Conference of N. B. and P. E. Island at St. Stephen.

(From our own Correspondent.)
MONDAY EVENING.
The ordination service was held in the evening. There was a large attendance.
President Teed conducted the service. On the platform were the following ministers: Rev. Dr. Stewart, D. Chipman, I. Reed, R. W. Weddall, who with the President took part in the laying on of hands. Prayers by Rev. D. Chapman, ex-President Phinney, delivered the charge to the Rev.
A. D. McCully, B. D., who was the only candidate for ordination. The charge was based upon the passage of Scripture, contained 11 in Timothy, 4th chapter and 2nd verse, "Preach the word be instant in season out of season, reprove, rebuke, exhort with all long suffering and doctrine." During the service several anthems were rendered in a very creditable manner by the choir.

TUESDAY MORNING.
Conference opened in the usual way.
Prayer by Rev. C. Stackford. The report of the Parsonage Aid Fund was read by Rev. J. S. Seller. It recommended that Dorchester receive $50 and Derby $25 towards Parsonages. The report of the committee sought to look into the Land Lottery scheme at Moncton, in which some of the Ministers were implicated, reported that the Ministers had promised to clear themselves of all connection with the affair.
Report was accepted. Rev. S. F. Huestis, Book Steward, was heard relative to his department. He made sundry explanations and statements. A discussion relative to the press of Wesleyan ensued, but nothing practical resulted. A good deal of routine business was disposed of. Conference adjourned till after the evening meeting.

AFTERNOON SESSION.
Conference opened in usual form. Rev.
C. H. Paisley, A. M., read the report of the Educational Society. It was adopted.
Dr. Inch, President of the Mount Allison College, spoke relative to other work at Sackville. He said there had been about sixty students in attendance at the College during the past year. He spoke of the success of many of the students in the various professions and walks of life. Rev. Dr.
Rice bespoke sympathy for the Teachers and Professors of our Institutions. He made a most excellent speech. After entering into many personal reminiscences he urged the preachers to maintain their Institutions. Rev. J. C. Berrie spoke in high terms of the work done at Sackville.

Emigration.
INTERESTING PARTICULARS OF THE MEANS EMPLOYED IN ENGLAND TO PROMOTE IT.
(London Correspondent of the Halifax Herald.)
The government office relies chiefly upon printed papers and placards freely circulated, and upon the efforts of the steamboat agents to be found in all parts of the United kingdom. Hand-books containing information as to Canada generally, and each province in particular, also as to assisted passages and land grant conditions have been sent "almost to every farmer whose name we can get." With them are sent blanks to be filled up and returned to the office by those asking for grants, passages or further information, and placards are put up in every country post office and in most railway stations, so that every man who can read and who keeps his eyes about him, must have the claims of Canada brought to his notice, and is fully directed where to enquire further. The Canada Pacific Railway Company, besides distributing "tons" of pamphlets and papers, send agents to various places, particularly when any land troubles have arisen. As soon as the 'Crofters' trouble arose in Scotland they had their agents on the spot, but not content with sending agents out, they send other officers on their track to test and check their work and to report to the head office whether the work is being really and effectively done. These facts seem to answer in the affirmative the question raised in one of my former letters as to whether there is direct communication held with the laboring classes on the subject of emigration.
Work in this quarter is being done to some extent; but there is more yet to be done, and I have reason to believe that the further extension of this part of the work is under consideration. However, the result of the work now being done and carried on for many years previously from the Dominion office, is becoming more and more marked. During the last year there were over 5,000 letters of enquiry delivered at the Government Office, besides a very large number of personal enquiries made, while the increased and increasing stream of immigrants in Canada show that the agencies often end in a movement. While enumerating the agencies for spreading information, I ought not to omit mention of the Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge, which has published an excellent "Hand-book for Emigrants," and sent copies of it free to every parsonage in England. It seems to me that the western provinces are much more alive to the importance of securing a share of the emigration stream than are the Maritime Provinces. I was told at the Government office that domestic servants are given by the Dominion Government an assisted passage either to Halifax or Quebec for £2 sig. That from the latter port the Local Governments of Ontario or Quebec will give them a free passage to whatever point they choose in either of these provinces, but that no such arrangement is made by any one of the lower Provinces.
Now, we on the spot, know that the distances to be travelled in Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and P. E. Island are very small if compared with those in Ontario and Quebec, and so may think the matter not worth attending to. But the intending emigrant knows nothing about that.
He knows that he will start with very little money in his pocket; he is told that if he goes to Quebec, his passage will be free to the place he decides to stay at, but that if he goes to Halifax, he must pay his own way. Of course this decides the question. This applies only to the one class, viz., "domestic servants," but is there not a complaint from every quarter of the Maritime Provinces that "it is impossible to get women servants anywhere." I do not see that the Local Governments are called upon to pay the passage of servants to those who will employ them. But a little organization and a little management might put employes in communication with the government agencies, and by securing a share of this class of emigrants they would benefit themselves and the community at large.

It looks very much as if the scheme to assist Irish emigration proposed by the Pacific Railway Co., will fall through, at least for this year, owing to the cold reception given to it by the British Government.
Should this unfortunately be the case, it will be a shameful instance of sacrificing to party exigencies, a half starving population.
Mr. Chamberlain (a strong man in a not very strong cabinet) opposes it, for Irish suffering and Irish discontent are useful to promote changes in the land laws of England. The Irish invincibles oppose it, for were the pressure removed from the western districts where the worst cases of congested population are to be found, it would be much more difficult to continue the political agitation. The Prime Minister is not slow to yield to any pressure from within, or from without, and the Irish members joining the Conservatives, have already during the session defeated the government; so with land and houses of their own almost within their reach, the unfortunate Irish peasantry may live or starve as best they can, for to improve their condition might imperial the party prospects of the Liberals, a party who of course, are always above all things the friends of humanity. Perhaps when Sir Charles Upper brings his energies to bear upon the subject, he may succeed in removing the obstacles that some members of the British Cabinet are throwing in the way.

Two DEAD BODIES PICKED UP AT SEA IN A DORY.—Gloucester, June 29. Schri-Midnight, Trevo, of this port, at St.
Pierre, reports June 20, lat. 45.56, lon. 58, picked up a dory containing two dead bodies, dressed in black oiled clothes, rubber boots; one smooth face, and the other about two weeks beard. The dory was an old one with six marked on the port bow, black dot on starboard bow, and two trawl tubs on board. The bodies, somewhat decayed, were buried at sea.
Mr. Chamberlain, President of the Board of Trade in the Gladstone Government, has made a "disturbing" speech at Birmingham. He comes out boldly for manhood suffrage. As there is a considerable conservative element in Mr. Gladstone's Liberal government, we may expect to hear of difference of opinion in the Cabinet in regard to Mr. Chamberlain's utterances.
Mr. Chamberlain spoke for the radical wing of the Liberal Party, and this is the wing which invariably stamps its policy on Liberal governments in the end.
