

Farewell Party At Brackley Point

On Wednesday evening, Oct. 28 a wide circle of friends and neighbors of Brackley Point and surrounding districts gathered at Shaw's Hotel, Brackley Beach, to tender a farewell party to the Gregor family, prior to their departure for their new home in Cornwall.

When all had assembled in the spacious living room, the following address was read to the guests of honor by Mrs. Fenton McClure:

To Mr. Charles Gregor, Walter and Margaret:

Dear Friends:

With heavy hearts, we, your friends and neighbors have gathered here tonight to bid you farewell from our community where you have all dwelt for so many years. In our selfishness we cannot see the why or wherefore of such a departure, but as it is to be we must be satisfied, if not content.

We have always found you—each one of you—the best of neighbors, the loyalest of friends, and a haven to which we might turn when our lives were beset with cares and unhappiness—then the warmth of your smiles and the comfort of your fireside made us feel again that in life there are such things as cannot be bought with earthly substance.

You have always dwelt with us in peace and friendship, always placing the good of the community before personal gain; and ever giving of your time and talent to each endeavour that could advance the community life and lessen the suffering of the individual.

You have so endeared yourselves to us that we find it difficult to evaluate our Brackley Pt. without you. It will still be Brackley Pt., but it can never be just the same. You will find a niche in another community, where we wholeheartedly wish you every success and happiness; but here, every evening and dawn around your ancestral home will bring back to us fond memories of you, your days spent here, and the happiness you gave us. Time, no doubt, will try to erase these fond memories, but it is and always will be "Gregors Place" to us.

As we bid you adieu, we feel that what we have lost will be the enrichment of another place, as we know that each of you will carry on, as always, an honour to your community, your province, and your country.

So, in closing, on behalf of all of us, please accept these gifts as tokens of our love and respect.

HANDLE WITH CARE — Almost as stiff as his new, starched suit, a little page remains at attention while a guest carries him to a wedding reception. The reception followed the wedding of Miss E. M. Carew Pole and D. C. Quilter at the North Mimms, England, Parish Church. Queen Mother Elizabeth and Princess Margaret attended the wedding.

and, in the years to come may they bring you some small measure of enjoyment, and a gentle reminder that although you have left us, we are still not so far away but that you can visit with us, as time and toll allow, and come where you will always be assured of a hearty welcome. God keep you all in His good care and under His guidance.

Signed on behalf of your friends of Brackley Point and vicinity: Mr. Grant McCallum and Mr. Cleveland Robinson presented Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gregor with a gift of money, and Mr. Charles Gregor with a suitable remembrance.

The Gregors expressed their thanks to all present for their kindness, dwelling upon the strong bonds of true friendship which would always remain, and extended a hearty invitation to all to visit them in their new home.

All joined in singing "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows", after which an enjoyable social evening was spent, music being furnished by Mr. Walter McClure and Mrs. Vernon Hughes.

Composers Seek $15 Million In Damages

NEW YORK, (AP)—Thirty-three prominent composers and song writers filed suit in federal court Monday seeking $15,000,000 damages from 17 firms which they accused of conspiring to "dominate and control the market for the exploitation of musical compositions."

Among the defendants named were the Radio Corporation of America; National Broadcasting Company; Columbia Broadcasting System; American Broadcasting-Paramount Theatres; the Mutual Broadcasting System and Broadcast Music, Inc.

The suit said Broadcast Music, Inc., had been formed by the other defendants to create a "music pool" and asked the court to issue preliminary and temporary injunctions restraining the alleged combine from operating.

Among those bringing the suit are Arthur Schwartz, Ira Gershwin, Gian-Carlo Menotti and Dorothy Fields. The plaintiffs said they were acting on behalf of 3,000 composers and authors.

Quebec Farmers Begin Cutting Christmas Trees

By PETER BUCKLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

QUEBEC, (CP)—Axes have started to swing throughout Quebec Province as farmers cash in on a lucrative "spare-time" business main market of which is the United States.

Demand for Christmas trees is a boon to the farmer who finds himself with time on his hands when winter halts his agricultural activities.

The trees, for some strange reason, seem to flourish on ground that is good for little else. Few are the farmers with substantial holdings who do not have at least one corner of their property set aside for "les arbres de noel"—mostly spruce.

Thousands of these small patches combine to make up a big business—worth at least $1,000,000 last year in this province alone. Prospects look every bit as good this year.

Quebec, the fourth largest producer of the trees in Canada, marked up sales last year of 2,428,000 units outside the province. British Columbia, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick rank ahead of Quebec.

Says Voluntary Enlistment Has Numerous Flaws

MONTREAL, (CP)—Maj. Gen. R. Holly Keefler commander of the Third Canadian Division in the Second World War, says Canada is "not facing up to reality" with its voluntary enlistment system for the armed forces.

In a speech prepared for delivery Wednesday at a Remembrance Day luncheon of the Montreal Electrical Club, Gen. Keefler said there are numerous flaws in arguments supporting voluntary service.

An individual could be proud of being a volunteer but this did not make Canadian soldiers superior.

Referring to Canadian troops in the Second World War, Gen. Keefler, now an executive with the Bell Telephone Co. here, said: "Our army was really a very good amateur team—and in this province's production goes to the big cities. Philadelphia, New York, Cleveland and Boston claim a good share of the market. Also figuring highly are the smaller towns in bordering states—Maine, Vermont, New Hampshire, and New York.

Price Difference

Average price paid the farmer for his trees is about 30 cents although size, shape and condition of the tree can make considerable difference.

What the average consumer pays makes the price the farmer gets look insignificant.

In New York, for instance, table-size trees have gone for as high as $2. In most big cities, a good size bundle of greenery runs between $1.50 and $3.00, although they can be had for more or less, again depending on size, shape and condition.

Most of the difference can be found in transportation costs, handling, storing, and, in the U. S., customs duties.

cas a winning one—operating in a professional league."

"Now it may be true that under certain circumstances, the volunteer has great enthusiasm and feels a sense of superiority, but I wonder if there aren't many occasions when subconsciously at least he thinks 'Why did I get myself into this?' or 'This wasn't what I bargained for' or 'Why should I stick my neck out when others are playing it safe at home?'"

Gen. Keefler said he doubts if any one would deny "it is easier to go to a dangerous spot in the battle area when ordered to, than to decide for yourself that it is the right thing to do."

"By the same token," he continued, "the soldiers called up under a national service system are relieved of the decision. People behave at least as well under those circumstances, and I think they suffer less in the process."

Amateur Standing

Gen. Keefler asked what were the arguments today in favor of voluntary service. Answering his own question, he said: "Well, frankly, I have never heard one that sounded either valid or too sincere and everyone in a position of responsibility knows that we are not facing up to reality—that if the test came suddenly, we would pay a bitter price for our amateur standing."

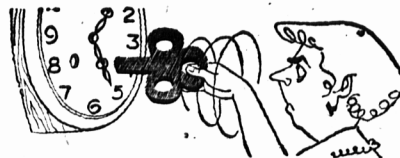

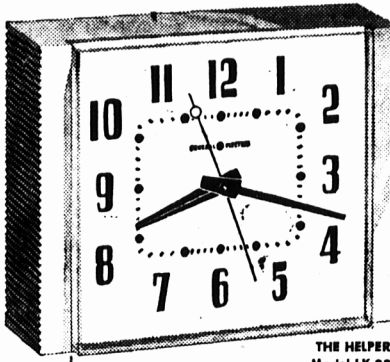

"Our nation may well be called upon once more to fight for liberty. Only when we see that our youth is trained for such a role—as the youth in every other first class power is trained—only then, it seems to me, can we say with a clear national conscience that we are honoring the memory of those who have made the supreme sacrifice."

RUSHING NATURE

VANCOUVER — (CP) — How a little piglet can be turned into a 200-pound hog in as little as 123 days was told by Dr. Alex Wood, director of the animal nutrition laboratory of the University of British Columbia. They have cut the growing time in half by using pure cane sugar in the porker's diet.
