

Name Starting Lineups For World Series Opener

By Jack Hand
NEW YORK, (AP)—Carl Furillo, injured Brooklyn outfielder, was pronounced ready to go after a full scale batting drill Monday and Carl Erskine of the Dodgers and Alie Reynolds of New York Yankees were named to pitch Wednesday's world series opener.

Furillo, still wearing a heavy bandage to protect the broken little finger he got in his scuffle with Leo Durocher, Sept. 6, hit the ball hard while Erv Palica and Joe Black dished up a variety of pitches. Carl's bat had a sponge rubber padding where his left hand gripped it.

"He's swinging just the same as ever," said manager Chuck Dressen after watching the National League batting champ hit the auxiliary scoreboard in left field on the first bounce.

Furillo wasn't the only ball player on the doubtful list. The Yanks' Gene Woodling, regular left fielder, also used a padded bat to cushion the shock to his swollen left hand. Woodling hurt the hand running into the left field railing about two weeks ago.

"I don't know how his hand will feel tomorrow," said manager Casey Stengel. "But I expect him to play."

Pitch managers named tentative starting lineups as follows:

Brooklyn
New York
Graham 2B McDougald 3B
Besse SS Collins 1B
Snider CF Bauer RF
Robinson LF Berra C
Campanella C Mantle LF
Heddes 1B Woodling LF
Furillo RF Rizzuto 2B
Cox 3B Reynolds SS
Erskine P

Dressen said he would leave Gil Hodges on first base even if Furillo should be forced out. Originally he had talked of playing Hodges in right in an emergency and Wayne Belardi on first. If Furillo goes out, either Don Thompson, a left hander hitter, or Dick Williams, a righthander batter, will take over the right field job.

Montreal Wins Governors' Cup

MONTREAL, (CP)—Montreal Royals edged the pennant-winning Rochester Red Wings 3-2 to win the International Baseball League's Governor's Cup Monday night. The Royals took the best-of-seven final series four straight, and now go into the little world series against the American Association winner.

A gathering of 9,150 fans saw Montreal's ace lefthander Tom LaSorda go the route, allowing the Wings nine scattered hits, fanning seven and walking one.

Fred Woodridge, a young righthander, went the distance for the losers to suffer his first setback since joining Harry Walker's crew from Houston, Tex., early last month.

Expect Beliveau Will Sign Canadiens' Contract

MONTREAL, (CP)—All the guessing about the hockey plans of Jean Beliveau will end this week, with every indication the Quebec star will sign a Montreal Canadiens contract Friday.

"We are not far apart and I am going to talk with Beliveau again Friday," managing director Frank Selke of Canadiens told The Canadian Press Monday.

"You know," added Selke with half a smile, "he won't be eligible to play in the all-star game Saturday unless he is signed by then."

That was as far as Selke would commit himself but he didn't appear at all worried about the outcome of Friday's meeting.

Beliveau has been working out with the Canadiens at the training camp and playing in exhibition games. He was out of town with the squad Monday.

Negro Halfback Is Rolling Up Scoring Points

TORONTO, (CP)—Avatus Stone, 14-year-old halfback who jumped Chicago Cardinals for Ottawa Rough Riders this season, is hitting a seven-point-a-game average to lead Big Four scorers.

Statistics compiled by The Canadian Press show the negro triple-threat with 42 points in six games, three up on Ray Poole, field goal specialist from Montreal Alouettes and seven more than Ottawa's Gene (Choo Choo) Roberts.

Poole, playing his first season of Canadian football after six years with New York Giants, has scored two touchdowns, five field goals and 14 converts for a 30-point total. Roberts, native of Bonner Springs, Kas. and a three-year back in Canada, holds a five-point edge over Chuck Hunsinger who joined Alouettes this season after three years with Chicago Bears.

Marciano May Defend Title On February 22

NEW YORK, (AP)—Rocky Marciano, towering over the heavyweight field, may defend his title next against Ezzard Charles, Feb. 22 at San Francisco if the ex-champ can avenge a defeat by Harold Johnson.

Charles, bypassed to give Roland LaStarza his chance, was tentatively set for a rematch with Johnson, Nov. 4 but Johnson will not be ready then due to an ear infection. They are working on a new date for the bout with San Francisco as the proposed site.

Promoter Jimmy Murray has convinced Al Weill, Marciano's manager, and the International Boxing Club that San Francisco is ripe for a heavyweight title fight.

Marciano, unscathed after Thursday night's 11th round technical knockout victory over LaStarza before a crowd of 44,562 and a $435,820 house, said his immediate plans were for watching the World Series. But, said Weill: "We'll definitely fight next year."

LaStarza won't be in action for at least six weeks because of bone chips and a calcium deposit in his left elbow. He also suffered a muscle haemorrhage in the arm while blocking one of Marciano's wild punches.

"I'd like to fight him again," said LaStarza. "I'll fight anybody Jimmy (manager Jimmy DeAngelo) tells me to."

Rumors Rife
Rumors were rife that the National League and American League are jockeying in an effort to land San Francisco and Los Angeles in the ranks of one or the other. The league that signs up both cities would not only tap rich territory but could simplify schedule and transportation problems as far as the west is concerned.

Reports that National League met secretly during the day were denied by several National League owners.

Sunday when the American League owners ended a marathon eight hour session with a 4-4 vote against the Baltimore move, they would need six votes to make a change. Five other cities also made a pitch for the St. Louis franchise. They were Kansas City, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Minneapolis-St. Paul and Montreal.

Picks Yankees

NEW YORK, (AP)—Joe DiMaggio, former New York Yankees outfielder, said Friday he thinks the Yankees will defeat the Brooklyn Dodgers in the World Series beginning Wednesday, "but it might go the limit of seven games."

Naval Commander Becomes Chaplain

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Cmdr. Herman Macgolic Kennickell of the U. S. Navy dropped Monday to a lieutenant.

Kennickell wanted it that way. With Rt. Rev. Angus Dunn, Episcopal Anglican bishop of Washington, conducting the services, Kennickell was ordained a priest.

Up stepped Rear Admiral Edward Harp, chief of the navy's chaplains, to welcome him into the chaplains corps and hand him the shoulder boards that showed he now would be Lieut. Kennickell.

Navy historians say they believe it's the first time a full commander ever dropped down to start again as a chaplain.

New Names Voted Into Baseball Hall Of Fame

NEW YORK, (AP)—Six new names were voted into the Baseball Hall of Fame at a meeting of the new committee on old timers at commissioner Ford Frick's office Monday.

The six are umpires Bill Klem and Tom Connolly, managers Ed Barrow and Harry Wright, and players Charles (Chief) Bender and Bobby Wallace.

Wright was player-manager of the fabulous Cincinnati Reds in the 1870's, and Barrow, later general manager of the New York Yankees, had a notable career as field manager, chiefly with the Boston Red Sox.

Wallace, a shortstop, was a major leaguer for 26 consecutive seasons. He played for Cleveland, the St. Louis Cardinals and the Browns, and wound up his career with the Cardinals in 1918.

Bender long was a pitcher for the Philadelphia Athletics. Connie Mack has remarked that if he had one game he just had to win Bender would be his choice as the man to pitch it.
