THEY'RE AT TAGISH LAKE.

Letter From G. A. Dixon.

SOME EXPERIENCES ALONG THE KLONDIKE TRAIL.

Boat Building--The Party All Well and in Good Spirits.

Foot of Tagish Lake, May 1.—We arrived here on April 26, are camped at the foot of the lake 60 miles below Lake Bennett, and will remain until we build four boats. We were rather tired on arrival, and the oxen we worked bore a striking resemblance to DeCourcy's famous colt.

I will not describe our trip to the lake, as it was a hard one, and appeared to be getting harder the further we went. But when we got to the Lake we took our whole outfit in one trip with eight oxen. We had over a ton on some of them. Since arriving here we killed an ox, and so have been enjoying fresh meat—food fit for the gods. The balance of our cattle are about a mile from here, back near the mountain, in a marsh where there is lots of bunch grass. There is no snow there and they are doing fine. We consider ourselves in luck to get such good feeding ground. McKae and I spent half a day looking for a suitable place for our cattle. This spot is a regular park, right in the middle of the woods near the mountain, with plenty of water and feed sufficient to last a month.

This is the first Sunday we have not worked since leaving Skagway. Wortman, McKae and I went for a tramp up the mountain. We started at ten this morning and returned at six. We took our gold pans along, panned out two pans of gravel and sand and got quite a "sight" in each. We also shot two grouse which will vary our bill of fare. Tramping up mountains gives one a "tired feeling."

We got our logs all cut and yarded to our saw-pit, and will commence whip-sawing in the morning. We expect to get out of here the last of this month.

Opposite our camp the lake is all open, but up further there is two feet of ice. The weather here is simply perfect; there has not been a bad day since we arrived. We work with our coats, and find our clothing rather heavy. Mosquitoes are after us in good shape, and I tell you they are beauties, twice the size of those at home. There are lots of butterflies, also bears. The scenic effects are superb, quite beyond description, and we are all enjoying the very best of health.

This is the earliest spring they have had here for years. The "White Horse Rapids" are open. Two-thirds of the people who came here have gone back. We have this information from the mounted police, so consider it reliable. A man named O'Neil, deserted his wife on Tushi Lake, and went home. He sold nearly all the provisions, leaving her nothing but the tent and some evaporated goods. She had lots of grit, and got a party to take her to Dawson. Women are scarce on this trail.

Percy Reid is camped quite near our tent with his party. They are all well. We have four tents pitched in a lovely spot, used respectively for cooking, dining, sleeping and for personal baggage. Altogether there are fifty tents near us. We will get in as soon as any out on every one who goes to Klondike must pass here. I don't think the ice on the lake is safe enough to let any more people down this far. We are ahead of all the people who came by Lake Bennett. We came by Tushi route. We never heard of the slake until we got to Sunrise city. Some people said we would never get over. But we did—with lots of hard work.

From Log Cabin to Tushi Lake is twelve miles. We used to take a load to the Lake and go back to Log Cabin same day. Twenty-four miles is good walking in a day, especially when you are driving slow oxen. We took all our outfit across Tushi Lake to the portage between the lake and "Windy Arm" in one trip, but it took us all day to go this six miles we were loaded so heavy. We had to feed our cattle on the ice as they were getting done out. We built a fire on the side of the lake, boiled our coffee, had a hearty meal, and got to the portage about six in the evening. From there to Windy Arm is five miles. We thought it tea when taking a load. For the first quarter mile we could only haul three hundred pound—with an ox as it was up a steep hill. It took us three days to get over this five miles. This will give you an idea of what the road is in spots. From there to here the travelling was easy. Small, Wortman, McKae and Kennedy will go up to the Stewart river; Brent and I will likely go to Dawson City. Henderson is ahead of us but not far. Cham McKay's cattle passed down yesterday; he will be here himself in a day or two. He has two men driving his cattle, and feeding them as we do on bunch grass. We are all in "the pink of condition, and in good spirits."

I. C. F.—Members of Court Mount Stephen will please remember the special meeting tonight, at 8 o'clock, sharp, to reconsider the matter of badges or sashes for members. The meeting will be short. Every member is particularly requested to be present.

Nowadays when women are trying to do everything it is not strange that many things are overdone. It is not strange that there are all kinds of physical and mental disturbances. If the woman who is a doctor, or a lawyer, or a journalist, or in business would not try to be a society woman too it might be different; but the woman who knows when she has done a day's work has yet to be born. Usually a woman's way is to keep doing until she drops. Working in this way has manifold evils. The most common trouble resulting from over-exertion, either mentally or physically, is constipation of the bowels, with all its attendant horrors.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the most effectual remedy in the market. They work upon the system easily, naturally. There is no unpleasant nausea after taking them. No griping—no pain—no discomfort. They are composed of materials that go through the system gradually, collecting all impurities and, like the good little servants that they are, disposing of them effectually.

DIED.

Effe McLennan, aged 70 years, widow of the late Donald McLennan, Caladonia, departed this life the 18th inst. The deceased was a great sufferer during the past 3 years, and bore it with great patience and resignation to the Divine Will. She was a deeply exercised believer, of long standing, and left this world to join the fellowship of the Redeemed in glory. She has left two sons and three daughters to mourn the loss of a loving mother.
