ELLEN'S DIARY

The Lace Of New Leaves And Kitten-faced Pansies

"Why don't we grow only pansies?" Alex queried, when together we gardened today.

"And why?"

"Because they are so pretty. They have faces like kittens," he said. "Read this," he beamed coming by when we were at supper. "Mother wrote it down for me."

We read: "Born on Tuesday, May 21st., 1963, to an angora father - rabbit and an ordinary white slick - haired mother, 9 bunnies. All are well. Owner, Alexander D."

He nodded. "Yes, they're mine. Nine! Couldn't have had much better luck than that, could I? And," he sighed blissfully, "we had pretty good luck too with our kittens this spring!"

The main supper - dish cooked. It had come fresh from the ice of the Fishman's smart truck, which, in a previous call, had opened its season with an offering of herring.

"And how have you - all wintered?" the Fishman inquired. What a wide circle of friends he must have - this genial man, and interested, whose vending keeps him on the road every weekday and has given him his routes for years. What a knowledge of the homes and families over a wide area he must have, of the joys and sorrows, and the various cares that are theirs.

"My how that Peter - fellow has grown since the Fall! He's not a baby any more. He's a man now!" he smiled.

Helping his mother garden today, Peter was. Enjoying the freedom and loveliness of the outdoors, the sunlight on his hair, the warm wind on his cheeks. Helping her, then leaving in a flash to visit the rabbits or the bantams; to vanish for a moment until "Peter, where are you?" was the anxious call.

"I'm here!" he would reply, returning to sight. And how exceedingly good it is to hear that answering call!

"And when you found her, did you spank or hug her?" we inquired of a young mother of three this evening, who had related that her little daughter, a pictured child, "not two years then" had once disappeared suddenly from house and yard.

"And I searched everywhere and called her name, and there was neither sight nor sound of her."

Oh the anxiety of it - the absence of the small one who had followed after her father, and found him where he worked in a far field!

"I didn't spank her," she said.

Lace of new leaves we have now: alders leafing prettily down by the stream; maples putting on the rose hues. Willows with their slim quickly opened leaf; poplars, the roundish, restless, light green. Squirrel's ear of birch. James eyes the latter today.

"The cropping is catching up with us," he said.

Good luck with our bunnies, we have had, and our kittens. And tonight all is well.

Until tomorrow — — Diary— Good-night. . . .

Playette Given By Lot 16 UCW

Mrs. Ralph Johnston entertained the members of the Lot 16 United Church Women at the manse for their May meeting. The theme for the worship was "family life" and was conducted by Mrs. Winfield Gamble assisted by Mrs. Roand Best.

A playette "Abraham's Wife" was presented by Mrs. Johnston and Mrs. A.K. MacGregor. Reports were given by several who attended the presbyterial in Morell. Mrs. MacGregor presided for the business period when it was decided to pay for Sunday school supplies and for two dozen cups and saucers. It was also decided to pack a box of used clothing.

Prepared - Ahead Dinner Makes Delectable Menu

THE MOST difficult problem for many maidless hostesses is planning a different and delectable dinner party menu of foods that can be almost entirely prepared in advance.

Here is one of my favorites.

SEATED DINNER FOR GUESTS

Won Ton Soup (Canned)
In Cups
South African Rock
Lobster Thermidor
Heated Shoe-String Potatoes (Canned)
Asparagus with Halved Artichoke Hearts
Ice Cream Cake Layer
Strawberry Decor
Coffee

TUESDAY FAMILY DINNER

Same menu, but use the 6 diced, cooked South African lobster tails escalloped in 2½ c. white sauce seasoned with mayonnaise.

The soup, shoestring potatoes and artichoke hearts are canned and need only heating. The lobster tail Thermidor (ready to bake) and ice cream layer (ready to unmold) are prepared early in the day. The asparagus is peeled, wrapped in foil and chilled ready to cook.

Dinner can be completed within 30 min.

Measurements level; recipes for 6

SOUTH AFRICAN ROCK LOBSTER THERMIDOR

6 (4 oz.) South African rock lobster tails
4 tbsp. butter
4 tbsp. flour
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. paprika
½ tsp. dry mustard
½ tsp. nutmeg
1½ c. hot milk and mushroom liquid
½ c. cream
½ c. drained canned sliced mushrooms (save liquid)
2 tbsp. cherry or 1 tbsp sherry flavoring
1 c. buttered bread crumbs
¼ c. grated Parmesan cheese
Decor — a tomato flower (see Chef)

Drop rock lobster tails into boiling salted water; cook 2 min.

Remove tails; drain and drench immediately with cold water to firm meat. Remove meat from shell; dice; reserve shells.

Melt butter; stir in flour. salt and spices.

Stir in hot milk and mushroom liquid. Cook-stir until sauce thickens; stir in cream.

Add rock lobster meat, mushrooms and sherry or sherry flavoring.

Fill lobster shells; spread with bread crumbs; dust with grated cheese. Place under low broiler heat for 2 min. or until sauce bubbles and crumbs are slightly browned.

Serve on a round platter centered with a "tomato flower".

ICE CREAM CAKE LAYER

2 layers sponge cake, round or square
1 pt. slightly softened strawberry or coffee ice cream
1 c. sweetened whipped cream
¾ c. fine-chopped nutmeats

Cut cake to fit freezing tray. Line tray with waxed paper; fit in layer of cake. Gently pack in ice cream.

Press on second layer of cake. Cover with foil. Freeze 2 hrs.

Turn onto platter. Cover with whipped cream and dust with nutmeats.

Garnish with sugared whole strawberries.

THE CHEF'S NEW TOMATO FLOWER DECOR

With a sharp knife, cut a small slice from the top of a tomato. Pare off skin and a little tomato flesh round-and-round as you would an apple. Coil this around the remaining center; push up the center, plant a sprig of parsley in it—et voila!

Household Hint

If you're underweight and trying to gain, try to arrange for a short relaxation period after mealtime.

Use leftover wallpaper to cover a wastebasket, coating it with clear shellac for protection.

ENVOY TOURS PROVINCE

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — Eduardo Brazao, Portuguese ambassador to Canada, arrives here today for a three-day visit following a trip across the province by train. Besides calling on provincial and civic officials, he has been invited to attend a session of the Newfoundland legislature. He will give a reception for captains of ships of the Portuguese fishing fleet who happen to be in port here during his visit.
