

Double Ring Ceremony Unites Happy Couple

St. Andrews United Church, Orwell, was the setting on June 20th at 4 o'clock for the marriage of Isabel Mary Maude, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Dingwell MacLeod, Vernon, and John Donald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh MacKinnon, Kinross. Rev. A.S. Wier D.D. performed the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. Samuel Martin, aunt of the bride played the wedding music. The church was beautifully decorated with baskets of red roses, snowballs and other summer flowers.

The bride looked lovely as she entered the church on the arm of her father who gave her in marriage.

She wore for her wedding a floor length gown of white Chantilly lace over satin with scalloped neckline. The skirt simulated the tiered effect by clever handclipping and hand appreciation of scallop row lace.

Her veil was held by a crown effect headress of sequins and seed pearls. Her only jewellery was a pair of pine ear-rings, a gift of the groom. The bride carried a bouquet of red roses.

Mrs. Rees Newson, as her sister's matron of honor, wore a heavenly blue ballerina length gown of nylon over taffeta with matching headress. She carried a basket of pink and white carnations.

The groom was attended by Clint Brehaut, Kinross, Messrs. Freeman Whiteaway and J. D. MacLeod ushered the guests to their pews.

Mrs. MacLeod chose for her daughter's wedding an afternoon dress and jacket of shantung with white accessories. Her corsage was white carnations.

The groom's mother was attended in a steel grey suit with white accessories. Her corsage was pink carnations.

Previous to the ceremony and during the signing of the register Mr. Lloyd Martin sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "O Perfect Love."

Following the ceremony a reception was held at The Oakwood. The bride's table was decorated with pink carnations and was centered with a three tier wedding cake which was topped with pink roses.

The toast to the bride was proposed by the Rev. John Sheen to which Rev. A.S. Wier responded.

Congratulatory telegrams to the bride and groom were received from Mr. and Mrs. Eric Manneil Toronto, Ont., Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Stewart, Toronto Ont., Misses Gladys and Mary MacLeod, Toronto, Ontario.

Amid showers of confetti the happy couple left on a honeymoon trip through the Maritimes.

For travelling the bride wore a navy and white checked dress with navy duster and white accessories. Her corsage was red carnations.

The bride was on the nursing staff of the Prince Edward Island Hospital previous to her marriage. The groom is a prosperous farmer in Kinross.

Prior to her marriage the bride was entertained at numerous showers by her friends. An all occasions she was the recipient of many numerous and useful gifts.—Photo by Barter's Studio.

ELLEN'S DIARY

So "Come To The Fair" Is Theme Song For All

By this, it comes to mind. Islands are reflected on the sky above the dusky wooded hills eastward... or when we see the children add up the nickles and dimes they have been saving towards it, a light of nice expectancy in young eyes... or when we note our busy farmers blithely brushing a herdsire's best coat and then ease him up a ramp to the truck which will presently bear him out over the hilltop to a stall at the Fair, our air of indifference vanishes, our

SUMMER BEAUTY

THIS summer sees many gaudy dresses done in light fabrics but far removed from the little dotted Swiss or lace number, Elizabeth Arden does such a creation, a strapless short gown in pale pink. The brief bodice and underskirt are richly but delicately embroidered in pearls. The overskirt, which is removable, is caught at the waist by a large softly tailored bow.

Temlett-MacDougall Wedding Held In B.C.
A wedding of interest to many in this province was solemnized in St. Helen's Church, North Burnaby, B.C. on Saturday, July 5, when Lorna Donald MacDougall, daughter of Mrs. Arne J. Jacobson, Vancouver, and the late Mr. George A. MacDougall, Charlottetown, became the bride of Gary Joseph Temlett son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Temlett, North Burnaby, B.C. Rev. Mr. Berry officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her step-father, was lovely in her floor length gown of embroidered white net over taffeta, the bodice with sequin trim, matching elbow length gloves. The sequin and pearl studded headress held in place a chapel length veil, and her bouquet was of red roses and stephanotis.

Mrs. Shirley Neilson was matron of honor while Miss Margaret MacDougall (sister of the bride) and Miss Jean Ann Snell were the bridesmaids. The three attendants were dressed similarly in azure crystalite, cocktail length dresses with head-dress and gloves in tone. I also carried bouquets of pink gladioli and ostrich feathers.

Mr. Joseph Wasyluk was the groomsmen and Messrs. James and Ian MacDougall (brothers of the bride) and Duncan McInnis were the ushers.

Following the ceremony a reception for one hundred forty-five guests was held at Bakers Summer Gardens, Vancouver. The toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. Alfred E. Cleveland and to which the groom responded.

After a honeymoon trip in Portland Oregon, they are residing in Vancouver. The bride has been on the Vancouver School Board Staff for two years and the groom will be on the School Board Staff in September, after receiving his Bachelor of Education Degree this year at the University of British Columbia.

Mrs. James Miller and son Reid left Sunday for Sydney Mines, Nova Scotia, on a week's visit.

Mrs. A.F. Hansul of Galt, Ontario, and her sister, Amy, of Vancouver, B.C., are the guests of their brother, Mr. George Agnew and Mrs. Agnew, 40 Upper Prince Street, Charlottetown. Mrs. Hansul, formerly Effie Agnew of Alberton, and her sister plan to spend a few days in their home town before leaving the province.

Mr. and Mrs. William F. Rogerson wish to announce the engagement of their elder daughter Joan Doreen to Leith Stanley son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley E. Thompson.

Marriage will take place September 6, 1958 at 2 p.m. in Trinity United Church, Charlottetown.

MARY HAWORTH
Attractive Career Girl Finds All Men Wolves

Dear Mary Haworth—My problem isn't very original. It is, in one word, MEN. I am 22, quite attractive, excellently educated, and working seriously to build a career in my field.

Every man I date, without exception, seems to have but one idea, not too far back in his mind—and it ain't wedlock. Still more annoying is the fact that, in this Jet Age, even the time invested in the Big Buildup is getting shorter and shorter.

For example, I recently dated a young man met in the course of business. During dinner I asked about plans for the evening, whereupon he proudly produced a door key from his vest pocket and triumphantly proclaimed that we had guest use of his friend's apartment until 11 p.m., after which said friend and his girl would take over.

OVERRULED THAT IDEA

As lightly as I could, I overruled these plans with others of my own, which must have seemed a poor substitute to the Wolf, who suffered through the balance of the evening and hasn't been heard from since.

Another example is a brilliant young lawyer whom I really admired. He was a bit more subtle in his approach; he waited until the second date before asking if I would go with him to Florida for a weekend. Since I refused he too has joined the ranks of the no-longer-heard-from.

You seem to be pretty astute at judging a person's character from his writings; and I'm not overlooking the possibility that something may be wrong with me. I am not asking for anything so simple as condolences or advice. What I would welcome is comments from men as to the why and whereof of their blub behavior as described. As one young swain so poetically phrased it: "We are all after the same thing—your body."

Dear D. A.—This is a case of birds of similar false feathers getting together, I think. You are acting a part in the Jet Age self, playing the role of sophisticated Young Miss in the Jet Age—supposedly not shocked by anything, just slightly amused when your soul gets slapped.

And these go—getting young men are likewise estranged from their roots, playing sophisticated New Yorkers to the hilt, in making their unblinking bid for "the body."

None of you has the fund of moral sense, or the solid foundation of real character cultivation, to treat the life in yourselves with the respect and reverence that it deserves; and that it must receive, if you are to know any joy at all.

None of you are sophisticates, actually. You are all on the wrong track in life, trying to accommodate to sub-human (i.e. animal) rather than human (which aspires towards the spiritual) principles of being and becoming.

TAILORED MONKEYS

True sophistication has to do with spiritual maturing; with deep and full experience of the pain of living—with having digested grief and sorrow, temptation and compassion, love and treachery, hardship and frustration—the whole gamut of emotional tension. And with having endured the ordeal with profit, in terms of wisdom, strength, understanding and trust in God gained.

Your amoral admirers are somewhat like educated monkeys dressed in human clothing, trying to behave as monkeys might assume a Superman-About-Town (made in the monkey image) would behave. They simply have missed the boat, on the score of acting human. To get a saving slant on themselves before too late they ought to read Pitirim Sorokin's book The American Sex Revolution (Porter Sargent publishers).

It is a terrific appraisal of the sexual sickness of our times. "We have drifted along the currents of sexual freedom dangerously far," says this distinguished anthropologist. And he shows that most peoples, as well as leaders of decaying societies in the past, were equally unaware (as we are) of the peril closing in. M. H.

FOUR KINDS OF BEANS
Wait In The Market

By IDA BAILEY ALLEN
"There were four varieties of fresh beans at the market today," reported the Chef.

"They included green beans, which are grown almost round the world, wax snap beans which are a near relative, fresh green limas, and the fava or broad beans."

"How are you planning to cook the green beans, Chief?" I asked.

"In the real French manner, Madame, which is appropriate only for fresh young tender green or wax beans."

"I shall cut off the stems, rinse in cold water and shred quickly on the bean shredder—a most useful gadget."

RUB WITH GARLIC
"Then I shall rub a heavy quart saucepan with a cut section of garlic, add four tablespoons butter and four tablespoons water, one-half teaspoon salt and heat. Then in with two pounds of Frenched beans."

"I'll clap on the cover and cook slowly about 25 minutes, or until the beans are tender to the bite, also, I shall stir several times, so they will cook slowly and not scorch."

"This is a tasty dish, because no flavor is lost in cooking."

"How about the fava beans, Chef?"

"These are so meaty in texture I like to serve them in an otherwise light meal. The Italian way of cooking them is very good. I also recommend cooking big fresh green limas the same way."

Fava or lima beans Italian: Shell 3 lbs. of fava (or green lima beans. Boil covered 25 min. in 1 in. salted water.

Meantime, in a 1½ qt. heavy saucepan fry 1-3 c. small-diced salt pork in 1 tbsp. olive oil. When golden, add ¾ c. chopped onion, 1-3 c. chopped celery, ½ tbsp. minced parsley, 1 (8 oz.) can seasoned tomato sauce and 2 can-measures of the bean liquid. Stir in beans.

Cover and simmer 20 min. or longer until they are really tender.

This dish is very good as a luncheon entree accompanied with risotto and plenty of cottage cheese.

Tomorrow's Dinner: Chilled pineapple juice, broiled liver with broiled tomato slices, mixed green beans, whipped potatoes, California lemon custard pie, hot or iced coffee or tea, milk.

All measurements are level; recipes proportioned to serve 4-6

California Lemon Custard Pie: Line a 9-in. pie-plate with American pie pastry flavored with 1 tsp. crushed fine - grated lemon rind and 1 tsp. lemon juice. Dust pastry with 1 tsp. fine dry bread crumbs and press in lightly.

Lemon Custard Filling: Over hot water seal 1 pt. milk and 1½ tbsp. cornstarch blended with 1 tbsp. cold milk and 1 tsp. salt. Stir - cook until beginning to thicken.

Beat 3 eggs light with 1 c. sugar. Pour in cornstarch - custard mixture. Cool. Add juice of 1 lemon. Pour into crust-lined plate.

Bake 10 min. in a hot oven, 450 degrees F.; then reduce heat to bake 35 min., or until firm in center and a knife, when inserted, comes out clean.

Serve cold the day it is made.

TRICK OF THE CHEF
Always pour boiling water over and through pork or lamb liver before cooking to improve flavor.
