Nearly 225 Canadians Beat Fleck And Crocker Saturday

TORONTO (CP) — Upwards of 175 Canadian males but fewer than 50 women beat the champions in the fifth annual national golf day.

Hundreds of golfers, most with fat handicaps, trekked onto courses throughout the country to shoot at the 18-hole 69 carded by U.S. Open champion Jack Fleck at Rochester, N.Y. and the 80 fired by U.S. women's open titlist Fay Crocker.

Those that succeeded got "I beat Jack Fleck" or "I beat Fay Crocker" medals for the price of a $1 entrance fee.

The proceeds after expenses have been deducted, are to be used in junior golf development throughout Canada.

The Royal Canadian Golf Association said Monday that unlike former years it will not donate one-half the proceeds to the Red Cross Society.

It could not afford to do so since it has taken over sponsorship from a magazine which paid expenses in previous years.

TWO TOP FLECK

At least two players beat Fleck's 69—without handicaps. Allan Boes, former Manitoba amateur champion, shot a five-under-par 67 at Winnipeg and George Knudson, the 1955 Canadian junior champ, turned in a four-under-par 68 over another Winnipeg course.

Results at clubs in Toronto and Montreal were still not available late Monday.

A whopping 748 turned out at Winnipeg's 13 courses; 77 men and 13 women won medals.

Six hundred teed off at Edmonton. Forty-nine beat Fleck while 18 women topped Miss Crocker.

In Nova Scotia Ralph Hayter fired a 64 to lead the eight men who beat Fleck's mark at Dartmouth's Brightwood course. Marg Patterson got a 71 to lead the three winning women.

Six women won at the Halifax Ashburn Club together with 16 men.

At Ottawa 125 golfers had a crack at the target over seven courses in the Ottawa-Hull district but only two men pulled it off.

Coley Hall Buys McLeod

VANCOUVER (CP)—Coley Hall, owner of Vancouver Canucks in the Western Hockey League, announced Friday he has purchased Jackie McLeod from New York Rangers for $6,000.

McLeod performed for the Canucks for part of the 1954-55 season and registered 83 points last year with Saskatoon Quakers.

The 26-year-old right winger played two full seasons with the Rangers in the National League.

Lamaze Wins French Ch'ship
