

The Daily Examiner

DECEMBER 23, 1885.

Editorial Notes

It is reported that Professor Foster is meeting with great success in the campaign in King's, N. R.—each meeting adding to the list of his supporters.

The Patriot explains that the Hon. David Laird knew nothing about its mean little article in which the purchase of stock recently made by the Hon. Donald Ferguson was referred to. "Never saw the paragraph till it was in print." So it appears that Mr. Laird is the "irresponsible editor."

The New York Sun asks if the vast merchant navy of Great Britain is any better off for being so much larger than that of the United States, and if in "the general depression of the carrying trade" it is not "fortunate for the United States that we have so few ships afloat on the ocean, and so few dollars invested in them."

The decision of the Privy Council in the liquor license case is given in the following words:

Their lordships do this day agree humbly to report to Your Majesty as their opinion in reply to the two questions which have been referred to them by Your Majesty that the Liquor License Act of 1881 and the act of 1884 amending the same, are not within the legislative authority of the Parliament of Canada.

Colonel Amyot, M. P., one of the disaffected, has challenged Sir Adolphe Caron to a discussion of the following questions:

- 1st. Why the half-breed captives should not be set at liberty?
2nd. Why the Speaker of one of the Houses at Ottawa is not a French-Canadian?
3rd. Why a commercial treaty with France has been refused?
4th. Why this Province has been kept out of the millions due it?
5th. Why Sir John insists on depriving the Provinces of the licensing power?
6th. Why all legislation at Ottawa aims at the destruction of the Provincial autonomy?
7th. Why Caron's organ until lately contributed to shape public opinion against the execution of the late Governor?
8th. Why Sir John's chief organ is allowed without protest from the French-Canadian Ministers to heap insults on French-Canadians?
9th. Why Sir Hector Langevin systematically yields when Quebec's rights are at stake?
10th. Why this Province plays such a subordinate role in Confederation?

The Orange Versus the Green.

The Grand Orange Lodge of Ireland held a meeting in Dublin, on the 21st inst., to devise means for opposing the scheme of Home Rule for Ireland. A large number of peers and several loyalist members of commons were present. A manifesto, addressed to the Orangemen of Great Britain, was drafted. The manifesto is substantially as follows: The aspect of affairs in Ireland was never more menacing than at present. Protestantism in three of four provinces is at the mercy of avowed conspirators endeavoring to overthrow the rule of the Imperial Government.

The manifesto is signed by Lords Erin and Enniskillen.

An Annapolis despatch to the Halifax Herald of the 22nd inst., says: "On Saturday afternoon, while the ferry steamer Joe Edwards was coming into the slip, a boy named Ramson accidentally fell overboard, and before his cries were heard he was a considerable distance from the boat. Bernard Dolan, employee on the boat, threw a life preserver to him, but he did not catch it. Seeing the boy sinking, Dolan plunged into the water and rescued him with great difficulty. When brought on shore the boy was full of water and unable to speak. This is Mr. Dolan's second act of bravery on the Annapolis river. About five years ago he rescued a man's life at the risk of his own. Such acts of bravery should not go unrewarded. Dolan is an Englishman, and is a general favorite with all who have occasion to cross the ferry."

Queen Victoria has requested that the jubilee of her reign shall not be celebrated until the completion of fifty years from her accession, on the date of June 20th, 1887.

THE SUBWAY.

LARGE AND INFLUENTIAL MEETING AT SUMMERSIDE—SENATOR HOWLAN'S SCHEME UNANIMOUSLY ENDORSED.

MARKET HALL, Summerside, was last evening crowded with an appreciative audience, which assembled to hear Hon. Senator Howlan explain his Subway Scheme. W. G. Strong, Esq., occupied the chair; and on the platform were Hon. John Lefurgey, Hon. Wm. Campbell, Jas. Richards, Esq., M. P., David Rogers, Richard Hunt, Neil McKelvie, David Montgomery, Thos. Pope, Esq., and Rev. Mr. McNab.

In front of the platform was a large well-executed oil painting of a subway, while on the Chairman's table was a model of a subway and the workshop from which it is to be built, with the machinery, etc.

At half past seven o'clock the Senator commenced his address. He first referred to the terms of union by which we were to receive continuous communication winter and summer with the Mainland, and drew attention to the attempts made by both Governments to carry out these terms and their failure to do so to the satisfaction of the people.

Senator Howlan then referred to the different subways which have been constructed in other parts, and which have been successful. But, he asked, suppose one was never built before, is that any reason one should not be attempted now? He referred to the great strides science has made within the last half century, in railroad, telegraphs, telephones, &c., and gave various instances of the ridiculous objections raised to them when they were first spoken of by their respective inventors.

Before he submitted the Subway scheme to the people or the Government he had it examined by nine of the first Engineers in America. They all testified to its feasibility in strong terms, "and," said the Senator, "if I err in bringing it forward I err in good company."

Dr. Jenkins vs Owen MacCary. This case, adjudged on Monday last, was called at the Stipendiary Magistrate's Court this forenoon. Dr. Jenkins said it would simplify the case very much if MacCary would put his charges against the management of the hospital in writing, and in the interests of the public, and in justice to all concerned, he thought this should be done.

The Charm of Christmastide. (From the New York Sun.) "It is marvellous, this charm of Christmas time, dear," remarked a lady to her husband. "Age does not wither or custom stultify its infinite joyousness. It is earth's winter time, but the glorious summer of the soul. While the yule log burns, the ice of selfishness, hatred and malice disappears, and charity, warm and glowing, fills the heart. We must warm ourselves in its radiant heat, for the ashes whiten soon enough."

Messrs. Curtis, Davis & Co., makers of the "Welcome Soap," have issued a panel picture showing two beautiful young ladies, and appropriate surrounding scenery. Beautiful in this case means a beautiful physical development—striking in contrast with the dingy and vulgar style adopted by some of our manufacturers. In this Welcome Soap picture is represented honesty, purity, intelligence, refinement, and those characteristics which are pronounced by the pure and virtuous as beautiful.

Hon. John Lefurgey had much pleasure in seconding the resolution. The Senator, he said, deserved the thanks of the audience for the magnificent exposition of his scheme. We are all well aware that there is a great deal of complaint because the Federal Government have not carried the Terms of Union with regard to winter communication satisfactorily.

Rev. J. HUTCHISON will (D. V.) officiate at Lot 48 on Sabbath first the 27th inst., at 10 a. m. (half an hour earlier on account of the short days); and at Birch Hill, at 2 p. m., also half an hour earlier than usual for the same reason. Mr. Hutchison will give a Christmas sermon.

Miss Jennie Flood, of California, is worth twelve million dollars in her own right. She is supposed to be the person whom Shakespeare had in mind when he said: "There is a tide in the affairs of men, which, if taken at this flood, leads to fortune."

THE PUBLIC HEALTH.

PATIENTS IN THE CITY.

To Dr. Johnson, Health Officer: Sir,—Since my report of yesterday there has been one new case—a mild one—a child of James McDonald, Alley Street, a quarantined house.

The other patients are all doing well. JAS. WARBURTON.

PATIENTS AT THE HOSPITAL.

Dr. Jenkins states that all patients at the hospital are doing well.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS.

Mrs. DeBlois, jar of lime juice; Miss Day, parcel underclothing, 4 crocks preserve, 2 packages cocoa; Mrs. Alex. Robertson, Marshfield, jar of milk, basket cakes and bread; St. James' Ladies' Society, 18 garments (underclothing) 2nd installment; McLeod & Stewart, 4 gallons kerosene oil.

PRECAUTIONS AT CORNWALL.

The Board of Health at Cornwall have passed the following regulations:—

- 1. That the residence of Mrs. Thomas Walsh, Cornwall, be submitted to strict quarantine until declared free from infection by the Medical Officer.
2. That all who have been in intercourse with Mrs. Walsh's family be quarantined for 16 days, at their own expense.
3. All churches and schools in Cornwall, North River, Clyde River, and South and East Wiltshire shall be closed, and no public gatherings shall be held until further notice from the Board of Health.

BOARD OF HEALTH FOR LOTS 49 AND 50.

The following are the minutes of a second meeting of the Board of Health for Lots 49 and 50, was held at Vernon River Bridge, Dec. 19, 1885. Members of the Board present, D. E. Clarke, chairman; Malcolm Campbell, Patrick Dunphy, Albert Boswell and George Forbes. The following resolutions were passed:—

- Resolved, That in the event of any case of smallpox breaking out in these townships, or any sufficient grounds that any person in said township had communicated with those affected with smallpox, that each and every member of this Board have power to flag and quarantine the residence of said person or persons and said residence to be held on quarantine till such time as the Health Officer shall pronounce the residence free from infection.
Resolved, That the minutes of this meeting be published in the EXAMINER and Patriot newspapers.

GEORGE FORBES, Secretary.

DR. JENKINS VS OWEN MACCAREY.

This case, adjudged on Monday last, was called at the Stipendiary Magistrate's Court this forenoon. Dr. Jenkins said it would simplify the case very much if MacCary would put his charges against the management of the hospital in writing, and in the interests of the public, and in justice to all concerned, he thought this should be done.

McCary was walking out of court without saying anything when Dr. Jenkins asked him again if he would put his charges in writing. McCary—"I'll see my lawyer about it." Court adjourned.

NOTES.

Michael Bourke, who was in the Quarantine Hospital with smallpox, sometime ago, returned to his home in Georgetown on Monday.

The Charm of Christmastide.

"It is marvellous, this charm of Christmas time, dear," remarked a lady to her husband. "Age does not wither or custom stultify its infinite joyousness.
