

Degree Granting Powers Urged By PWC Principal

By NEIL MATHESON
Principal of P.W.C. College should be raised to the university level and given degree granting status, urged Principal Dr. Frank MacKinnon last night as he spoke at the Y.M.C.A. Club in the YMCA building. Chairman of the meeting was Dr. Paul Cadmore, chairman of a committee of young business and professional men which has been working quietly on the university idea for several years.

The charter granted to PWC 104 years ago by the man who later became Edward VII of England stated the institution should be "equal to that of any other institution in the province," said Dr. MacKinnon who brought to the meeting the framed charter which was the only thing that was saved from the old Prince of Wales College building which was completely destroyed by fire on a cold, wintry night in 1932 and the reason is interesting.

WESTERN BRIEFS

LOW INCOME

(Continued from page one) discusses the philosophy of it, but "we are always going to have poor people who will have to be helped."

Mrs. J.A. Lawson, representing the Protestant Welfare Bureau, said she knew of one house in which were living four adults and eight children and the only toilet came from a kitchen tap and a toilet upstairs.

Concerning that the type of housing under study was necessary as quickly as possible were Reid Sangster, chairman of P.E.I. Housing Commission, Major R.H. Walker, officer commanding the housing unit, and representatives of the Royal Canadian Legion.

Explaining how various plans worked Mr. Houston said the problem was not nearly so acute here as in other parts of Canada. He said one generally used plan of CMHC was designed for those with income under $3,000 yearly and provided homes at rentals of $57.50 per month.

Under questioning by Mayor Gaudet, who presided, he noted there was no vast areas of light, air pockets, but "the pockets of sores can cancer and fester." Briefly mentioning "lack of housing at the jail" he said it all comes back to home environment.
