often develop into weak, delicate, backward children; undersized, nervous, feeble, adults. Lack of nourishment is the cause.

Scott's Emulsion is the remedy. A little of it three or four times a day will do wonders. The pinched, sad faces become round and rosy; the wasted limbs plump and firm. If your baby is not doing well, try this great food-medicine.

EASTERN TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION.

The First Annual Convention of the Eastern Teachers' Association was held in Montague School on June 28th and 29th, 1906. The first meeting opened at 10 a. m., on Thursday, 28. Mr. J. E. Jay, B. A., President of the Association opened the meeting with a few well fitting remarks. The bye-laws and constitution were then read by Inspector McCormac, the adoption in which was moved and carried. Mr. Frank Egan read a very practical paper on the teaching of English. The views contained in the paper were heartily endorsed by J. A. McDonald, B. A., J. F. Doyle, Parmenas McLeod and Inspector McCormac. The following committees were then appointed:

On Credentials—Patrick Rice, J. E. Douglas, Mary Smith.

On Constitution and Bye-Laws—P. McLeod, Peter D. McDonald, Elsie Brehaut.

Question Box Committee—H. W. Wilson, Alex. McLeod, Hugh McDonald, Elliot Fraser, D. McPherson.

Nominating Committee—J. Allan MacDonald, Frank Egan, Alice Gillis, Genevieve McDonald, Joseph F. Doyle.

On Resolutions—A. B. Campbell, J. A. Gillis, Louis Brehaut.

Auditing Committee—Wm. McMillan, R. H. McNeill, Lucy Kelly.

Mr. John Allan MacDonald read a paper entitled "A Plea for Teachers," which was characterized by depth of thought and clear expression. Mr. P. McLeod spoke briefly concerning the merits of the paper and moved adjournment until 2 p. m. Motion to adjourn carried.

H. LESLIE,
Rec.-Sect'y.

SECOND SESSION.

The second session of the Convention opened at 2 p. m. The President opened same with a request that Mr. J. A. McDonald's paper on "A Plea for Teachers" be discussed. Mr. Egan, Wm. McMillan, Mr. Doyle and Inspector McCormac spoke, the latter at same length, and discussed the paper as regards elevation of the profession, needs of moral training, experimenting in teaching and smallness of salary. He suggested that the School Act should be so amended that an extra 25 cents should be placed on each ratepayer and the sum so collected used to augment the teacher's salary.

Mr. J. F. Doyle read a very interesting paper on "Some Defects in Teaching and Their Causes." This was a very practical paper and brought forth much discussion. Mr. McKinnon, advised a system that would induce the teachers to remain longer in the profession; he advocated keeping pupils from school until they reach the age of 7 years. Mr. Campbell, Mr. McPherson, and Mr. Lannan spoke on the matter of sending children to school at too early an age. Mr. J. McDonald, Mr. F. Egan, Inspector McCormac and Mr. Chester McLure continued the discussion.

The next paper on the programme was Mr. J. McPherson's on "Discipline." He dealt with school government under the following heads: (1) Teacher himself an example of rectitude. (2) Investigation of wrongs. (3) Organization of school. (4) Prevention of wrongs. (5) Punishments. Mr. McKinnon made some interesting comments on the paper. Messrs. Doyle, McLeod, McLure and Campbell discussed the paper. Mr. Coffin, a trustee of Cherry Hill School, next delivered an address on "The Teacher as I know him and as I see him." It was very interesting and brim-full of wit and humor and was much appreciated. Inspector McCormac moved a vote of thanks to Messrs. Coffin and McKinnon for the kindly assistance they gave the Convention by their able addresses. Mr. McLeod seconded the vote which was then carried. Both gentlemen replied in fitting terms.

The question box was then opened and the following questions submitted: (1) "Are Gage's Readers an improvement on the old Royal Reader?" Answered by Mr. McLure and Inspector McCormac in the negative. (2) "Is Vertical Writing an improvement on the old system?" This question elicited many answers and judging from them the teachers are as yet far from being a unit on the matter of vertical writing.

(3) "Is it advisable to use text-book in teaching grammar to new beginners?" Inspector McCormac advises teachers to give considerable oral work before taking up the text-book.

(4) "Should a teacher be hired in a district by 2/3 of the ratepayers?" Mr. Leslie spoke at length and gave it as his opinion that if the teacher had ability enough to bring the other 2/3 to the same opinion as the 1/3 he should be hired. Mr. J. A. McDonald also discussed the trustee.

(5) "How far advanced should pupils be before they commence studying the higher branches?" Mr. Doyle considered that when a pupil would be well grounded on the elementary subjects, could analyze, paraphrase and explain any ordinary selection in English they should then take up the Latin, French, etc.

(6) "Is a question box in a school a good idea?" Mr. McPherson, Inspector McCormac, and Mr. McLure strongly favored it. Mr. McLure has used it with great success for some years.

(7) "How often should written examinations be given?" Mr. Leslie explained the Test System. Mr. Steward also favored it.

(8) "Is a forth class advisable?" Inspector McCormac said Gage's Fourth Reader is the poorest book of a poor series and he advocated having pupils read the fifth book after completing the Third. Many teachers have found this to work well.

(9) "Should a pupil study 6th Book if not intending to attend P. W. College?" Mr. Doyle and Inspector McCormac thought that it would be better to take up some classic such as "Evangeline," "Lady of the Lake" etc. At 5 o'clock the meeting adjourned to meet in Village Hall at 8 o'clock for entertainment and at 9.30 A. M. Friday for regular meeting.

FRIDAY, JUNE 29TH, FIRST SESSION.

After the minutes of yesterday's meetings were read and adopted, the Question Box was opened and the following questions were given.

(1) "At what age or grade should pupils begin to study history from a text book?" Mr. Egan would begin the study of history with the fourth class. Inspector McCormac agreed with Mr. Egan. He thought pupils should take up the study of The Brief History of England when they begin the Fourth Reader. As regards Canadian History he said we have a very poor text-book, a book that is in every way unsuited for our schools. The Inspector said he would just as lief turn a grindstone all day as be compelled to wade through Clements, History for a few hours. He said the only benefit it might ever be mankind would be in time of a flood for no matter what else would be submerged Clements' History of Canada would still be dry.

(2) "What is the best method of teaching Geography to a Fourth Class ranging in ages from 9 to 12 years?"

Mr. McLeod would begin with the study of our surroundings and give most of the instruction orally.

(3) "What length of time should a student of 13 years be required to study at home?"

President Jay suggested that an hour in the evening and half hour in the morning would be sufficient. Mr. Egan said that it depended very much on the ability of the pupil.

(4) "How would you start a First Primer Class in Reading?"

Mr. Jay suggested black-board work. The best place to teach a primer class is at the black board.

Miss Alice Gillis read an excellent paper on "The study of music in Public Schools." She pointed out that in the other provinces far more study is given to this subject than in this province. She showed the influence music has upon the pupils, the effect in their ear and voice. In Great Britain 90 per cent of the pupils are taught music. Mr. McLure congratulated Miss Gillis on her excellent paper and urged the benefit of singing, especially the patriotic songs. Inspector McCormac spoke highly in favor of Miss Gillis' arguments and thought that every teacher should endeavor at least to teach some singing. He recommended to use of Miss Ryan's "School Day Melodies," published by T. C. Allen & Co., Halifax and sold at 15 cts, per copy. Mr. Egan favored a course of music and elocution for P. W. College. Mr. McCormac moved a hearty vote of thanks to Miss Gillis for her valuable paper. The motion was seconded by Mr. Egan and carried unanimously.

Mr. Brehaut read a paper entitled "The Study of Hygiene in Our Schools." He showed that Hygiene is one of the most important subjects. He claimed that it does not receive the attention it should get. It is very much neglected in our schools. In most of the schools it receives very little attention. Mr. Egan thought all pupils should be taught this subject orally. The President remarked that the text-book of Scientific Temperance used in our school is almost worthless and that is the probable cause for the subject being neglected. Mr. McLure and Mr. McPherson also spoke on this subject.

Inspector McCormac then read a paper on the "Qualifications of the Ideal Teacher." He spoke of the great responsibility of the teacher, the qualities that go to make the true teacher, how it is of more importance that the pupil learn the right things from his teacher than that he learn anything from his books. A teacher must command the respect of his pupils. The teacher must be kind, loving and patient. He emphasize truth as an essential element in the school and urged all teachers to impress the beauties of truth on the minds of the pupils. The teacher should not teach morality through discipline but discipline through love. The teacher should imbue his scholars with the spirit of patriotism. Mr.

Frank Egan spoke highly of the paper. Mr. Angus McDonald and Mr. James Stewart also spoke at length.

Mr. P. McLeod's paper on "The Teacher and the Parent," came next. He spoke on the great responsibility depending on the faithful discharge of the teacher's duties. He urged pupils to read good books which would be a great help to them. He urged practical sums in arithmetic and much mental work. He mentioned many mistakes usually made by young teachers. Teachers should get the parents to visit the schools. Mr. Campbell and Mr. Leslie spoke on these papers. The committees next reported. Mr. Rice reported 56 members present. Mr. McLeod said his committee examined the Bye laws and Constitution as framed by Inspector McCormac, and were well satisfied with them.

The Nominating Committee named the following officers for the ensuing year:—President, Chester McLure; Vice-Pres., L. Brehaut; Rec.-Sect'y, Wm. McMillan; Sec.-Trea., J. J. McPherson; Exec. Committee, J. F. Doyle, Angus McDonald, Tillie McDonald, Genevieve McDonald, H. Leslie.

The Question Box was again taken up and several questions answered, after which the Convention closed by singing God Save the Queen.

J. J. McPHERSON, Rec. Sect'y.

Every Kind of Backache

Yields to Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, Because They Act Directly on the Liver as Well as the Kidneys.

Pains in the small of the back, over the kidneys, are usually due to derangements of the kidneys, and disappear when the kidneys are set right.

But there are other kinds of backache, by far the greater proportion, that can never be reached by treating the kidneys. Pains in the shoulders, through the centre of the back, and in the sides are caused by a torpid action of the liver, and can only be driven out when the liver is made healthy and active.

To reach the liver, as well as the kidneys, to set the filtering organs in working order and to cure every kind of backache, there is but one unfailing remedy, and that is Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. It is the only treatment that has this direct and combined action on both liver and kidneys, and the only one that positively and permanently cures backache, whether caused by liver or kidneys.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates and Co., Toronto.
