Obituary.

It is with feelings of regret that we have heard and have been called upon to chronicle the death of Mr. Charles Kiekham, of Souris West, who departed this life on Tuesday, Nov. 2nd, after a short but tedious illness of a few months. Deceased was a man of sterling integrity, amiable in his disposition, and possessed of a genial good nature, which particularly adapted itself to the affections of all his acquaintances. He was a hard-working, industrious and successful farmer, and the immense concourse of people that followed his remains to the cemetery at Rollo Bay goes to prove the esteem in which he was held by the public at large. He leaves a sorrowing widow, numerous relations and a host of friends and acquaintances to mourn the loss of a kind husband and friend who was ever ready in the hour of trial or tribulation to assist either by good advice or otherwise in allaying the affliction, and his death goes to exemplify the words of the poet,—
"Tis the wink of an eye, 'tis the draught of a breath
From the bosom of health to the paleness of death."

UNDER FAVORABLE CIRCUMSTANCES.—Two weeks ago, Henry Evans, a ferryman, living in Halifax, and two of his children, ate some rabbits, and soon after became seriously ill. On Tuesday taken to Victoria Hospital in a deplorable condition, and on Friday he died. There are rumors of poisoning, the result of home troubles, and an inquest is to be held.

Mr. Smith raised this year 600 bushels of potatoes and 400 bushels of roots, the work of caring for the plants having been mostly performed by himself, though he is 65 years of age."

POETRY.—The market was a little more active on Friday following our last weekly report but since then trade has been dragging and receivers have had to work hard to keep consignments moving. Strictly choice northern and eastern chickens and fowls have been selling fairly and at steady prices. Western fowls have been in liberal supply at about 11c. Receipts of turkeys have been increasing and at the close 13 to 14c is a full quotation for good lots. A few choice dry picked, drawn and headed, have been sold at about 18c.

INFORMATION WANTED.—Mr. W. W. Clarke, of this city, would like to hear from the parents or other relatives of Peter McRae, who ran away from his home at Malpeque in 1868. The father's name was Packer McRae. According to a letter received by Mr. Clarke from Mr. E. E. Robins, formerly of Charlottetown, Peter McRae is now in the Sandwich Islands, where he is the overseer of a sugar plantation, and would like to communicate with his parents.

Germany's Fighting Power.

IN TIMES OF WAR A TRAINED ARMY OF 4,400,000 MEN.

Thanks to the enterprise of the Berlin Coelnische Zeitung, the German people have obtained a clear idea of the military bill, its conditions and requirements. The preamble of the bill explains the principal features of the bill. The peace force including corporals and privates, but excluding commissioned officers and non-commissioned officers above the rank of corporal, will consist of 492,068 men, between October 1, 1893, and March 31, 1899.

The strength of the various branches of the service during the period in question will be as follows: 711 battalions of infantry, 477 squadrons of cavalry, 494 batteries of field artillery, 37 battalions of foot artillery, 24 battalions of the transport.

The increase is revealed by comparison of the above figures with those of the law of 1890: 538 battalions of infantry, 465 squadrons of cavalry, 434 batteries of field artillery, 31 battalions of foot artillery, 23 battalions of pioneer and 21 battalions of the transport.

The average strength of the standing army is calculated in accordance with the principle of two years' active service with the colors for the infantry. The increase involves the expenditure of 66,800,000 marks in a lump sum. Of this amount 61,000,000 marks will appear in the budget for the financial year 1893-94. The annually recurring expenditure will be 64,000,000 marks.

When the new system shall have been fully developed Germany will have in times of war a trained army of 4,400,000 men.

France, which has already reached the extreme limit of her resources, so far as numbers are concerned, and remains only a little behind Russia in the strength of her army on a war footing, will then have at her disposal 4,125,000 trained soldiers. Thus Germany will have a surplus of 275,000 trained soldiers to counterbalance partially the numerical weakness of her allies, Austria-Hungary and Italy.

Many military men say that the simplest means to the same end would be to create a new organization on an adequate scale, at the same time retaining the three years' term of service. The expense necessitated by the execution of such a plan, however, would be out of all proportion to the empire's ability to sustain it, and a person has only to contemplate the storm of opposition raised by the present bill to realize that the more radical reform in question would be without the slightest chance of passing the Reichstag.

In fact, the only resort of the government was its present plan of retaining the old military framework while training within its limits a much larger number of highly trained men. The purpose is attainable only by shortening the period of service. This involves no break with the past, as the three years term is retained in theory. Men sufficiently trained at the end of their second year may be held to the colors for the full three years.

The rigidity of the training will be increased so that on the whole the government believes that it will have a more carefully disciplined army under the provisions of the bill than it has had before.

Therefore, while the number of men with the colors will be increased, and their efficiency will be at least up to the traditional standard of excellence, an establishment will be created which will relieve the people of many of their former burdens. Not only in cases of insufficient training, however, will infantrymen be prevented from joining the disposition of the emperor at the end of the second year, but in private gentry of grave misdeeds and misdemeanors will be kept in active service for the full three years.

The German people have not been slow to grasp the fact that the new bill requires 84,000 additional recruits annually, or altogether the annual enrollment of some 245,000 men under the colors, including some 11,000 commissioned and non-commissioned officers.

Evidently the government was not prepared for the stunning effect which its proposals have had upon the people. On every side is heard the protest that the bill provides for a military bill, and the country cannot bear proposed additions to the military budget.

The department of justice has issued a circular to all the judges and other functionaries administering criminal law in the Dominion, enclosing a copy of a bill respecting witnesses and evidence which was reported from the joint committee of both houses last session. The circular says the minister will be glad to receive any suggestions with regard to the measure that may be forwarded to him. The new features in the bill are principally these: It provides that accused persons in criminal cases may testify on their own behalf, and it further allows anyone to give evidence irrespective altogether of his or her religious belief. In the criminal code, as reported from the joint committee last session there was a clause abolishing the necessity for unanimity on the part of jurors in criminal trials, and providing that nine out of 12 jurors might bring in a verdict after four hours' deliberation. The minister is asking for an expression of opinion on this point also.

HAMILTON, April 20, 1892

I was doctoring for years with physicians for a scaly and scabby affliction of the scalp. They told me it was eczema, but gave me no permanent relief. I was also troubled with excessive dandruff, which would drop from my head like snowflakes. Hearing of Anti-Dandruff, I used it, and from the third application I felt more relieved than for years; when I had the bottle was used the eczema and scaly eruptions disappeared and have not returned since; dandruff was thoroughly removed, the itching of the scalp stopped, and for an elegant, clean and useful hair-dressing Anti-Dandruff has no equal.

MR. EMERY O. PENDLETON OF BELLEVILLE, ME., NOW 45 YEARS OF AGE, WAS A MEMBER OF CO. I, 15TH REG., ME. VOL. INF. SERVED WITH DISTINCTION DURING THE WAR, RECEIVED AN HONORABLE DISCHARGE AND IS NOW A RESPECTED MEMBER OF THE U. S. ARMY. SIX MONTHS SINCE WHILE AWAY FROM HOME AT WORK, HIS HEALTH BEGAN TO FAIL RAPIDLY, AND HE WAS SOON OBLIGED TO LEAVE OFF WORK ENTIRELY. HE SAYS:

"Complained with all my old army troubles. I lost my appetite, had a distressing and burning sensation in my stomach, excessive nervousness, so bad that the least excitement would cause large drops of sweat to stand on my body for an hour at a time. Anything at a sudden, would cause me to start and jump. Could not sleep, and my head ached so much that I was obliged to give up work, and became almost blind. I was obliged to try SKODA'S DISCOVERY. It had a wonderful effect upon me. I began to feel better after using it only a short time. I have now taken four bottles. My Rheumatism has disappeared. My Appetite has returned. I have gained much in flesh and strength. Nervousness has gone. Am able to sleep well nights. And am now working as Blacksmith. I feel that I am entirely cured from all these troubles."

Yours truly,
