

a day for rededication as well as remembrance

Perhaps at no time during the year do Canadians feel so united as on Remembrance Day. In every centre throughout the land, the bugle sounds and the two minutes ritual of silence is observed. What is its purpose? Certainly not the glorification of war or the material fruits of victory. No people anywhere can have illusions left about the legendary glories of battle. Yet there is nothing inconsistent in the proud tributes we pay to the fallen on this occasion.

We cannot invoke the memory of those who died that we might live in peace without remembering the men who served freedom's cause but did not die. Many of these, still crippled by wounds, are suffering from other physical or mental disability, need sympathy and understanding of the people who remained at home. It is easy to forget the living, but if it is indeed the dead we wish to honour, then their surviving comrades must be reckoned with, also. November 11th should be a day of remembrance for both, as well as of rededication to the ideals for which they fought.

Never in the history of our country has there been a greater need for understanding a common purpose and above all, unity that will assure Canada its rightful future, than the present. The challenge to uphold the democratic way of life today is as vital and important as it was in any war year. Perhaps it is more so. If we are to keep the faith, we must honour the past, respect the present and mold the future for the preservation of democracy, liberty, and justice.

To Whom It May Concern . . . If Anyone Is Concerned

Last Sunday evening was another fine example of the "interested students" on the campus of U.P.E.I. At six o'clock, in Duffy Amphitheater, there was to have been a General Meeting of the Student Union. At this meeting, the Executive for 1976-77 were to have given their reports and been open to questions, on these reports and Student Union matters in general.

We all realise that it is mid-term time, but we are all bogged down with work. It's very hard to hold a meeting which requires 150+ 1 for a quorum when only 25 people show up. One can't blame the people who did come for deciding not to have an information session. These are the people who usually attend Council meetings and know what's going on. By the way, COUNCIL MEETINGS ARE OPEN TO ALL STUDENTS!!!

I'm tired of hearing that Student Union is a closed ship and that no one can get in. When the opportunity arises for students to participate, where are we? It is impossible to read your minds, so we have to air our views!

Yes, we all have work to do but, some people are getting tired of banging their heads against a brick wall without getting any results. Come on, fellow students, let's get up off our butts and do something! Pretty soon the old faithfuls are going to throw in their towels and if we don't act now, we won't know what to do then.

worked in various capacities for twelve years. In the 1960s he produced "Checkpoint" and "Dateline" radio programs widely distributed in Canada, and in 1965 he was appointed Regional Director of Broadcasting for the United Church in British Columbia, working with radio and television stations throughout the province. In 1967 the Anglican, Roman Catholic and United Churches appointed him National Radio Co-ordinator, a position he held until 1970.

In constant demand as a public speaker, Mr Bonisteel also conducts communications workshops across the country, working with a variety of people, teachers, hospital personnel clergy and military groups.

He lives with his wife and three children on a farm in the Bay of Quinte at Ontario.

a word from A C T

The Beatitudes for some people:

- Happy are the shovers and pushers: for they get on in the world.
- Happy are the hard-boiled: for they never let life hurt them.
- Happy are they who complain: for they get their own way in the end.
- Happy are the slave-drivers: for they get results.
- Happy are the knowledgeable men of the world: for they know their way around.
- Happy are the trouble-makers: for people have to take notice of them.

The Beatitudes for one PERSON:

- Happy are those who realize their spiritual poverty: they have already entered the Kingdom of Reality.
- Happy are they who bear their share of the world's pain: in the long run they will know more happiness than those who avoid it.
- Happy are those who accept life and their own limitations: they will find more in life than anybody.
- Happy are those who long to be truly good: they will fully realize their ambition.
- Happy are those who are ready to make allowances and to forgive: They will know the love of God.
- Happy are those who are real in their thoughts and feelings: in the end they will see the ultimate reality, God.
- Happy are those who help others to live together: they will be known to be doing God's work.
