EFFICACY OF OLIVE OIL.

Medical authorities are generally agreed as to the value of olive oil medicinally, finding it also a potent agent for any defects of the excretory ducts, especially the skin. Eczema has rapidly disappeared upon a discontinuance of starch foods and the substitution of a diet of fresh and dried fruits, milk, eggs and olive oil.

Thunderstorms.

Do not imagine that because a heavy thunderstorm is far away to leeward it is not likely to arise and wet you. Even if the wind is blowing right against the cloud it will come your way all the more surely, for thunderstorms always travel against the wind.

The reason for this is that there is invariably a countercurrent of air above the breeze that you feel close to the earth, and this sky high wind blows in the opposite direction to the one which alone you can detect.

Fog never does this; neither does ordinary rain—at least very seldom—but snow or sleet some time works its way up wind just as the tempest does. Sheet lightning, by the way, is not a distinctive sort of light, but merely the reflection in the sky of a forked flash many miles away.

Where They Are Mated by Lottery.

It was a cynic who said that marriage is a lottery, but in the province of Smolensk, in Russia, this aphorism has been reduced to a quarterly fact, for four times a year there is held the most remarkable lottery ever devised.

A charge of a ruble is made for a ticket, only one prize is to be drawn, and it consists of the entire sum yielded by the sale of the tickets, amounting to 5,000 rubles. The lucky winner of the prize is bound to marry a certain damsel if he takes the 5,000 rubles. Should he be married he is at liberty to turn over the money and the lady to any friend whom he may wish to put in for such a good thing.

Strong Soup.

In the life of William Stokes, written by his son, which has appeared in London, it is told how Soyer was sent over to Dublin during the great famine to show the people how make soup. Stokes asked a starving beggar why she did not go and get some of the soup that was being freely distributed.

"Soup, is it, your honor? Sure, it isn't soup at all." "And what is it, then?" inquired Stokes. "It is nothing, your honor, but a quart of water boiled down to a pint, to make it strong!"

This is the soup maigre which Hogarth caricatured in his picture of the French troops at Calais.

The Cake Walk is French.

The cake walk properly had its origin among the French negroes of Louisiana more than a century ago. There is little doubt that it is an offshoot of some of the old French country dances.

At a cake walk a man might legitimately show his preference for a woman and thus publicly claim her for a wife. In effect the cake walk was not different from the old Scotch marriage, which required only public acknowledgment from the contracting parties.

Cake walking has improved, as do most things that are constantly practiced. It has lost its old significance in the south. Negroes now get married, when they marry at all, in the white folks' fashion. It has, moreover, become a pantomime dance. Properly performed, it is a beautiful one.

The Chinese divide the day into 12 parts of two hours each. The Italians reckon 24 hours round instead of two divisions of 12 hours each, as we do.

It is said to be a curious circumstance that some of the most important inventions have been made by lunatics.

FACTS ABOUT HEALTH

It is Easy to Keep Well if We Know How—Some of the Conditions Necessary to Perfect Health.

The importance of maintaining good health is easily understood, and it is really a simple matter if we take a correct view of the conditions required. In perfect health the stomach promptly digests food, and thus prepares nourishment. The blood is employed to carry this nourishment to the organs, nerves, muscles and tissues which need it.

Hood's Pills are the only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

The Old Sailor's yarn.

"Yes," said the old fellow who professed to have been a sailor and who hitched his unmentionables and rolled in his walk that he might look the part, "I was marooned out."

"It's a solemn fact, gents. For ten years I lived alone on a South sea island. I wasn't jest deserted there, but the ship blowed up an I was the only one what ever reached land ag'in. I floated on a spar to that there desolate island. None of you gents knows what it is to be lonely, to have no feller bein to jaw with, to see nuthin above but the heavens and nuthin 'round you but water. I would a died if I hadn't ketch-ed a sea gull and trained him so he would mind like a dog."

Here a sympathetic listener piped the old fellow up to grog, and he seemed to lose his bearings. "Ten times I writ home," he went on, "and half a dozen times I cabled."

"Why, you old fraud," interrupted a fresh water sailor who had been taking in the narration, "if you could send letters and cablegrams, you weren't marooned. What kind of a game is this you're givin us?"

But the old salt was equal to the occasion. Over he tumbled on the floor, he went through the outward symptoms of a fit, had to be supplied with another dose of restorative and when he came to, looked about him in a dazed way.

"What hey I been sayin, gents?" he asked faintly. "Ever since I was marooned I have these here spells and go to unwindin novels. It was for ten years, gents," and the last word floated back as he made a dash through the front door.—Detroit Free Press.

The Two Lobes of the Brain.

In the ordinary working of the brain one half is more active than the other and exercises a superiority on its neighbor lobe. This lobe—in ordinary persons the left, of course—is the cerebral master. Heredity, education, or what we will—all the combined influences, in short, which mold human life—have tended, by some process of physiological selection, to place one lobe over the other in point of importance.
