How Canada Built A Giant Road

It wasn't easy! A river had to be moved 350 feet. Artillery was used to halt avalanches. In June Reader's Digest ride with Lawrence Elliot, first man to drive the ocean-to-ocean, 5,000-a-mile Trans-Canada Highway. You'll discover how this new road linking all Canada was forged. Get your June Reader's Digest — 40 articles of lasting interest — at your newsstand today.

Mail Received By Columnist Reveals Some Strange Things

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Millions of persons daydream about getting away from it all and living a life of ease on a carefree island paradise in the South Seas . . . This may jolt them: One of the commonest surgical operations in such paradise—Samoa—is for peptic ulcers!

Pre-dawn shopping: A fur shop in Las Vegas stays open until 3 a.m.—just in case a big winner decides to pick up a mink or sable while he's still ahead.

The criminal type; The typical fugitive on the FBIs' "most wanted" list is in his early 40s, five feet nine inches tall, weighs 158 pounds, has at least one tattoo, likes to drink, gamble and chase women. (Except for the tattoo mark, this description fits most of the suburbanites I know.)

Our quotable notables: "The silliest woman can manage a clever man, but it needs a very clever woman to manage a fool."—Rudyard Kipling.

Odd seat: A century ago in France men's high silk hats became so tall checkrooms couldn't handle them, and opera-goers sat on them during the performance . . . the test of top hat's quality was whether it coud bear its owner's weight.

STRUGGLING GENIUS

Genius usually has a hard struggle . . . The Hotel Stanhope here recently unveiled a reproduction of Rembrandt's famed $2,300,000 painting, Aristotle Contemplating the Bust of Homer . . . The frame alone for the reproduction cost $600, more than Rembrandt ever received for many of his paintings in his lifetime . . . He was so hard up that he had to sell his first wife's grave to raise the money to bury his second wife.

If you're normal, you probably have between 2,000 and 3,000 dreams a year — even though you may think you don't dream at all . . . In The Science of Dreams, Edward Diamond says dreams help keep us sane by day by letting us "go insane" in our nightly sleep . . . Laboratory experiments showed that people prevented from dreaming tended to develop hallucinations.

Out of the mouths of babes: My nomination for the most haunting remark of the century is this: A little girl, after hearing poet Carl Sandburg describe a Civil War battle, looked up and asked him innocently, "suppose they gave a war and no one came?"

Quebec To Use New Road Signs

QUEBEC (CP) — Highways Minister Bernard Pinard has announced that within five years Quebec will have an entirely new system of highway symbols to guide motorists.

The signs will incorporate the best of the international code of highway symbols. But some signs now in use, such as "cedez - yield," which have proven workable will be retained.

Mr. Pinard told a press conference the first of the new signs will be appearing on some major highways in the province within a week. The new symbols will be installed along provincial roads at the rate of 100,000 a year.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

QUIZ

You are the dealer, both sides vulnerable, and have opened One Diamond. Partner responds One Spade. What would you now bid with each of the following five handsk

1. ♠KJ6 ♥A3 ♦AQ9872 ♣95
2. ♠KQ92 ♥8 ♦AKQ763 ♣K4
3. ♠7 ♥AQ4 ♦KQJ93 ♣A652
4. ♠AK5 ♥A92 ♦AQJ54 ♣83
5. ♠Q84 ♥AK6 ♦KQ93 ♣AQ7

1. Two spades. This may not be the most accurate bid in the world, but it is the best available. Naturally, there is a reluctance to raising immediately with only three trumps, and equally, there should be some aversion to failing to rebid the six-card diamond suit.

However, an accurate rebid in diamonds is not possible. To constitute an exaggeration of values, while a simple rebid of two diamonds would be understating the prospects of the hand. Faced with this dilemma, it is better to raise spades. This is more forward-going than two diamonds and more likely to encourage partner to bid again. The spade raise is bound to cause partner to look upon his hand more favorably.

2. Four spades. It would be wrong to bid either three diamonds, which partner is free to pass, or three spades, which partner can also pass—though he is less likely to do so.

The jump to four spades in this sequence is by no means a closing bid. On the contrary, it says in plain English that a game is on even though partner may have responded with only six points. Hence it follows that the leap to game is a slam try. If partner has two aces, he will presumably give them full weight in evaluating slam chances.

3. Two clubs. Here, also, two diamonds would be too weak and three diamonds too strong. Two notrump is out of the question because that bid requires 18 or 19 points as well as balanced distribution. The two club bid has the advantage of being ambiguous, since it may be based on minimum values or a strong hand. If partner passes two clubs, that is probably the limit of the hand.

4. Three spades. Usually, the jump raise of partner's suit requires four trumps, but in this case, with no better bid available, it is given with only three. The 18 high - card points adequately compensate for the missing fourth trump.

5. Three notrump. The principle that governs here is similar to the one applied in the second question above. The leap to three notrump indicates 20 points or more, since the spade response might have been based on 6 points.

It is somewhat less encouraging towards a slam than in the previous case, for while the point count is higher, the distribution is more balanced and there are less playing tricks to point to.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

AXYDLBAAXR
is LONGFELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.
