Funeral Held Of Mrs. Boudreault

The funeral of the late Mrs. John Boudreault, Newport, was held from St. George's Roman Catholic Church Wednesday morning, March 26th. Requiem High Mass was celebrated by the pastor, Rev. Bennett MacDonald, who also conducted the services at the grave.

Other speakers included M. J. McQuaid president of the Progressive Conservative Association for P. E. I., John R. MacLean, Walter Shaw, leader of the Progressive Conservative Party for P. E. I.; and Leo Rossiter, M. L. A.

Preliminary

(Continued from page 3) she was not aware of the loss until the investigation began and she had checked the number of cases received with the outstanding order.

When asked if she knew the delivery man named Peters, Mrs. Green said that he was in her office to pick up and deliver mail two or three times a day. The invoices however, were put on a nail in the kitchen and didn't reach her office for nearly three days after delivery of the goods.

When asked by Mr. Bell if any goods had been reported missing by O'Brien, Mrs. Green said that he had reported a shortage of meat and that she had in turn passed the information along to Dr. Deacon, the hospital's business manager. As far as she knew the meat shortage had been remunerated.

Sudden Death Yesterday Of Montague Man

The sudden death occurred about noon on Friday, March 28th, of Mr. John Yorston in his 58th year. The late Mr. Yorston was an employee of Poole and Thompson Ltd., Montague and was a work at the time of his death. He was a well known and respected citizen of the community.

He was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Yorston of Georgetown.

He leaves to mourn his wife, the former Bertha MacLellan, Montague, and one son John, presently employed by Canada Packers Ltd., Charlottetown. Also surviving him are three brothers, Roy, Melville and Sterling all of Georgetown; and four sisters, Florence, Mrs. James Timmings of Haverhill, Mass.; Myrtle, Mrs. James Bridges of Georgetown; Masie of Calgary, Alta.; and Velma, Mrs. Dan Rankin, also of Calgary Alta. A brother, Gordon Wallace, predeceased him only two weeks ago.

The remains will be resting at the Montague Furnishing Funeral Home until Sunday, March

Change Of

This change often marks the decline of the male's natural aggressiveness and the beginning of a more submissive attitude. But the switch is not abrupt and the great physical and mental change may temporarily result in a depressed, querulous and unreasonable individual.

During the climacteric, a man may have great difficulty getting along with people, even his family. He may not be able to work as well, or be able to get things done as he used to.

He often will lack endurance and have difficulty with his associates.

Perhaps he may lose his business judgment and possibly much of his ability to remember things. If he has loss of sexual potency it may worry him, of course.

He may even become a hypochondriac and complain of frequent headaches, chronic nausea, indigestion, constipation, vertigo and countless other ailments.

Most likely some will build up a great degree of anxiety and tension and develop unfounded fears
