

BRISTOL

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Eldershaw, were weekend visitors to the city where Mrs. Eldershaw's mother, Mrs. Gallant, is a patient in Charlottetown Hospital for the first time in her lifetime of 83 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Aubin Eldershaw, were in the city on Sunday visiting some old friends who are ill in the hospital at present.

John O'Neill, who had spent so much time in the Charlottetown Hospital in the past three years has returned home again after being a patient for several weeks including Christmas and New Years.

How good is your memory? An oldtimer here tells us he recalls a winter warmer than this when farmers were seen ploughing the land Jan. 6 and the same spring ploughing again April 9, some 82 years ago. And that brings to mind it's 82 years this fall since the late John T. O'Brien lost his hand and part of his arm in a shooting accident near his father's forge when his brother forced a slug into the old muzzle loading gun and asked his brother then 17 to shoot it out. The gun barrel busted, tearing his arm to shreds. From that day on Mr. O'Brien would never allow a gun in his home. The memory of that awful day never faded from his mind.

Sommerled Kelly, a buyer for Canada Packers for more than 25 years who drives to the city and back every week had his sweater badly smashed in an accident in this vicinity last week.

Plans are going ahead for the big event here February first. The sportsmen's dinner in the high school won't be much of a sports event for the village women who are called on to prepare and serve the hundreds of dinners in their top style as they have in the past few years. The event has been put on for the new rink.

George Laybolt was in the city last week on business. In his line he is one of the busy fishermen who is getting ready for the spring season that is getting near again.

Joe MacDonald, of the Provincial Infirmary staff, who is on vacation at present, was here last week visiting with some old friends. This is his old home port.

Justin McCarthy, who had been in poor health with a heart condition for quite some time, enjoys good health now and is living in retirement in the city. Mrs. McCarthy, 81, is matron of the infirmary in Charlottetown. For a number of years Mrs. McCarthy, as we all know her, has been a professional nurse.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer McEwen and son were in the city on Friday along with Gordon McEwen.

Clarence McEwen, Bristol's biggest farmer, who grows around 30 acres of spuds along with other farm duties is getting ready for the busy spring season again. He is one man who has made a success of farming here on a big scale without complaint. Mr. and Mrs. McEwen, have one of the finest farm homes one could see in many a day travelling. A big man with a big job, Mr. McEwen has never left the old home farm.

DUNDAS CENTRE

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Stewart and children, Shane, Shirley and Wayne, Dundas Centre have taken up residence in Charlottetown, where Mr. Stewart is employed with a milk company.

Mary Morrison is convalescing at her home in Forest Hill after being a patient in the Kings County Memorial Hospital.

Ronald Harris was the guest speaker at the Sunday evening service in Upton Gospel Chapel. A large congregation was present.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stead, Lower Montague, were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Taylor, Dundas Centre.

Mr. and Mrs. George Saville and family, Fortune Bridge, were Sunday visitors to Dundas Centre where they visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence McLennan and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Floxy Hicken and daughters, Elizabeth and Trudy were Sunday visitors to Souris East and vicinity.
