Fish Chowder, Apple Pie, Salad, And You Are Content

By IDA BAILEY ALLEN

Visit the State of Maine these cold days and ten to one you'll be offered a bowl of steaming fish chowder, made from any fish with light-colored flesh. The accompaniment will be big round pilot crackers.

Incidentally, these were the first kind of commercially made breadstuffs to travel in sailing ships out of Maine.

A good fish chowder is a warming dish. Add a hearty salad and a good deep-dish apple pie and you'll feel content.

Tomorrow's Dinner—Fish fillet chowder, toasted split rolls, toss caesar salad, deep-dish fruit cocktail pie, coffee, tea or milk.

All measurements are level; recipes proportioned to serve 4 to 6. Fish Fillet Chowder: Use mild-flavored fish such as haddock, flounder, sole or whitefish.

In a heavy 2-qt. kettle, melt 1/4 c. butter. Add 1/2 c. diced onion. Slow-saute until translucent. Do not brown.

Add 3 c. diced, peeled potatoes, 1 1/2 lbs. raw fresh or thawed frozen fish fillets cut in 1 in. cubes, 1 c. hot water and 1 1/2 tsp. salt. Slow-boil until potatoes are tender, about 15 min. Do not drain.

Add 1 qt. milk. Heat; season to taste with salt and pepper.

Just before serving, stir in 1 tsp. lemon juice. Garnish with minced parsley or crumbled crisp bacon.

Deep-Dish Fruit Pie from Oddments: Prepare 1 recipe for American pie pastry, or use a mix.

Combina mixture of leftover canned fruits, such as about 3/4 c. each sliced peaches, pitted plums and canned pie apples.

Add 1 c. canned or diced fresh orange sections, 1/4 tsp. ground cinnamon and 1 1/4 c. mixed canned fruit juices. Stir in 2 tsp. brown sugar, 2 tsp. melted butter and 1 tsp. quickcooking tapioca.

Transfer to a shallow quart baking dish. Cover with pie pastry rolled a scant 1/4 in. thick. Slash in the center. Gild the top with 1 egg yolk beaten with 1 tsp. milk. Dust with 1 tsp. granulated sugar and 1/4 tsp. cinnamon or ground coriander seed.

Bake 35 min. in a hot oven, 400 degrees F. Serve warm, "as is," or with whipped cream cheese.

Caesar Salada from the Chef: This tossed green salad is quite substantial.

To prepare, first fry in olive oil 1 cup small cubes of bread dusted with 1/2 tsp. garlic salt. Drain and cool.

Next, break 1 medium head of cleaned crisp romaine into a salad bowl. Spoon over 1-3 c. grated Parmesan cheese mixed with 1 tsp. salt, 1/4 tsp. each dry mustard and black pepper.

Add 1/4 c. olive oil, 1 1/2 tsp. lemon juice and 1/2 tsp. Worcestershire. Break in 1 large raw

BUICK BRAKES 100% BETTER THAN INDUSTRY STANDARD

In "crisis stop" tests Buick brakes refuse to fade

Aluminum puts new safety in Buick brakes

SPORTS CAR ILLUSTRATED Magazine recently ran brake tests on '58 models of various makes. These cars were raced to 60 m.p.h., then the brakes were slammed down hard—again and again. After five or six such stops, all but one of the cars were 'way down in brake power. And that car was Buick! The '58 Buick CENTURY made 22 such stops and still braked efficiently. Buick's new air-cooled aluminum brakes*, wrote SPORTS CAR ILLUSTRATED, are "conservatively, a 100% improvement over conventional brakes."

Down in Daytona Beach, NASCAR (The National Association for Stock Car Advancement and Research), made another series of brake tests, based on different conditions. Where other cars had severe brake-power loss after only 20 to 30 "crisis stops," the '58 Buick CENTURY with aluminum brakes made 176 such stops, and still had full stopping power. The experts called these Buick air-cooled aluminum brakes* phenomenal. No other car's brakes came even close to them . . . proof positive that Buick's safety performance is built right in. It's extra protection for you and your family.

Why are Buick's brakes best? Buick defeats the heat build-up that causes brakes to fade—lose their stopping power. Buick's finned aluminum front brake drums are air-cooled for fast, fade-free stops. Surround yourself with the year's greatest advance in braking safety. Get behind the wheel of a B-58 Buick.

*Aluminum front brakes are standard on CENTURY, SUPER, ROADMASTER 75 and LIMITED, optional at extra cost on the SPECIAL Series.
