Last Big Rebel Stronghold In Saigon Falls

By CORLEY SMITH

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (Reuters)—The last big stronghold of the rebel Binh Xuyen private army in Saigon surrendered Sunday night. The rebel-held central police headquarters on the fashionable Rue Catinat flung open its iron gates to the national army.

As the national army drove the bulk of the green beretted Binh Xuyen soldiers from the city last week, 84 rebels had stayed in the police headquarters, lonely but unchallenged.

Sunday night, all 84 surrendered. They shouted "down with the rebels" and proclaimed "may Prime Minister Ngo Dinh Diem live for 10,000 years."

They were driven off under army guard to a military encampment. The only Binh Xuyen strongpoint remaining in Saigon was a small one in the Rue Legrand de la Liraye, in the French residential quarter.

The surrender at the police headquarters came when the Binh Xuyen commander, Captain Le Van Tru, decided it was no use holding out any longer as the Binh Xuyen were unlikely to return to the city centre.

The Associated Press reported, meanwhile, that Premier Diem appealed to the United States, France and Britain Sunday night to reject chief of state Bao Dai's efforts to re-establish himself in Viet Nam.

Diem warned in a broadcast addressed to the free world that it would be impossible to deceive the Vietnamese people with any government system designed to revive the old colonial regime in one form or another.

A spokesman at the premier's office said his broadcast warning was a reference to the reported plan of Bao Dai to obtain big government approval for his return to Viet Nam as constitutional monarch. The French-appointed chief of state, former emperor of Annam, has been away for more than a year, living in his chateau on the French Riviera and exercising his powers by remote control. He now is in Paris where foreign ministers of the Big Three are conferring, trying to mold a joint policy on Viet Nam.

Bao Dai's plan is believed to envisage turning over the reins of government to a council of notables and a coalition cabinet pending elections in South Viet Nam.

However, if Bao Dai intends to present his plan personally to State Secretary Dulles, he may be disappointed. American sources in Paris said Dulles has no present intention of seeing Bao Dai.

SEVEN MILE BAY C. W. L.
—On May 1st, after Benediction and devotions to Our Blessed Lady, the members of St. Peter's sub-division of the C. W. L., met for their annual regular monthly meeting with 24 members present.

The president, Mrs. Ellsworth Noonan presided. The meeting opened with the League Prayer by the Director, Rev. Fr. Reginald McDonald.

The treasurer then gave her report of the year's business, showing our sub-division had taken in $905.40 during the year with a credit balance of $499.68.

Plans were discussed regarding a variety concert in the hall on Friday, May 13th, in aid of C. W. L.

It was moved and seconded that officers be re-elected for the coming year. It was moved and seconded that president and secretary receive a copy of League magazine.

Mrs. Alban Keough moved a vote of thanks to the president and secretary for their work in the past year, to which the president replied.

Fr. McDonald then addressed the meeting and thanked the members for her work and the members for their cooperation. Collection was then taken and meeting adjourned.

BIG SAVINGS TO POTATO GROWERS
Use 6-12-12 in place of 5-10-10
2000 lbs. 6-12-12 contains the same amount of plant food as 2400 lbs. of 5-10-10.
2400 lbs. 5-10-10 cost $54.00
2000 lbs. 6-12-12 cost $51.00
GROWERS SAVE $3.00
Plus the saving resulting from not transporting and handling 400 lbs.

Had 6-12-12 been available to the farmers of the Maritime Provinces during the past five years and been used in place of 5-10-10, it would have saved them, based on the above prices, about $717,000 plus the saving resulting from not transporting and handling about 47,800 tons. About $143,400 of this saving could have been made on Prince Edward Island.

Flowers Grow Fastest From Garden-Sown Seed

Plants which mature where their seed is sown flower more quickly than those which suffer the setback due to transplanting.

Techniques for sowing seed direct in the garden are the same for flowers as for vegetables.

To grow specimen flowers, for use in arrangements, or competition in flower shows there is no better way than to grow them in rows, with feeding, cultivation, and irrigation such as you give vegetables.

When flowers are grown in borders, or placed at focal points for landscape decoration, the problem of sowing is much the same as sowing vegetables in hills.

Dig a shallow hole, mix plant food with the bottom soil, cover this with fresh soil, and sow seed in this. Depth of sowing, covering the seed with porous soil, firming soil over seed, but not too firm, keeping the soil moist until germination, all are the same as with vegetables.

When ribbon planting with edging plants, such as sweet alyssum, is wanted, a shallow drill can be made in the desired location and the seed sown thinly.

When a mass display of color is desired, from low growing plants such as annual phlox, or portulaca, seed may be broadcast on a prepared area, and raked into the soil.

Thinning out flowers is just as important as with vegetables. Crowded plants cannot thrive. Plants should never be close enough to touch each other, until they are fully mature, when their spreading branches may form a canopy of beauty through which no soil can be seen.

All annual flowers can be grown from direct sown seed, but those which germinate slowly require more patience. There is no reason to confine your efforts to the fast germinating kinds, however. Many of the most beautiful kinds take only a few days longer to appear.

Garden carnations germinate in 10 days, and surpass the florists' carnations in variety of colors, if not in size. African daisies, which like hot sun and dry weather, are up in 15 days and bring to the garden colors which no other flowers duplicate, including white daisies that glisten like white enamel, and unusual orange tones. Annual pinks, (8 days) are far more beautiful than the hardy pinks, and bear their flowers all summer.

Helichrysums, or straw flowers, are not only useful for winter bouquets. The improved varieties have colors that will stand out in any garden planting, or summer flower arrangement.

If a mass of bright red is desired as a contrasting background, or accent in the border.

The Hampton W. M. S. of the United Church met at the home of Mrs. MacKenzie Dixon on May 3rd at 8 p.m. "The theme" (We Must Share). The President, Mrs. John Dixon presided at the meeting, with Mrs. R. H. Baxter leading the devotional period. Service opened with Hymn 433 (Lord, for tomorrow and its needs).

Scripture from II Corinthians 9 was read by Mrs. John Rogerson, followed by Hymn 416 and prayer in union.

The program was very capably conducted by Mrs. Homer Provencher assisted by Mrs. G. P. Dunsford, Mrs. James Ferguson, Mrs. Elmer Inman and Mrs. M. Dixon, which dealt chiefly with the theme (We Must Share). Prayer was then offered by Mrs. John Dixon.

Minutes of last meeting were read by the Secretary Mrs. Windor Bell and approved as read. Roll call was answered by 16 members; there was also one visitor. Treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Elmer Inman which shows steady advancement. Community Friendship Secretary reported nine hospital calls, five home calls, six treats and 16 cards. An interesting letter was read by the Temperance Secretary, urging the Societies to try and have Dr. Eaton visit the schools on his trips to the Province. Supply Secretary reported cards

St. Laurent Urges Two Racial Groups Co-operate

QUEBEC (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent said Saturday French-speaking Canadians must remain what they are without severing the providential link that binds them to all Canadians.

Mr. St. Laurent, guest of honor with six other members of the legal profession at a dinner tendered by the Quebec City Bar Association to mark their 50th anniversary as lawyers, said he had tried to make co-operation with all Canadians the keynote of his career.

Some 200 Quebec judges and lawyers gathered for the event. Mr. St. Laurent spoke in French for about 10 minutes.

He said there was only one fault with life. The interval was too short between the time when one is too young and the time when one is too old.

RECALLED STUDENT DAYS
Mr. St. Laurent recalled his student days at Laval University and sketched his career in a few words, his partnership with Antonin Galpéault, now chief justice of the Quebec Court of Appeals, and the founding of his own law firm.

"I have the sentiment that in the practice of law I have helped maintain the ancestral traditions," he said.

Throughout his career as a lawyer he had seen no reason why, in a country where providence had placed two main groups together, all should not co-operate.

Mr. St. Laurent said he remembered his partnership with Antonin Galpéault, there were fears among the Quebec legal men about the Canadian Bar Association—the national association that groups all lawyers in Canada.

It was said that Quebec, which has its own French civil laws, might see its legal traditions submerged in the national group.

The members are working on a knitted Afghan, to be completed soon and sent to Korea. The girls sewing club also have several baby layettes ready to be sent.

The meeting closed with the Lord's Prayer and Mizpah Benediction. Lunch was served and a social half hour enjoyed. Next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Gordon Villett. It was decided to invite the Presbyterian President, Mrs. F. Cutcliffe to visit at meeting; word for roll call to be "Patience".

MILDEW RESISTANT CROWN DIAMOND "Climatized" PAINT

now contains fungicide* that resists mildew—thus lengthening paint life!

Scientific surveys indicate that when houses become "dirty" in appearance a major cause is mildew rather than dirt. Mildew or fungus (a lower form of plant life) feeds on paint films, imbedding itself and thus destroying the continuity of the paint. By preventing fungus attack C-D climatized paint, which contains fungicide, has met with eminent success in producing longer lasting paint jobs.
