Some Famous Faces.

Napoleon, with a face as if it had been modeled from a Greek cameo, was never, in Talleyrand's judgment at all events, quite a gentleman. He gesticulated too much and was altogether too violent for the correct taste of the great noble trained under the old regime. Perfection of body is not necessary, either, for many misshapen men have been dignified even when they were not, like the Duc de Vendome, Princes of the Lilies in days when that distinction meant so much.

Little men and wizened men have both inspired awe, for great soldiers trembled if Louis XIV frowned, and no man received without weakened knees a rebuke from William III. The protruding under lip of the Hapsburgs has never detracted from their majesty, and Victor Emmanuel, who, for all his good manners, always suggested to the onlooker a bull face to face with the metadore, was for all that every inch a king—Spectator.

A Burglary Story.

They were telling "burglary stories" on the veranda in front of the grocery store in a down east town.

"The man's hand was thrust through the hole he had cut in the door," said the star talker, "when the woman seized the wrist and held on in spite of the struggles of the man outside. In the morning the burglar was found dead, having cut his own throat when he found escape impossible; but the brave woman had not known he was dead, and so had not released her grasp on his wrist all night long."

"Huh!" growled the skeptic in the corner. "Why didn't she feel of his pulse?"

The Cossacks.

Cossacks form the volunteer cavalry troops of southern Russia. They provide themselves with horses, uniforms and weapons and serve as guards to the highways and perform certain other military duties on demand of the governor of the district in which they live, in return for which service they are relieved from taxation to a certain extent. Their costumes are picturesque, and they have a worldwide reputation for the excellence and daring of their horsemanship.

Clever Charlie.

Some one took Charlie up and asked him if he was papa's boy. He answered, "Yes."

"And you're mamma's boy too?"

"Yes," replied Charlie.

"Well, how can you be papa's boy and mamma's boy at the same time?"

"Oh," replied Charlie quite indifferently, "can't a wagon have two horses?"

Found at Last.

Proprietor—I'm looking for a man I can trust.

Applicant—We'll get along then. For ten years I've done nothing but look for a man that would trust me.—Detroit Free Press.

A Jury of Women

Who have tested the merits of Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills return the verdict that for backache and kidney disorders there is no preparation in any way equal to his great discovery of Dr. A. W. Chase, America's greatest discovery. This great kidney cure is sold by all dealers at 25 cents a box, and has proved most effectual as a remedy for the many ills to which woman is subject.
