Three hundred tons of dressed poultry will leave St. John for the Old Country this week. The Grand Trunk are also making heavy shipment of dressed poultry from Portland. It is believed that this is the beginning of a profitable new export trade.

Emperor William's birthday present to the Princess of Wales was a photograph of himself accompanied by four lines of original verse. The Emperor is nothing if not original, and his gift was in every way characteristic. What could be more delightful than his poetry except himself.

Not long ago the Kaiser had printed at Berlin a large volume, containing minute and exhaustive particulars about the construction, the armament and the peculiarities of every British warship, and—as if to poke fun at the English Government—he sent a copy of the compilation, with his compliments, to every member of the Board of Admiralty in London. The Lords—for that is the official title of the admirals and politicians who are entrusted with the destinies of the Royal Navy—were soon engaged in endeavoring to discover the source of the German Kaiser's extraordinary amount of information, much of which is comprised among what has hitherto been considered in the light of official secrets of the English Government.

It appears that when the Gordon Highlanders crossed the fiery zone at Dargai they not only found the Ghoorkas there before them, but were closely followed by the Sikhs. The native regiments, therefore, came in for a full share of credit in this gallant action, as indeed they have done in most of the frontier fighting. Their losses at Dargai were two officers and nineteen men killed; 4 officers and 65 men wounded. The British regiments engaged (Dorsets, Derbys and Gordons), had two officers and fourteen men killed; 7 officers and 82 men wounded. Honors and losses were about equally divided. Altogether the crossing of the zone of fire cost 195 men of all ranks, killed and wounded, so that this gallant achievement like so many other glories of British arms, was not cheaply bought.

The Westminster, in its issue of last week, has this to say on the result of the Centre Toronto election: "The Conservatives have surprised the country, and probably themselves, by the vigor of the fight they made. When the vacancy occurred, there seemed such disorganization in the party that a walkover for the Liberals appeared not unlikely; one of the really significant points about the contest is the manner in which the Conservatives pulled themselves together. In all probability the bye-election marks the reappearance upon the scene of the Conservative party, which has now seen the worst days of its period of disintegration and paralysis. It has come out and made a tight of it; and, henceforward, the Liberal Government will have to reckon with it." The Westminster makes a mistake in assuming that the Conservative party has been dead. It has not even been sleeping. The underlying principles of Conservatism do not change, and are destined to be again endorsed by the electors of Canada.

A SURE CURE FOR CONSUMPTION

There is no such thing, Scott's Emulsion comes the nearest to it, but even that will not cure advanced cases, but taken in time it will cure this disease.

MEETING OF PRESBYTERY.

A report was read from the committee appointed to visit Annandale and Dundas, with a view to union. Their report stated, that all parties were agreed. The Presbytery expressed its gratification and agreed that the union be consummated January 1st, 1898, all sections to be notified of the action of Presbytery. Souris and Bay Fortune very spiritedly agreed to undertake the entire support of their minister.

Rev. Mr. Sutherland reported that the united congregations of Covehead, Brackley Point Road and St. Peter's had expressed their desire to have Rev. Mr. Layton as stated supply for the winter. The Presbytery, on the report of the Home Mission Committee, agreed to appoint Mr. Layton to that field.

It was further agreed to appoint Rev. M. Irwin to Richmond Bay, as stated supply for the winter.

The Clerk reported to Presbytery the death of Rev. Wm. Scott.

A committee consisting of Rev. Messrs Fullerton and Sutherland was appointed to draft a suitable minute in connection with the removal of Mr. Scott's name from the roll. It was also agreed that the Presbytery in conjunction with Rev. Sutherland take charge of the funeral services in the Zion Church.

The clerk was instructed to correspond with Rev. Mr. Dill, Moderator of Bedeque session, in reference to the supply of that congregation. The Presbytery agreed that Messrs. Gunn, of Cardigan, and McKay of Souris, be appointed to make the necessary intimations with regard to the changes in the Dundas and Souris congregations. Presbytery adjourned to meet at the call of the clerk.

ESTEEMED EXCHANGES

Toronto Globe: Germany and Hayti and the late President Monroe are giving no end of trouble to the United States.

Montreal Star: So long as the laxity of public opinion permits governments to borrow money to meet current deficits, it will be hard to fix a limit and say that beyond this point it will be impossible for our public debt to grow. Any one who judged such things by ordinary standards would imagine that Quebec had reached that limit already. Last year we paid $1,550,874 on account of our public debt; while our Federal subsidy amounted to only $1,557,183. That is, we ate up our entire subsidy and about $300,000 in money raised from other sources to keep our creditors from foreclosing on the province. Our outstanding debt at that time unprovided for by sinking fund was over $25,500,000.
