The Handyman's NOTEBOOK

HELLO FOLKS! How do you go about making a long-range plan for extra living space in your basement? No matter how enthralled you might become with ideas from books or magazines, you should plan your basement to suit yourself and your family. That sounds obvious, perhaps, but you'd be surprised how many people go ahead and build a recreation room, for example, without stopping to think that some other sort of room would be more useful to them.

You should start by jotting down a list of the activities that you and your family would most want to carry on in your finished basement. Don't include a recreation room, for instance, if a pool of your family shows that you entertain seldom and could use the space to greater benefit by building a dark room for junior, a sewing room for mother or sister, and perhaps a separate little room where you could tie fishing flies and store your hunting and fishing gear.

Whatever you decide, make sure your decisions are based on your own family's needs and habits—and not on those of some theoretical family pictured in some magazine. Your next step is to incorporate these ideas into a master floor plan of your basement—a plan which I described in my last column.

It's fun to plan for the years ahead and careful planning is good insurance against finding you've wasted work and materials on any sort of room that is seldom, if ever, used. Our pamphlet rack is full of plans and ideas covering many projects such as Music and T.V. Center, Odds and Ends Cabinet, Children's Toys, Bunk Beds, Storage Walls, Boats, Workbenches, Home Freezers and many other interesting projects. Why not drop in and pick up some soon, they're all free and yours for the asking.

REV. GEORGE BIRCH BRUCE ROBERTS REV. TOMMY TYSON

N.S. And N.B. Laymen Join Island Weekend Meeting

"Your work is sacred as long as you are doing the will of God," said Rev. George Birch, general chairman of the Evangelical Committee of the United Church speaking on the general theme, "Made in His Image" at the second annual conference of Men of the United Church held at Stanhope Beach Inn over the weekend.

Over 100 laymen of the church attended the conference which was also addressed by Rev. Tommy Tyson, evangelist from the North Carolina Conference of the Methodist Church, Ralph Young, General Secretary of the Board of Men, Toronto and Rev. John Stewart, Principal of the Atlantic Christian Training Centre, Tatamagouche, N.S.

The Conference Chairman was Mr. Bruce Roberts of Kensington.

PRESBYTERY COUNCIL

At the annual meeting of the Men's Council of the P.E.I. Presbytery the election of officers resulted as follows: President, Bruce Roberts, vice-president, Keith Lapp, Summerside; Treasurer, Verduin Paynter, Kensington; Secretary, Everett Donald, Kensington; zone chairman, west Prince, Russell Bonnyman, Alberton; East Prince, Charles Linkletter, Summerside; Queens, Lester Keizer, Charlottetown, Kings, Jack Annear, Montague; Chairman of the planning committee, Allison MacKinnon, Charlottetown.

NATURAL CREATOR

In his first of three addresses, Rev. Mr. Birch took as his subject "The created becomes creator." He said man is a natural creator and takes pride in a job well done. "Simply being creative is not always a good thing except when it is done in co-operation with God. He looks to us to work with Him to bring his work to completion. When you have a real need in the world and have a burning desire to do something about it, then you have found your vocation," said Mr. Birch.

Speaking on the subject, "The Redeemed becomes Redeemer," Mr. Birch said the nearer one is to Christ, the more aware he is of his imperfections.

"We must be prepared to accept responsibility over the boundary line of mere respectability," he said. "We must not think of cases needing attention. Rather we should think of them as human beings needing our love and understanding."

A CERTAIN TASK

Mr. Birch told the laymen they could touch lives that a minister from a professional angle was not able to do. "The Spirit of God becomes flesh and blood when he speaks through you," he added.

"The unit builds the Community," was the subject of Mr. Birch's second address. "I am not interested in how our Lord appeared until His disciples after his resurrection," said Mr. Birch, "what I am interested in, is what happened to these men afterwards."

SMALLER WORLD

With modern means of communication, Mr. Birch said we are earth aware of one another more than ever before. "The world is at our front doorstep and this is all a part of God's plan to keep us together."

He told his listeners that men are depending too much on organizations to do that which is not in God's plan to work out.

"There is no such thing as a Canadian Christian or an American Christian," said Mr. Birch. "There is only one kind of Christian and that is a world Christian."

Rev. Tommy Tyson gave a stirring evangelistic message, stating that the Kingdom of God is in the heart of man and when man is willing to give himself to God, then his Heavenly Father is ready to establish His Kingdom in that person.

MUSIC SPECIALS

A feature attraction of the conference were, a solo by Mr. Raoul Raymond, proprietor of Stanhope Beach Inn, Mr. Stan Pierce of Moncton and the singing of the waitresses with Miss Maids Rogerson as soloist. Dr. Peter MacDonald of Crapaud was pianist and song leader.

The conference began on Friday evening and concluded with Holy Communion dispensed by Rev. George Birch at 11 a.m. Sunday.

Court Rules Hall Taxable

In a Judgment recently handed down by His Honour J. Sylvere DesRoches, Judge of the County Court of King's County, it was ruled that a hall under private management does not come within the exception to the school Act which provides exemption from taxation to "the real property of churches and parishes, public halls, orphanages, cemeteries and parochial residences and churches."

The judgment was handed down as the result of an action commenced by the trustees of St. Peter's Bay School District for school taxes assessed against the present owner of what was formerly the Canadian Legion Hall in St. Peter's Bay. His Honour ruled that the hall in question was not such a hall as was intended to be exempted by the Legislature when it provided the exemption presently contained in the Act.

The evidence disclosed that the deed of the property was in the names of the defendants in their personal capacities, that they have absolute control and management of the hall and that the profits, if any, belonged to them. The property was assessed in their names for taxation purposes. They therefore, the Court ruled, could not claim the exemption and were ordered to pay the taxes and the costs of suit.

Evidence in the case was heard at a special session of the Court at Charlottetown some time ago and the judgment was delivered at the regular September session of the Court at Souris. Melvin McQuaid appeared for the plaintiff school district and M. Alban Farmer, Q.C. for the defendant owners.

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT NEARPOINT

Q. Why do some people need "bifocals"? A. Because they have reached the age when the eye is no longer able to focus on near objects. Young people, even though they may wear glasses, have bi (two) vision—they can see at a distance and close up. The shortest distance between the eye and an object that can be clearly seen is called the near-point. As we grow older the near-point gets farther and farther away from the eye. Bifocal glasses simply give the older bi (two) vision again. The lower part of his bifocals shortens the near-point for reading—the upper part is used for far vision. It's not as good as nature's "bi-vision" but it's better than trying to read by holding the paper at arms length.

Material in MEDICAL MIRROR is based on various scientific publications and does not necessarily reflect the opinion of all doctors. The diagnosis and treatment of disease requires the skill and knowledge which only a physician can apply by personally attending the patient.
