where they live. The horse was middling strong, not very smart. Belonged to James Henry. Accused could not have gone near the Cemetery on Thursday. I heard of the murder first last Wednesday. I am not sure. It is about four or five months since I became acquainted with James Henry. I don't know whether accused knew Callaghan. I didn't know him myself. People at Offer's saw us leaving. I don't know whether accused were at Dorion's at all.

Cross examined by Mr. Sullivan.—I am not married. My proper place of residence is Appin Road. My father and mother live there. My father's name is Robert. We started that morning from Winsloe Road. I went to Brackley Point for a cruise about a month ago, and was at Winsloe Road with my sister about a fortnight before that Thursday. My sister's home was on the Winsloe Road. My sister was married before. Her first husband lived on the Winsloe Road, and that was her home. Her place is about a mile and a half from McInnis' place. We left the Winsloe Road about 4 a. m., the four of us, and called no place on the way. We got to town about 7 a. m. I was present at Mr. McLeod's house at the marriage. There were the four of us present. I was not with the accused when they got the license. We left Mr. McLeod's about 5 o'clock. We then walked on the street to Mrs. Offer's. We stayed about an hour and went home. Our intention was to go home to father's. We were about half-way at dark. Mrs. Dart and James Henry are brother and sister; that is why we stayed there. My sister wanted to go home to father's and have a cruise, that is the reason she did not go with her husband. Did not see accused since Friday week at 6 p. m., until to-day. I don't know where they went; they told me they were going home. Henry Dart told me of the murder. My sister and I were down there. We heard it on Wednesday night between 9 and 10 o'clock. Dart was not in town that day. Don't know McInnis' long; nor much about them. Don't know where they have been since that Friday evening. George was sober, but James Henry had some in him. He was able to knock about. My sister has been at father's ever since. My sister has been absent from McInnis' ever since that Friday. James Henry got married without consent and without his mother or sister knowing about it—so James Henry told me, but his mother never told me.

Henry Dart and other witnesses were then examined. The magistrate stated he would take bail of two parties in $1,000 each for George Alexander McInnis, but refused bail to James Henry McInnis, the court then adjourned until to-morrow.

LET there be no mistake about this, that the Myrtle Navy tobacco is manufactured from the very finest Virginia leaf. No higher quality of leaf can be purchased for any tobacco made. It is selected with the very greatest care, and treated with the most approved processes for preserving the flavor of the tobacco.

THE funeral of the late James Doolin took place to-day at 9 a. m. from St. Dunstan's Cathedral to the new Roman Catholic Cemetery. Mr. Doolin has been long and favourably known by the citizens of Charlottetown. From the time of the construction of the Charlottetown Gas Works up to the present time, he has always been a good sober and painstaking officer. In the performance of his duties as Lamp Lighter he has, even with the little children on the streets, always been a favorite and genial friend.

RICHARD HANDS, night clerk in Crawford's drug store, 120 Hudson Street, New York, was on the morning of the 31st ult., murdered by a person unknown, and found seated in a chair in the back room where he slept. The skull was crushed in and burst out from ear to ear. There was no sign of a struggle. A pistol, with blood and hair adhering, was found, and it is thought a blow was dealt from behind with this weapon. Hands was very popular and not known to have an enemy. There is no clue to the murderer.

CANNOT PLAY WITH THE BOYS.—The McGill University is agitated just now with the position of women students in athletic field sports. The sweet girl students were invited to join the University Lawn Tennis Club and consented. The University dons sternly forbade them playing with the male students. Now, if they want to play the sweet girls must get the ground alone, and the grim male sex must do likewise. Co-education of the sexes generally is as far as the University will go. Their physical training must be practiced apart.

JOHN L. SULLIVAN, the champion pugilist of the world—the one man who has taken in hand the job of showing that Boston develops muscle as much as it does culture—is in St. John. He is accompanied by Patsy Sheppard, Steve Taylor, John Connolly and other pugilists. John L. when interviewed by a Sun reporter, said he was enjoying the best of health and was in a fine condition. He intimated that after drinking in the beauty of this end of America he would start for England, on an exhibition tour. Sullivan appeared at the Roller Rink on Monday night for which he received $1,000.
