

SOME OF LAST YEAR'S WINNERS AT THE FAIR

tor championship. Mr. Wood is holding East River Cherry the reserve junior female champion while Mr. Boswell is holding Leland's Victoria's Gem 2nd, his grand champion two-year-old cow.

Full week of racing is slated

Charlottetown's Old Home Week celebration is kicking at the door. Monday the great week swings into action and with it the greatest array of harness racing ever seen on a Prince Edward track.

There are many places that really go all out for harness racing but there is surely no spot on the North American continent that gives such an ambitious program as folks will see here next week. There will be 11 programs presented from Monday night to Saturday night. That means racing every night and every afternoon with the sole exception of Monday.

For race secretary and classifier Frank 'Duck' Acorn it's a mammoth chore lining up these harness racing cards. But it's old stuff to 'Duck' by the time and always has to be come out with colors flying. The great week begins Monday evening with The Evening Patriot Invitational a $2,000 feature that will have the fans in an uproar. Definite starts were weren't known at the time of writing but it looked as though the following horses would be in the hot money: Tammany Hall, Willie's Adios, Hi Jay, Bob Brook, Don's Star and Edgewood Scott. Fans are expecting, and they will undoubtedly get, terrific thrills in both tries of this outstanding feat i.e. Bob Brook will be installed favorite after his great performances at Sackville Downs and Fredericton but some "dark horse" may emerge to steal the entire show.

GOLD CUP CLASSIC
You can almost certainly count on Bob Brook, Edgewood Scott, Hi Jay and Willie's Adios will be back for the Gold Cup Classic Friday night, the night when more than 10,000 persons are expected to pick themselves into the popular drinking park.

More than 50 horses are coming from outside the province. Race secretary Acorn is filled with entries but he will need all of them to round out an 11-race program.

Stables coming from the Island include Dr. Bullock, Fredericton, (5) Francis Breaux, Moncton, (4) Don MacKenzie, Glace Bay, (4) Richard Jaboulet, Sydney (3) Mike Jobale, Sydney (1), Eric and Harry Whobby, Dartmouth (4), Harvey Cormier (4) Elmer Smith, Halifax (1) and Maple Stables, Summerside (4). This last stable will have Lady Lakeburn, Gallon J's, Marcus Hanover and Home stretch Lady.

Racing fans will welcome back Walter Craig who is in charge of Don MacKenzie's stable from Glace Bay. Walter has had great success with Bob Brook since going with Don and folks will be anxious to get a look at his driving the great park here during Old Home Week.

SPACE HEADACHE
Every inch of stall space will be taken up next week. The folks in charge of accommodations for the horses really have their headaches these days. But room will be found for everyone that comes to race out of this popular raceway.

Indications at present are that the big racing show will surpass anything yet offered to Prince Edward Islanders and their welcome guests during this holiday season. The crews of the Maritime peacocks and trotters are here on one purpose and that is to win races—and that's what makes a show of this nature so tremendous.

Better decide to take in the entire week. It will be entertaining in its greatest form. Start on the right foot by being there Monday night for the big classic—the Evening Patriot Invitational.

TONNAGE DROPPED
NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP)—The annual report of the harbor commission shows a decrease from this port were $70,464 tons last year. This was a drop of 100,000 tons from 1951.

South Africa is expected to hold to apartheid policy

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
UNITED NATIONS (AP)—South Africa is expected to stick to its apartheid policy of racial segregation despite the UN Security Council's call for a worldwide arms embargo against the South African government.

There were indications that all UN members would not enforce the embargo. Secretary of State J. Rudolph Grimes of Liberia warned that African members would seek stronger measures in November unless South Africa changes its racial policy.

The embargo call was the key provision of a resolution the council adopted Wednesday in a vote of 9 to 0 after debating apartheid for a week at the request of 32 African countries. Britain and France abstained.

his governments' stated position on an all-inclusive embargo because of its defense commitments in South Africa. In the resolution as adopted the council: 1. 'Strongly deprecates' South African apartheid; 2. Calls on South Africa to abandon that policy and free all persons imprisoned for opposing it. 3. Calls on all states to cease forthwith the sale and shipment of arms, ammunition of all types and military vehicles to South Africa; 4. Asks Secretary-General to attempt to keep the situation under observation and report to the council by next Oct. 30. Speakers in the debate had complained that South Africa had ignored 37 other UN resolutions against its racial policies dating back to 1946.

National theatre company in Britain moving slowly
LONDON (CP)—Britain's National Theatre company spent its first 20 years as a paper daydream and may spend the next 30 reaching perfection. That was the view of the company's first director, Sir Laurence Olivier, who gave a press conference Tuesday in a construction shack on London's south bank. Olivier's theatre is still in the designing stage and won't be completed for four or five years. Meanwhile, the government-subsidized company will mount its productions, beginning next October, in the theatre that once housed the famed Old Vic company. The wide variety of plays, as did as Sophocles and as light as Noel Coward, planned for the next two years indicate that Olivier and his associates have given a broad definition to the word "national." Highlights of the 1964-65 season will be Hamlet starring Peter O'Toole, with Sir Michael Redgrave, Diana Wynyard and Olivier himself playing the title role. Also listed on the playbill are Farquhar's restoration drama The Recruiting Officer and Harold Brighouse's 'Hobson's Choice. Olivier said he wants to create "the finest company in the world" but added that it may not reach perfection "for another 40 or 50 years." "There is nothing so beautiful or so good in the theatre as an ensemble of expert players. We wish to give a spectrum of world drama."
