Mr. Parnell expects to form a branch of the National League at Cork.

Mr. Hallway, an Englishman, has given $2,000,000 to endow an institution for the higher education of women

An English clergyman at Kingston, Ont., has become incapacitated for duty by cancer of the tongue. He cannot speak.

Two Customs officials, the one in Montreal, and the other in St. John, N. B., have been dismissed for dishonest practices.

Sir Garnet Wolseley and Sir Beauchamp Seymour have accepted $250,000 each from the English Government for their Egyptian Services.

The police recently raided a church in Williamsburgh, S. C., and arrested two men who were serving out beer to the "congregation."

The silver wedding of the Crown Prince and Crown Princess of Germany is to be celebrated at Berlin next January, with great festivities. The Prince of Wales and the Duke and Duchess of Connaught are expected to visit the German Court on this occasion.

Justin McCarthy and Michael Davitt, trustees of the Land League fund, deny that certain inaccuracies exist in Mr. Eagan's statements of receipts and expenditures made to the late National Conference, as was charged by anonymous writer to the Irish Times.

The Prince of Wales killed three splendid stags on October 2nd, at Braemar, in Scotland. The Duke of Cambridge killed four stags. A stag dance by torchlight took place in the evening in front of the castle, in presence of the Prince and Princess of Wales, the Duke of Cambridge, and the other distinguished guests.

Dinner, some one has written, is the king of meals—all other repasts fade before it. It is the crowning glory of each day. Poets from Virgil's time to the present have sung the pleasures of the table. To the dinner, moreover, they have turned with special delight, and tuned their harps to the clatter of knife and fork and the jingle of glasses. There is to many no sweeter music than that which rings forth from the "tocsin of the soul—the dinner bell."

The discovery of a Chinese coin 3,000 years old in British Columbia is no more absolute proof of the original discovery of America by the Chinese than the discovery of an old Roman coin would be of the colonization of the country by the Romans. The coin might have found its way there at a much later date. But it is, at least, a fair foundation for a not unintelligent theory. It is idle to repudiate any theory, having the slightest probability, of the original discovery and peopling of this continent. We do so much that is strange, that what is stranger still requires little demand on credulity.

One of the richest of European proprietors is the Prince of Lichtensein, on the Rhine, who has a territory of about 50 square miles. It is not within the limits of his principality alone that the Prince's possessions lie, but in Austria, Germany and Switzerland. His personal domain comprises 26 cities, 25 towns, 756 villages, 29 seigneuries, 46 castles, 11 monasteries and 424 holdings. While the revenue of the State is not more than 60,000 florins, the Prince draws a personal income from his vast possessions of some six million florins. Under the old Germanic Confederation the Prince, with the two houses of Hohenzollern, the two branches of Reuss, the two houses of Lippe and the Prince of Waldeck, had the sixteenth place in the Confederacy and one vote in plenum.
