

Sudden Death Of A. K. MacPhee

The sudden death of Mr. A. K. MacPhee occurred at his home 39 Grafton Street yesterday morning. He was in his 80th year. Mr. MacPhee was born at Long Creek, P.E.I. the son of Archie MacPhee and his wife the former Sarah MacNeill. After attending the public school there, he entered the mercantile business which he successfully conducted for most of his adult life. Later he moved to Charlottetown where he opened a similar business on Prince Street until his retirement several years ago. Mr. MacPhee was an active member of the Charlottetown Baptist Church and for the past fifteen years held the office of Deacon. He is survived by his wife the former Edith Gertrude Gorveatt and one son, Lieut. L. G. MacPhee now stationed with the Canadian Army in Newfoundland. One sister, Mrs. A. K. MacLeod, East Chelmsford, N. S., also survives.

GOOD PICKINGS

CINCINNATI, (AP)—A dandelion hunter who found a box of bonds valued at $62,000 was given a $100 award Tuesday. Vernon Presley, his wife, and their friends had stopped near Dayton, Ky., to look at the dandelion patch. Presley stumbled over a box stowed from the home of William Peebles, who rewarded him on the return of the box.

Discusses

national growth. "And whether or not you are interested in mental health, you have no choice but to try in every way possible to develop emotional sturdiness in your pupils," he said.

"You are the key persons on the mental health team because it is a three-fold job of building, maintaining and repairing," continued Dr. Laycock. "A child develops with all the influence that play upon him and you have no choice but to affect the emotional development of the children whom you teach."

OTHER CHARACTERISTICS

The second characteristic of the emotionally stable child is that he feels right towards other people. He does not push them around and likewise will not be pushed around himself. He will respect differences of opinion in others.

Thirdly Dr. Laycock said the child must be able to meet the demands of life; he must be able to think for himself and meet his daily responsibilities.

"How good a job are we doing in the field of mental health, in the home and in the school?" asked Dr. Laycock; "not very good, I am afraid." He pointed out that there are 66,000 Canadians in mental institutions — more people suffering from this source than from T.B. and polio combined. Going further he said that statistics show that one out of every 12 children born will need mental care at some time during their lives or three out of a classroom of 40 with a possibility of one going to jail.

EMOTIONAL STURDINESS

"Our relationship with our pupils is one of personal individual relationship," said the speaker, "the pupils attitude toward the teacher is extremely important and likewise the teacher's attitude."

Conservatives Nominate 5th Queen's Candidates

Dr. W. J. P. MacMillan, M.L.A., and F. Walter Hyndman were the two candidates chosen to represent the fifth district of Queens for the forthcoming election. The nominating convention was held last night at the Clover Club. Mr. Fred DeCoste, president of the Conservative Association for the District was in the chair.

Dr. MacMillan

Dr. MacMillan's nomination was moved by Mr. Tom DeBlois and seconded by Mr. A. Walthen Gaudet. Mr. Hyndman's nomination was moved by Mr. C. R. McQuaid and seconded by Mr. A. O. F. Gill, supported by Mr. John Coady. Following the nominations, brief speeches were made by the candidates and the following other speakers: Mr. R. R. Bell, Q.C., leader of the opposition; Mr. Angus MacLean, M.P.; Mrs. W. J. P. MacMillan of the Progressive Conservative Women's Association; Mr. W. Chester S. McLure; Mr. Walter MacKenzie; Mr. Frank Myers, M.L.A.; Philip Matheson, Mr. C. R. McQuaid and Andrew MacRae.

Mr. Hyndman

Mr. Bell congratulated the candidates on their nomination and at the same time told the convention that they had made a very wise choice in selecting the two men they had. He said that he did not intend to discuss policy at this time since all the candidates were not in the field and until they could all get together to formulate the party's policy, nothing would be announced.

Mr. MacLean brought greetings from the national leader of the party, Hon. George Drew who he said was making slow but satisfactory progress toward recovery after his recent serious illness.

Dr. MacMillan took the opportunity of answering some party criticism to the effect that he was not criticizing the Government strongly enough. "I will not criticize the Government just for the sake of criticizing," he said. "I will stand by the Federal agreement in regard to the grants made to the Department of Health because I was a party in formulating these plans. Would I criticize something to which I was a party?" Dr. MacMillan asked.

For Dr. MacMillan, former Premier of the Province and subsequently Leader of the Opposition, it will be his ninth election. Of the eight previous ones that he conducted he has served on seven occasions. He started his political career 32 years ago and has sat in the House for 28 years.

Mr. F. Walter Hyndman is a newcomer to the political field. He is a native born Charlottetownian, a member of the insurance firm of Hyndman and Company. He is actively connected with the Charlottetown Board of Trade and other city organizations.

"Scotia" Replaces Abegweit During Period Of Overhaul

The S.S. Scotia, formerly used by the C.N.R. as a ferry across the Strait of Canso, is scheduled to arrive at Borden in a few days to assist the S. S. Prince Edward Island in carrying out the service there during the absence of the "Abegweit" which left for Sorel yesterday to undergo the annual overhaul. The Scotia will carry freight cars only.

The aerial ice patrol made yesterday by Capt. Angus Brown indicated that the Scotia would experience no difficulty in making the trip around Cape Breton Island, which is necessary due to the Canso locks not being completed.

Mr. B. Graham Rogers, Provincial director of transportation expressed the opinion last evening that the proposed arrangement would be adequate to carry on the Borden-Tormentine service during the absence of the "Abegweit."

practise lends only to confusion and retardation. Referring to the gifted child, Dr. Laycock said that they were being short changed. He said that too often they were kept in a class when they could absorb a great deal more.

"Speaking about report cards," Dr. Laycock stated that there are very few things that damage a child's progress so much. He even referred to them as a "Gestapo agency." "I would like to see a report card do more for the pupil's benefit than it is now doing," he said.

MORNING SESSION

At the morning session, matters concerning the general and professional improvement of teachers were discussed by Dr. L. W. Shaw, Deputy Minister of Education, in his address to the Teachers' Federation.

"The teaching profession will advance only as long as the teachers themselves advance," the Deputy Minister stated further that, "Advancement in terms of growth is basically an individual matter. One year academic study is the level of a great majority of our teachers. There are, however, many a venue in which we may explore in order to make up for our short period of academic study and thereby improve our educational standing."

"Firstly, there are various summer courses in which one may partake. Last year, approximately 100 of our teachers attended the Summer School at Prince of Wales College. Another avenue," stated Dr. Shaw, "is correspondence through the mail with an institution which deals with courses of this type. Thirdly, there is an amount of knowledge to be gained from study groups." Dr. Shaw suggested that they might be carried out by having groups of teachers meet with the district supervisor to discuss problems related to education. Finally, the Deputy Minister stated, "There is informal, private, study. These four avenues would fulfill the idea of service training."

The Dr. went on to say that present blasts at Education may drive teachers to defend themselves by improving their educational standing. He said that complete high school education should be the basis for the Teaching Profession. Dr. Shaw also stressed the importance of visiting other schools in order to see how they carry on, and to afford opportunity for an exchange of ideas.

In closing the speaker announced that the standardized tests that were for Grade VIII last year would also be procured for the coming year.

Local Directors Of Economic Council Meet

Keith MacKinnon, vice president of the Atlantic Provinces Economic Council presided at a meeting of the P. E. Island directors of the organization held last evening. Other members present were J. Lincoln Dewar, Frank Curtis, Allan Holman, John Simmonds, Donald MacDonald and Paul Gallant.

This was the initial meeting of the Island directors which will be followed by regular meetings in preparation for the general meeting of the Council called for May 16 at Moncton.

Island problems were discussed with a view to elaborating on them at the Moncton meeting. A survey of Island products will be prepared and the possibility of extended markets for these given consideration at the conference. More attractive packaging and better grading will be stressed, the raising and developing of breeding cattle for export and the possibility of developing a two-way trade with the New England States was also discussed by the directors.

Following the meeting, Mr. MacKinnon said the Island membership in the Atlantic Provinces organization now totals twenty firms. "With the increase in provincial membership we have in view, we hope to increase the interest in the project of developing markets for Atlantic Provinces products." Manufacturers, processing plants, public utilities, banks, trust and investment companies, departments of government, educational institutions, mail order houses, wholesalers and retailers of every description, and many other business and professional activities are already represented in the organization in the other provinces. "We are confident that our people will recognize the work and scope of the Council and become identified with it in the interest of all concerned," Mr. MacKinnon said.

U.S. Bans

tribution problems in the next few days.

He told reporters supplies of the vaccine may last longer as a result of Salk's recommendation that the third injection in the three-shot series be several months after the first two.

The export-control order bans shipment to any country, except Canada without a licence for each shipment. Two U. S. drug companies have been licensed by the Canadian government to produce the vaccine in Canada.

VARIANTS UNDER WAY

Latin-American countries have shown interest in getting the vaccine. Mexico wants 100,000 doses.

Other countries were spurred to step up their own programs to develop a polio cure.

An Australian scientist, Prof. J. A. R. Miles, said a vaccine being developed at Adelaide, South Australia, promises to give immunity over a longer period than the Salk.

European experts said the Salk wouldn't necessarily be effective there. They noted the polio virus differs in various parts of the world. Britain, France and Sweden are working on vaccines of their own.

COMPLETE PREPARATIONS

Across the United States health authorities hurried preparations to start inoculations—in most cases within a week. Estimates of the number to be inoculated this year ranged up to 45,000,000.

The National Foundation is providing shots for 9,000,000 first and second graders—the group most susceptible to the dread disease.

WANTS FUND STARTED

In Richmond, Va., sales engineer M. B. McReynolds proposed a financial fund of thanks for Salk, a University of Pittsburgh researcher who has made the move to patents or otherwise profit from his vaccine.

McReynolds said he was mailing Salk $1 from each of the three members of his family, and he said other Americans should do the same for a man who has received "not a red cent besides his meagre college pay."

In Canada a Winnipeg radio station invited listeners to send in dimes for a thank-you telegram to Salk. Left-over funds would go to a crippled children's fund.

SOME FREE, OTHERS PAY

There were varying plans for defraying inoculation costs.

Premier Frost of Ontario announced every child in the province will be inoculated free. Adults will get free "shots" too, when enough vaccine is available.

But in New Jersey, the Passaic County Medical Society recommended a charge of $15 for the three-shot series. It said patients should pay for the vaccine, estimated at $3 to $5, plus three office visits.

MONTREAL, (CP)—The moderator of the Presbyterian Church in Canada says Chiang Kai-shek's government is far from democratic but it "has some features worth commending." Dr. J. W. L. Maclean of Victoria, B. C., Tuesday told the Montreal presbytery he found on a recent visit to Formosa that there is "freedom of religion to a very marked degree," in the Nationalist Chinese stronghold.

Charged With Causing Disturbance

NEW GLASGOW (CP) — Five Prince Edward Island men were fined $3 to $10 each Wednesday after pleading guilty to creating a disturbance by fighting on a train coming into New Glasgow. One was taken to hospital for treatment of a head cut, and the other four were taken to jail when the train arrived here Tuesday night.

All were members of the Canadian National Railways marine ferry department and were en route to Cape Breton.

Scotia II To Come To P.E.I.; Will Not Return

POINT TUPPER, N. S. (CP)—A 54-year transportation link which has played a life-giving role in the economy of Canso strait communities will be partially snapped this week when the Canadian National Railway car ferry Scotia II sails away.

It will go to its new berth at Borden, P. E. I. It is not slated to return because the railway ferry service between Cape Breton and Mulgrave on the mainland is scheduled to end at midnight, May 15.

Scotia II, the bulky, 350-foot coal-burning ferry, will pinch-hit the P. E. I.-New Brunswick ferry Abegweit while it is getting its annual overhaul.

This has been the practise for several years, but this time the Scotia II, which went into the Canso strait run in 1901 or shortly after, will reach its point of no return as far as the Canso service is concerned.

Scotia II replaced the barge "Mulgrave," put into service by the federal government in 1883 with a steam tug lashed to it for propulsion.

Deck hands from Prince Edward Island will replace those from the strait area, but for the voyage, at least, all the underdeck crew are regular members of the Scotia II crew.

Remaining on its regular run until time runs out on the twin railway communities of Point Tupper and Mulgrave next month in Scotia I, constructed about 40 years ago. The highways department ferry service between Port Hawkesbury Canso causeway Aug. 13.
