

Children should always increase in weight. Not to grow, not to increase in flesh, belongs to old age.

Present and future health demands that this increase in weight should be steady and never failing.

To delicate children, Scott's Emulsion brings richer blood and firmer flesh. Better color comes to the cheeks and stronger muscles to the limbs. The gain in weight is substantial; it comes to stay.

FOR THE WOMEN

THE TOILET.

The Care of the Complexion and Hands.

In some cases a poor complexion arises mainly from lack of exercise. Women who live an entirely sedentary life have a slow circulation and usually a bad digestion, and these are fertile causes of a muddy appearing skin. Exercise gives rapidity to the movement of the blood, stimulates digestion and calms the nerves, and is frequently more beneficial than any sort of medicine, although it should not be indulged in immediately after meals. Physicians are beginning to recognize the fact that drugs are not the most potent restoratives and that exercise, peace of mind, congenial society and recreation are not merely luxuries but necessities if good health is to be preserved.

Chapped and rough lips are not only painful, but disfiguring, and it is advisable never to go into the open air without previously using a little glycerine or vaseline upon the mouth. To moisten the lips with the tongue has a drying effect upon the skin ultimately and the habit is one to be rigorously avoided.

Toilet soap of inferior quality is extremely injurious to the complexion. Only the best soap should be employed, and that does not necessarily mean the soap most expensively got up with lace and ribbons. Pure glycerine or olive oil soap unscented is very good and not specially costly.—Judic Chollet.

THE DINING ROOM.

Its Proper Furnishings and Appropriate Decorations.

The dining room should always be kept simple in style, the table with its decorations being the center of attraction. Pictures may easily be distinguished with, but if they appear at all they should be few, large and dignified. Portraits are often placed in the dining room, but the old fashion of fruit and game studies is becoming obsolete. A rich paper of tapestry, with decorations of old china, is usually preferred to paintings. Green, brown or red are favorite colorings for the wall, and Dutch blue is also employed. Solid, rich tones are usually chosen, and the furniture, which should not be crowded, is simple, large and substantial. Besides the table and chairs a side-board to hold the silver and a side-table for use in serving are necessary, but nothing more is absolutely requisite. A tall clock and a glazed china cabinet are attractive accessories, and a screen in front of the pantry door is always desirable, but a couch or sofa is quite out of place. The furniture should be of oak or darker wood and the screen of tapestry, leather or similar rich, deeply colored material; The table should be the center of brilliancy, daintiness and beauty. There ought to be low lights—lamps or groups of candles—at each corner in addition to the light suspended overhead, and the vases and other decorations should also be low in order not to obstruct the view of the guests.—Judic Chollet.

A Few Don'ts.

Don't stand the baby upon its feet because it happens to be unusually strong; remember there is always danger of making its limbs deformed for life. Nearly all bow-legged men were allowed to stand upon their feet too early.

Don't neglect the baby's scalp until it is covered with a scurf or crust. If this should happen apply the yolk of egg rubbing upon the scalp thoroughly with the fingers, and after leaving it on for a time remove with warm soap suds, after which use a fine tooth comb to get the crust loose; then brush gently until it is all removed.

Never sleep in the garments worn by day, and be careful to hang up the children's night robes each morning and to expose their dry clothing to the air during the night, the garments worn next to the skin turned wrong side out.

Remember that any where feeble at the extremities than in any where else, and keep the hands and feet of the baby warmly clad in winter.—American Journal of Health.

Care of the Hair.

The best hair dressers agree that the hair should not be washed too frequently, as the practice deprives it of its natural oil. It is urged as another reason for the more frequent baldness of men that they wash their hair or wet it too frequently. The hair should be shampooed once a month or, if very oily, once in three weeks. Women who live in cities can have this done by professionals, the whole process taking an hour including the time needed for thoroughly drying the hair. It is not a difficult task to shampoo the hair at home. A very good mixture for the purpose is made of the yolk of an egg, a teaspoonful of green soap, to be obtained of any druggist a teaspoonful of cologne and a cupful of hot water. These ingredients should be stirred together and then applied thoroughly to the roots of the hair with a shampooing brush, the hair being divided into small partings for the purpose. The lather is stiff and will not run into the face and eyes. When the scalp has been thoroughly cleansed, the soap should be washed out and the hair rinsed and dried as quickly as possible. This can be done by rubbing it with a towel while the head is held near the register or stove. The brisk friction with the towel is excellent for the scalp and prevents the cold one is liable to take if the hair is left to dry by evaporation.—Delineator.

DR. A. W. CHASE SENDING FREE ADVICE TO THE SICK.

REV. J. N. VANATTER, OF ALBION, WIS., WRITES A LETTER ON DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT.

Sufferers are at Liberty to Correspond with the Above Address and will Obtain Full Particulars Regarding the Great Cure.

HERE IS WHAT HE SAYS:

Gentlemen,—My wife was most terribly afflicted with protruding piles, and contemplated a surgical operation. A friend of ours recommended the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and less than one box effected a complete cure. We were so pleased with the ointment that I tried it myself, as I have been troubled with an unsightly skin affliction which covered the lower part of my face.

For 25 years I suffered untold agony, and was treated by the best medical skill in the United States. I consider Dr. Chase's Ointment worth its weight in gold for piles and skin disease.
