Both planes have been missing for a week. The Aeronca, piloted by United States Air Force Capt. George O. Frey, disappeared on a flight to Sept Isles, Que., from Goose Bay.

The Taylorcraft is missing on a 400-mile flight from Resolute Bay to the River Clyde area. Aboard the plane were pilot J. W. Rutherford of Penitence, B.C., and Dr. Randolph Hoyles of Toronto.

Final Hearing On TCA Monopoly To Begin Today

By JOHN LEBLANC
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP)—Final hearings in a case which could well establish the final destination of Canadian civil aviation will open here Monday.

After cross-country sessions, the air transport board will take up the last stages of the battle of Canadian Pacific Airlines to crack the transcontinental monopoly held by the government-owned Trans-Canada Air Lines.

Many millions of dollars in passenger and freight revenue are on the line. Also at stake is the question of whether a publicly-owned company is to continue to hold the cream of intra-Canadian air travel business.

TCA is fighting Canadian Pacific's attempt to get into the Canadian transcontinental business. It claims this could cost it more than $30,000,000 in the first three years of competition.

Any loss on such a scale could be passed on to the taxpayer, directly or indirectly, since TCA is a subsidiary of the publicly-owned Canadian National Railways, whose deficits are picked up by the federal treasury.

However, CPA contends that the "limited" form of competition it proposes for the present will not be too tough on TCA.

Canadian Pacific has told the board that it will produce evidence here to show "that the public will benefit from the introduction of our proposed services and that TCA . . . is well able to sustain the very limited volume of competition that is proposed."

TCA has put its foot firmly down on this suggestion by declaring that loss of its monopoly could cost it some $8,000,000 in 1959, another $12,000,000 the next year and as much as $15,000,000 in the following year.

TAKES STATEMENTS

Up to now, the three-man board has sat at Vancouver, Edmonton, Regina, Winnipeg and Moncton, N.B. So far, it has not received any evidence. It has taken preliminary statements from the two competing companies, and regional and local representations.

The Ottawa hearings, at which the antagonists will be introducing evidence, are expected to last two or three weeks.

In this case, the air transport board's decision may be final, unlike previous ones on big cases which usually amounted to no more than a recommendation to the cabinet. Some months ago, Transport Minister Hees let it be known that in future cases the board's decision would stick, barring appeals to the cabinet.

PRINCE COUNTY HOSPITAL

Annual Fund-Raising Campaign

At this season of Thanksgiving, in counting our many blessings the availability of Hospital Care in time of need, in all reason should rank the highest of them all.

The appeal for assistance as in previous years will be conducted in two parts — The First, the canvass for Century Club Membership will be carried on during the week of October 20th to 25th. The Annual Membership Drive will commence on October 26th and continue until November 1st.

LET US FACE THE FACTS -- WE NEED $30,000.00

IF WE ARE TO FUNCTION PROPERLY OVER THE ENSUING YEAR

The cost to patients is high as we all know who have had to meet them—but we cannot expect the sick to pay as well for . . .

1. The erection of Hospital buildings; entailing fixed annual retirement charges of principal and interest of $25,000.00.
2. The provision of a professional school for the training of nurses.
3. The purchase of necessary equipment to provide for the best treatment of those requiring hospital care; and
4. Last but not least, looking after those unfortunates who are wholly unable to pay for their own care.

All these are the community's responsibility and the COMMUNITY is YOU!

I therefore appeal to you to give, and give generously when the canvassers call.

On behalf of the Board of Trustees, Walter E. Darby, President.
