

Report Given On Contributions To Mrs. Oswald

DALLAS (AP) — An accounting of more than $70,000 contributed to Mrs. Marina Oswald, the widow of accused presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald, was filed with a Dallas District Court Monday.

Oswald was shot to death two days after the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

The papers filed showed that $5,490 of the total had been spent, either by Mrs. Oswald in her behalf by James H. Martin, her personal manager, or John M. Thorne, her lawyer-agent from the Dallas suburb of Grand Prairie.

Mrs. Oswald asked for the accounting in a suit filed April 7 against the men. She charged she had been refused knowledge of the status of her money and that she did not understand the contracts she signed with the men early last December.

She asks in the suit that the Northern Rhodesia Slated For Independence Oct. 24

LONDON (Reuters)—Northern Rhodesia, the biggest copper producer in the Commonwealth and the fourth-biggest in the world, will become the independent and sovereign republic of Zambia Oct. 24. It was announced Tuesday.

The announcement came at the close of a conference here at which British and Northern Rhodesian delegates hammered out agreement on a new constitution for Northern Rhodesia, now a self-governing protectorate.

Northern Rhodesian Prime

Minister Kenneth Kaunda, first president-apparent of Zambia, chose Oct. 24—United Nations day—as the date for the birth of Zambia. He said it was on that day that his 3,000,000 country will celebrate "kwacha," the dawn.

Commonwealth and Colonial Affairs Secretary Duncan Sandys told the final session of the two-week constitutional conference, Zambia's constitution will combine important features of both the British and American systems of government.

It provides for a president with strong executive powers, but ministers of the government will also be Members of Parliament.

"Although your system is a novel one in many respects," Sandys told the Rhodesian delegates, "and does not conform to any previous pattern, I believe you have achieved a very wise and proper balance between the need to create a strong executive and the need to safeguard individuals and minorities."

Kaunda, twice jailed by the British in his fight for Northern Rhodesia's independence, said Zambia will rely heavily on Britain for technical aid, other assistance "in the most needed years, the early years of our independence."

Northern Rhodesia was part of the now-defunct Central African Federation of Northern and Southern Rhodesia and Nyasaland until last January, when it became a self-governing protectorate.

Copper is the backbone of its economy. Northern Rhodesia produces about $320,000,000 worth of copper annually.
