Navy Ships Due Here Next Week

The Navy will be well represented in Charlottetown Old Home Week.

Three Canadian warships and a United States submarine will arrive in port Thursday, Aug 15. They will depart Monday, August 19.

It is expected that citizens will be given an opportunity to visit the ships during their five-day visit.

It is also expected that marching units from the ships and sub will take part in the Gold Cup and Saucer Parade Friday.

The ships, all frigates are the Fort Erie, Lanark and New Waterford. The submarine is the Sea Owl.

The frigates will dock at 7 a.m. on Thursday and will have open doors for those wishing to visit from 3.30 to 5 p.m. Thursday and Friday and from 2 until 4 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. The submarine will be open to visitors from 1 p.m. until 4 p.m. every afternoon.

The submarine will have a special treat for some civic officials when several local people will be taken on a trip to Point Prim where the Sea Owl will make a dive.

On Saturday morning crew members of the Sea Owl will entertain orphanage children with treats and a sightseeing tour.

New Tuna Trawler Calls At Borden

Hon. Leo Rossiter, minister of fisheries, accompanied by his deputy, Eugene Gorman inspected a 92-foot trawler which will be used to net tuna in Atlantic waters when it made a call at Port Borden Tuesday night.

The trawler MV Blue Waters, will be used to explore the possibilities of deep seining for tuna. The usual method of tuna fishing is to lure the big fish to the surface with bait and hook them while feeding.

The vessel is owned by Matthews Brothers, Campobello, N.B.

300 FEET DOWN

The Blue Waters carries a net that will reach 300 feet in depth and is 2,700 feet long. Hydraulically powered rollers on the side of the vessel help pull the net in. A large, hydraulically operated block on the vessel's boom assists in raising the net.

Mr. Gorman said the vessel can also operate as a stern trawler for catching such fish as herring.

According to Mr. Rossiter, the vessel is well automated. He said the captain can operate the vessel from both the bridge and the crow's nest. "The steering stick of the controls," he said, "is no bigger than a pencil and hydraulically operated. For keeping a close check on tuna schools, there is an enclosed control booth in a crow's nest on the mast."

Powered by a 475 horsepower diesel engine, the vessel is equipped with a variable pitch propeller, which means it can manoeuvre slowly without a reduction of engine speed. For close navigation around the big tuna nets, water jets on the hull of the vessel can be used.

The Blue Waters was built by Bathurst Marine Limited of New Brunswick and after final sea trials will be drydocked in Pictou for hull painting.

Hardware Issue Is Settled Here

Canadian-made hardware with the exception of British-made doorclosers will be used exclusively in the Fathers of Confederation Memorial Building.

Dr. Frank MacKinnon said yesterday that not only protests on the use of foreign- manufactured hardware, but technical factors led to a decision toward the end of June to specify the use of Canadian-made hardware.

Tenders on the new hardware closed Friday.

Pole Snapped, One Injured

One person was injured early yesterday morning when a car went off the road and hit a telephone pole on Grafton Street East. Damage to the vehicle was estimated at $350.

Lorne Doiron, 306 Grafton Street, is in Charlottetown Hospital where his condition was described as not serious. He received a cut on the back of his head.

The driver of the late model car, Allison Wood, Mt. Edward Road, was not injured in the mishap.

Recognizance Breach Is Magistrate's First

A Rustico man, Blair Bernard Gallant, appeared before Magistrate James B. Johnston, QC, in Queens County magistrate's court Wednesday for having made a breach of recognizance.

Gallant had been given a two-year suspended sentence on August 13, 1962, on a conviction of theft. Stipulations of the sentence included keeping the peace and good behaviour for the period.

But on May of this year he had been convicted of creating a disturbance in a public place by fighting, and fined $25 and costs or 15 days.

Magistrate Johnston said that it was the first time a breach of recognizance had ever come before him. He felt that evidence of the first and second convictions should be produced, although the accused had pleaded guilty.

HAD RECORD

Ralph Charles Godkin, 17, of Charlottetown, appeared in court on a charge of theft of a Volkswagen. Alan K. Scales, acting for the crown, produced a copy of the accused's record which showed a theft conviction on May 15 of this year, at which time he had been put on a one year peace bond. Mr. Scales pointed out that, with the previous conviction, the question was whether the jail term should be served in Queens County Jail or Dorchester Penitentiary.

Magistrate Johnston remanded the accused till Aug. 12, pending an investigation of the accused's home environment.

Gerald Lee Myers, Charlottetown, was remanded by consent until Aug. 16, with bail set at $200. He was appearing on a charge of vagrancy, to which he had previously pleaded not guilty.

The Excise Act case of Dan Maurice Shreenan, Pt. Des-Roches, was adjourned until Aug. 19 on the request of crown attorney Ian MacLeod, with the consent of defense counsel Allison Gillis.

BREAK AND ENTRY

On a break and entry charge, 19-year-old Gordon Ralph Bowtie, Charlottetown was remanded for sentencing until Aug. 9.

Bowtie was given a choice of trial, since his offense was indictable, and elected to be tried by magistrate, pleading guilty.

Gerald Foster, QC, pointed out that Bowtie, his client, had no previous record. He said he felt the offense was a case of "idle hands breeding mischief", since the accused had been unemployed at the time. Mr. Foster said he felt no real use would be served by putting the boy in jail, and applied for a suspended sentence. Mr. Scales said the crown would be satisfied with that.

Lester O'Donnell spoke at great length on behalf of his client. George Bernard Conway, charged with an infraction of the Liquor Control Act. The case was adjourned until Aug. 12.

Two men and one woman were charged with possession of liquor in a place other than their residence, and were each fined $20 and costs or 30 days.

Souris Man Is Facing Three Worthless Cheque Charges

GEORGETOWN —A Souris man, James Arnold MacLellan, appeared before Magistrate James B. Johnston, QC, in Georgetown yesterday on three charges of obtaining goods valued at $21.50 in each case by means of worthless cheques.

No plea was entered to any of the counts and he was remanded to jail until Aug. 14 when he will appear in Souris. The accused asked for an adjournment so that he could consult legal counsel.

A fourth charge against him, of unlawfully taking a motor vehicle without the consent of the owner was withdrawn by the informant, his aunt, Joyce MacLellan, Souris.

Theodore Joseph Theriault, Bear River, and Eric Francis Jackson, Murray Harbor each pleaded guilty to impaired driving and were fined $100 and costs each.

A Whim Road resident, Alfred Roland Moore, who had previously pleaded not guilty before a justice of the peace on two charges of driving while his license was suspended yesterday had his case adjourned by magistrate to Aug. 21.

Peter Henry Martell, Georgetown Royalty, was charged with possession of 13 lobsters out of season. His case was adjourned to Aug. 21 with no plea taken.

Two persons were each fined $20 and costs for having liquor in a place other than their residences, and a third was fined a similar amount for being intoxicated in a public place.
