More than 25,000 tons of fill have been dumped on the city end of the fill which is rapidly taking shape as the Causeway over North River. Between three and four hundred feet of the Causeway have been laid well above high water which gave many citizens who visited the location in cars yesterday a good idea of the progress being made and the type of work being done.

Blood Donor Team Here For Four Days

The mobile blood donor team from the Maritime Depot of the Red Cross Blood Transfusion Service at Halifax, arrived in Summerside last evening on their second visit to this province in 1954. They will make their headquarters in Summerside for the next two nights while holding clinics in O'Leary this afternoon, Alberton this evening, Wellington Station on Tuesday afternoon and Kensington Tuesday evening.

The objective for these four clinics is to be held in the Prince County area is at least 450 donors in order that a sufficient supply of blood may be available for patients in P. E.I. hospitals during the next few months. An additional amount of blood is also required for the manufacture of gamma globulin used in helping to fight polio, as well as for the armed services and civilian defence.

Since an average of about 200 bottles of blood is used in the hospitals in this province each month and is available free of any charge whatsoever for all who need this type of treatment all who possibly can (those in good health and between the ages of 18 and 65 years) are urged to register at one of the clinics being held during the first four days of this week.

Expect Work On Concrete Road To Begin This Week

The work of pouring the concrete on the stretch of the Trans Canada highway between Cornwall and the Malpeque Road — a distance of 3.4 miles — will get underway the latter part of this week according to Messrs. Morrison and MacRae who have the contract for the work.

There will be two 11-foot lanes making a roadway with a width of 22 feet. There will be 4-inch expansion joints about 20 feet apart. These will be filled in with rubberized asphalt filler. If favorable weather is experienced, the section from Cornwall to the North River causeway will be completed this fall but because of new work on the fill at either side of the river, it seems likely that these sections will have to wait until next year. This includes the portion of the road from Summerside highway to the Charlottetown side of the causeway. Between 15 and 20 men will be employed on the job.

Death Sunday Of Mrs. Charlotte Jewell

With a large family Mrs. Jewell's place was primarily in the home where she was a devoted mother and loving wife. Her hospitality was well known to those who visited with her. In her younger years she was a valued member of the North River Women's Institute.

The surviving sons are John, Gordon, Dan, Fred and William of North River; James at Kingston, Robert at Meadow Bank and Frank, living in Canajoharie, N. Y. Her husband predeceased her eight years ago. A sister, Mrs. Ellen MacArthur, a brother Edmund Vickers, Cornwall; and a sister Mrs. J. Porter of Boston also survive.

Oldest, Youngest

Mr. George D. MacLeod (above) of Norfolk Virginia aged 92 and his grandson George K. MacLeod, 19 recently received the unique recognition of being the oldest and youngest fathers at a gathering at Ocean View Amusement Park in this city. Both were recipients of cash prizes and purchase certificates. The occasion was in connection with the 100th anniversary of that City.

Mr. George K. MacLeod, in a remarkably clean hand writes that he left his home on Prince Edward Island 73 years ago. The old homestead, he states, "was a 100 acre farm situated at the North East end of Clifton bridge in New London."

Recalling some of his childhood days, Mr. MacLeod's father talked Gaelic but none of the rest of the family could understand it. Family Worship, he remembers, was held every morning in the home immediately following breakfast. His father's name was Kenneth MacLeod and his mother's maiden name was Sarah Whitehead.

The fact that Mr. MacLeod is able to recall many other events during his school days and adolescence shows what a remarkable possession of his faculties he still possesses.

Czech Writer Blasts British Labor Missions

LONDON. (Reuters) — A Czech writer declared in a book recently published in Czechoslovakia that the British Labor party's goodwill missions to Iron Curtain countries are acting as spies for British imperialism in the interests of American cold-war strategy.

This view of the missions sent abroad by the British Labor party in the years following the Second World War is advanced by Dr. J. S. Hajek in a book published by the State Publishing House for Political Literature. It comes just as the most publicized of all the Labor delegations, headed by party leader Clement Attlee, rounds out a visit to Moscow and Peking.

Hajek's book, a copy of which has just reached here, is mainly an attack on "right-wing Socialists in Czechoslovakia. It broadens into an attack on "right-wing socialism" in general.

Hajek argues that by the end of the Second World War, Prime Minister Churchill envisaged strengthening the British Empire by extending British influence to the continent.

ADOPTED BY LABOR
Labor, winning the post-war election, adopted Churchill's "imperialistic plans" and embellished them with the hat of "socialism."

The British Labor party, says a Czech author, wanted to use the strong Social Democratic parties in Poland, Hungary, Romania and Czechoslovakia as propaganda vehicles for the Labor type of "democratic socialism" and as "bearers of the British imperialistic influence in the economic, political and cultural life of their countries."

The British Labor party, therefore took the initiative toward renewal of relations with the various Socialist parties in Europe.

Hajek adds: "The positions thus acquired in the democracies were put at the disposal of the parties of cold war strategy when in 1946 Labor accepted the view that British imperialism could only be kept alive by further dollar loans, and when the Labor party, on receiving these dollars, found it necessary to show more zeal in serving the American monopolies and their crusade against peace."

Island Odds and Ends

A stream of cars headed out of town a few nights ago, prompted a resident of Charlottetown's suburban Brighton to ask a neighbor: "Where are all the cars going?" The reply: "They are going to the show at the new drive-in theatre." It reveals how quickly new traffic customs are established now that so many people travel on wheels. Thus a well used but not crowded highway becomes for a brief period each night, as populated with cars as our City streets. Motorists of course appreciate the fact that the North River Road leading to the theatre is now paved beyond Dousse's Bridge and is at present a better route to follow, than by way of the Malpeque Road. Plenty of folks too, are driving out North River way to have a look at the progress of the new causeway, which is beginning to jut into the water reaching for a landfill on the farther side. Soon there will be a new lake above the causeway asking for a name.

The Department of Immigration at Halifax had some Italian farm laborers to offer Island farmers last week but Provincial farmers were not much interested. A small number of Italian farm workers were brought to the island about three years ago, but did not seem to like our climate, nor to fit into our methods of farming. They came from the southern part of the Italian peninsula, the section of the country which has earned Italy the designation "Sunny Italy." There is quite a contrast between the Mediterranean weather and the robust weather in this Province, although our war veterans tell us that campaigning in Northern and mountainous Italy, was rugged.

Not so many years ago Islanders looking for better employment fields, held themselves to the New England States, until it was jokingly said that if a foghorn was blown in Boston calling all the Islanders home, that the streets would be deserted. It is confirmation of Canada's growth and progress that Toronto or Hamilton or some other Ontario town is now the Mecca of restless Islanders. Ontario seems to have room and to spare for them all, although they must take many a job from Ontario residents. It is a big Province however, and Canada is a giant of a country, and its sons and daughters have plenty of choice and variety as to where they wish to make their homes. Best of all it is a free country, and there is no Iron Curtain between Provinces.

The traditional sports rivalry between Summerside and Charlottetown is as much alive as ever. The rival towns are now locked in a struggle over two baseball championships for the Intermediate and the Junior titles. The contenders in each class are running neck and neck, and the fans in both towns are enjoying the games to the hilt. The quality of baseball being played has improved hereabouts, during the past couple of years thanks to the assistance of imported American coaches. If you want to learn anything it is wise to go to the fountain-head for instruction.

Well fellows perhaps the Huns and the ducks will be more plentiful than the trout were. And there is always the unfalling smelts.

Newsman Reports

growth of wild rice and underbrush all over the former front and in most parts of the immediate rear. The Canadians have allowed two small Korean villages to resettle in their old sites and have lent by the year's growth. The peasants started. They are impressed at how speedily the paddies have been reclaimed.

Whole families go out to repair the dikes, hack away the undergrowth, plow the soil and get in some sort of crop to make the most of the remaining "soil" of the first year's growth. The brigade also is raising funds, and has asked families back home to send clothing for the people before winter sets in.

Landmarks such as Little Gibraltar and The Hook stand out geographically but their military features have all but been obliterated by the year's growth. Only the Korean ancestral burial mounds stand out. Although untended, some mysterious chemical leaves their grass uncontaminated by weed, their outlines clear.

The brigade included a good proportion of new soldiers, men with less than six months in the army. Of a regular given lifts in this reporter's jeep one afternoon, eight had been in the army less than half a year. But the NCOs and officers are men of longer background and leadership is high.

PRONEY DRILLS
Peace - time soldiering has brought in a lot of proney drills - the accentuated "sawtooth" type routine which calls for unnaturally high leg movements and unhealthy stamping when they are pounded back to ground in the "at ease" and "shun" positions. The doctors complain unavailingly. It's a result of having Canadian drill instructors trained by the British army.

Leaves are well organized and besides Tokyo, Kobe, Osaka and Kyoto, Canadian soldiers now may go to Hakata in Kyushu, where they have access to a United States army leave centre. But like three rotations of their predecessors, Canadians still are leaving Korea without knowing anything of the country beyond their forward areas and the coolies they meet there. No effort has been made to introduce them to

Sudden Death Of Mr. Clifford Keenan Saturday

The late Mr. Keenan

The death occurred suddenly on Saturday at the Prince Edward Island Hospital of Clifford Daniel Keenan in his 57th year. The late Mr. Keenan was the immediate Past Grand Master of the I.O.O.F. for the four Atlantic Provinces. His term of office had expired only a few weeks previous to his death. Born in Saint Mary's Road, Prince Edward Island, he was the son of the late Daniel Keenan and the former Christine Wallace of Indian Head, Nova Scotia.

The late Mr. Keenan was a veteran of World War I during which he served with the 105th Battalion and the 14th Royal Montreal Regiment. He was severely wounded in France in 1917. Upon his return from overseas he lived in the United States for some time before returning to Charlottetown. During the past year he has resided at Pownal.

It was in 1929 that Mr. Keenan became associated with the Oddfellows Lodge when he became a member at Concord, Mass. Taking up residence at Charlottetown, he affiliated himself with Wilsey Lodge and by sincere devotion to the work of this organization became Master of the Lodge. In recognition of his splendid services to the I.O.O.F. at large he was later elected to the position which he held prior to his passing. His work in connection with his high office took him to many centres of the Maritimes where he made a host of friends. He was also a member of the Orange Order and the Sons of England.

Surviving him are his wife, the former Helen (Minnie) Duff of Scotland, a son Daniel of Montreal and two grandchildren, Lynda and Elton Keenan. A sister, Mrs. Addie MacCannel, Murray River and two brothers, T. A. Keenan, Deep Brook, N. S. and Millburn Keenan of Lechmere, P.Q. also survive.

The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon from the MacLean Funeral Home at 2:00 o'clock. Interment will take place in Little Sands cemetery where the I.O.O.F. and Canadian Legion services will be held.

City Girl Returns Home After Attending Jr. Red Cross Study Centre In Sweden

Miss Suzanne Francis (right) daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Francis, 12 1/2 Spring Street, Charlottetown, returned home from Europe on Friday night after attending a Junior Red Cross International Study Centre in Sweden. During the past seven weeks Miss Francis visited seven European countries, crossed the Atlantic twice and spent ten days at a Red Cross Study Centre in Sweden discussing and studying ways to promote international friendship and understanding.

There was an interchanging of ideas among the various delegates from 12 different countries at the camp and there was an intermingling of the delegates with the people which may have gone a long way towards achieving the goal for which the camp was held.

Miss Francis reported that the Europeans were very much taken up with the Canadian and American delegates in particular. "The people were tremendously friendly everywhere we went. They just couldn't do enough for us," she stated.

It was in such friendly surroundings that the delegates held their conferences, went on tours, travelled through foreign countries and as Suzanne says, "had the trip of their lives."

Suzanne last year was a Grade XI student at St. Joseph's Convent and this year plans to take Grade XII at Notre Dame Academy. She was the only girl selected from the Maritimes and Newfoundland to attend the Study Centre.

There were six delegates from Canada and in all there were 102 delegates from 12 different countries. Countries represented included Belgium, Denmark, Finland, France, Germany, Great Britain, Ireland, The Netherlands, Norway, Sweden and Canada. English was the official language used at the school and all delegates spoke it fluently.

The Canadian delegates sailed from Quebec on the S.S. Atlantic on July 16. They landed in Southampton, England, and after a few days in England were flown from London to Copenhagen.

They continued on to the camp in Sweden and afterwards spent 10 days touring many of the outstanding centres of Europe. Countries which Suzanne and the delegates visited included England, Norway, Sweden, Switzerland, Denmark, France and Germany.

In Geneva, Switzerland they visited the Palais Des Nations where the Geneva Conference was held and they even sat at the same desks weather summary, market trends, "How to do it" feature on farming practices, the latest news of interest to farmers, and tips on gardening by a garden expert. This program will be telecast Sunday at 1 p.m. EST. It will be conducted by Norm Garriock, well-known to CBC radio listeners as a farm commentator for Ontario and Quebec. Among the gardening experts to appear in the new series will be Earl Cox, whose program have been a feature of CBC radio and television for several years. It is planned to extend the farm and garden show to other regions later in the season with Winnipeg and Vancouver producing their own editions for their respective regions. In the meantime, regional contributions on film will be made to the Toronto telecast.

The present plans for Farm and Fisheries telecasts by the CBC have evolved from a long period of research and farm experiments, as well as consultation with agriculture groups throughout North America and abroad.

and used the phones that had been used by Mendez-France, Anthony Eden, Chou-En-Lai and Company. They visited the International Committee of the Red Cross, the Lake of the Red Cross Society and a sanatorium for children high in the Alps.

Some of the highlights in Paris included visits to the Eiffel Tower, Notre Dame Cathedral and a night at an Opera House.

On their way from Switzerland to Paris the delegates passed within 30 miles of the Iron Curtain in Germany. They had only a brief stop-over in Germany.

In England they saw No. 10 Downing Street, the office of the Prime Minister. They also saw Buckingham Palace, visited St. James Palace, Clarence House, Westminster Abbey and saw the play-house of Prince Charles and Princess Anne.

In Norway they were taken on a ski-trip high up to a theatre on a mountain-side and in Oslo, Sweden they were taken through some of that country's finest buildings.

These were only a few of the highlights related by Suzanne yesterday in a brief account of the trip.

In addition to the friendliness of the delegates and the European people Suzanne was also impressed by the way in which Europeans have taken to Canadian and American popular music.

In every country the delegates visited they found that well-known songs here were also fairly well known by the Europeans.

Maritimer Co-ordinates Farm Telecasts

Charles Jennings, Director of Programs for the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, today announced the appointment of Murray Creed, CBC's Maritimes Farm and Fisheries commentator, to the newly-created position of Production Supervisor for Farm and Fisheries programs. Mr. Creed will move to Toronto and will be responsible for the planning and co-ordinating of CBC Farm and Fisheries series productions across Canada, particularly in the field of television.

Born in Moncton, N.B., Mr. Creed spent his early years in the farming community of Bridgetown, P.E.I., after which his family moved to Highfield, P.E.I., where his father is still active in horticulture.

After two years at Nova Scotia Agricultural College in Truro, he attended MacDonald College at St. Anne de Bellevue, Que., where he obtained his B.Sc. in Agriculture in 1949. He joined the CBC Farm and Fisheries department in Halifax the same year and two years later was appointed Regional Commentator.

The first of many programs planned by the CBC Farm and Fisheries department will be seen by viewers in Ontario and Quebec late in September. It will take the form of a half-hour farm and garden show and will include a
