

MR. & MRS. DAVID M. BISHOP

A pretty wedding took place in St. Paul's Cathedral on Aug. 28, 1956, when Fr. J. Mahoney united in marriage Stephanie Sheila, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy McMahon of Charlotte town, P.E.I., and Mr. David Martin Bishop of Saskatoon son of Mrs. Leslie Orton, Barbados, B. W.I. The bride has been a resident of Saskatoon for four years. For her wedding the bride chose a white street length frock of nylon over satin featuring a white lace jacket with Peter Pan collar and close fitting long sleeves. Her flowers were roses in a bridal bouquet.

Miss Leah McMahon of Calgary was her attendant, dressed in robin's egg blue with white picture hat, and she carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations. Mr. Conrad R. Bomers back attended the reception.

After the reception, which was held in Golf's Zebra Room, the bride and groom left on a wedding trip to Winnipeg and eastern points. For travelling, the bride wore a box styled suit of blue and grey tweed with black accessories. Upon their return they will reside at 1238-9th. street in Saskatoon.

Wed At Indian River Live At Blooming Point

St. Mary's Church, Indian River, was the scene of a pretty summer wedding on Wednesday, July 4th, at nine o'clock, when Anna Teresa, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hickey, Indian River, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Peter Francis, son of Mrs. Donald J. MacDonald and the late Donald J. MacDonald, Blooming Point. Rev. Reginald F. MacDonald, P. P., Seven Mile Bay, Cousin of the groom, assisted by Rev. L.P. Callaghan, D.D., P.P., Indian River, performed the nuptial ceremony and celebrated the nuptial Mass. Rev. George MacDonald, P.P., St. Margaret's, and Rev. E.L. Murray, P.P., Summerfield, were present in the sanctuary. The altar and sanctuary of beautiful St. Mary's Church were attractively decorated with summer flowers and fern and the guest pews were marked with white satin bows. The spacious church was filled with relatives, guests and friends of the bride and groom. The guest list was Mr. Arthur Old McGrath, Seven Mile Bay, who rendered beautifully, "Mother, At Your Feet Are Kneeling" and "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother". Other appropriate hymns were sung in a pleasing manner by Indian River Choir. Mrs. Edgar Hickey was organist.

The bride was charming in a floor length gown of Chantilly lace bodice with a full skirt of fine net over satin. Her headpiece was a Juliet cap with tulle illusion veil and she carried a bouquet of red roses and white carnations with white streamers. The maid of honor was prettily attired in coral net over taffeta with matching headpiece and mitts. She carried a bouquet of white and yellow carnations. The bridesmaid was attractive in mauve net over taffeta with headpiece and mitts to match. She carried a bouquet of white and blue carnations. The little flower girls were daintily in their white nylon dresses with lace veils, carrying bow-trimmed baskets containing rose-petal. The groom's mother was attired in a two piece suit of spruce green tricot with white accessories. She wore a corsage of white baby mums.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at Birch Hill Tourist Home, Summerside, for approximately one hundred guests. The bride's table was centered with three-tiered wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and groom. During the breakfast music was played by Mr. Albert Blanchard on the piano and Mr. Arthur Cantwell on the saxophone. Mr. John J. MacDougall was soloist. Rev. Reginald F. MacDonald acted as master of ceremonies. Rev. E.L. Murray, proposed the toast to the bride, which was fittingly responded to by the groom. Several speeches in which compliments and kindly advice were given were delivered in a humorous manner by Rev. Kenneth MacPherson, Rev. Kenneth MacMillan, Rev. George MacDonald and several others.

The happily wedded couple left on a wedding trip through the Maritime which included the picturesque Cabot Trail. The bride chose for travelling costume a robin egg blue suit with white and navy accessories and wore a corsage of white carnations. On their return a reception arranged by the groom's mother was held in the Blue Room of the Old Spain, Chaplottetown, at which Mr. Joseph MacDonald, Toronto, brother of the groom, was toast-master. Music was supplied by Mr. Albert Blanchard and Mr. George MacDonald, Tracadie, and Mr. Ralph Connolly, Seven Mile Bay, were vocalists and leaders in a sing-song.

After the reception all departed for the groom's home in Blooming Point, where a shower had been arranged by the residents of the community and in which many from far and near participated. The bride and groom were the recipients of many beautiful gifts. Prior to her marriage, the bride who had been a resident of Seven Mile Bay for almost six years was tendered a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Connolly arranged by her many friends under the direction of Mrs. Connolly. Mrs. Everett Muttart and Mrs. Earl Murray, Miss Jeanette Noonan also entertained at an afternoon tea in her honor, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Noonan, Albany.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. MacDonald wish them many years of happy wedded life at their home in Blooming Point.

Bedtime Story

ALTHOUGH the stores seem to be concentrating on the long nightgown in their new-season advertising, the college crowd still prefers the shortie type. Mayhap, though, when the cold weather really gets going, the longies will move in. But for the nonce, such delectables as a shortie gown in challis seems to be the thing. This one, in printed rayon challis, boasts a design, in the usual stylized floral design, has smocking and embroidery to dress up the yoke, and there is smocking and embroidery at the collar and sleeves. The sides are silk and rayon.

HOUSEHOLD HINT

When food is fried on a gas range, popping grease often splatters the burners not in use. Pie plates turned upside down over the unlit burners protect them from splashes of grease, and are easily cleaned.

HAPPENINGS

An engagement of interest to Canadians, announced recently in England, is that of Captain Alexander Ramsay, Grenadier Guards, only son of Admiral Sir Alexander Ramsay, and Mrs. Patricia Ramsay (formerly HRH Princess Patricia of Connaught) and Miss Flora Fraser, daughter of Baron Saltoun, Lady Patricia Ramsay, a granddaughter of Queen Victoria, spent some years in Ottawa during the time that her father, Field Marshal HRH the late Duke of Connaught was Governor General of Canada.

widely entertained in Washington, prior to their departure for Geneva. A recent host entertaining at dinner for the Van Hornes was Colonel Edward Marks, Chief of the New York Office of the Intergovernmental Committee for European Migration. Mrs. Van Horne is the former Miss Mary MacMillan who has many friends and relatives in this province.

"I am my brother's brother" is the caption for a three column picture on the front page of a Toronto paper. The picture shows James, Cardinal McGuigan and Archbishop Selinger, both of whom are members of the United Appeal Fund luncheon for religious leaders. It was an occasion the Rabbi said, which united all faiths in harmony of well-being for the less fortunate.

A citation for the Legion of Merit, an interesting reading not only for those who receive the honor, but for all citizens.

Mr. Malcolm Troup, brilliant young Canadian pianist, whose piano recital opened the concert season in Charlottetown was a guest of honor at a reception Thursday evening after the concert. The Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire were the hostesses and the party was held in the Reception rooms of the Curling Club, Euston Street.

The following is the Citation as presented to Colonel Van Horne, "Colonel Edwin J. Van Horne, 016466, General Staff Corps, United States Army, for exceptional meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services in the Southwest Pacific Area from 28 December 1944 to 28 August 1945. As executive officer, Transportation Division, Office of the Assistant Chief of Staff, G-4, General Headquarters, United States Army Forces, Pacific, Colonel Van Horne exhibited outstanding qualities of leadership, sound judgment, and executive ability in solving many complex problems incident to the preparation of policies and procedures for the prompt and efficient execution of transportation of requirements throughout the theater. Devoting long hours and painstaking application to his task, he capably exercised supervision over all phases of transportation activities and maintained tactful, effective coordination in dealing with representatives of the United States Fleet and the War Shipping Administration. Through his marked professional capacity, resourcefulness, and devotion to duty, Colonel Van Horne made a conspicuous contribution to the success of vitally important transportation activities in the defeat of the Japanese Empire."

Mr. Troup inherits the charm of his great-uncle, who moved in Court circles. The uncle was preceptor of Music to Queen Victoria at Balmoral. Mr. Troup's commitments on his travels as well as his music make him a fascinating conversationalist. His delightful Canadian humour came sparkling through to the great enjoyment of all.

Congratulatory messages are being received by Mrs. W. A. MacQuarrie of Hampton who will celebrate her 90th birthday on Saturday, Sept. 29th. With the exception of Mrs. Clark Capwell who resides in Florida, all members of the family, seven in number, including Rev. Dr. W. A. MacQuarrie of Hopewell, N.S., will join their mother in celebrating this outstanding event.

The assistants from the Lucy Maud chapter were Mrs. T. DeBlois, Mrs. H. Massey, second vice-regent. The assistants from the Earl of Hillsboro Chapter were Mrs. R. Clark, Mrs. W. Hunter, Mrs. S. Jeffrey, Mrs. W. W. Reid, Miss Jean MacLean, Mrs. P. Bryces, Mrs. L. Burnett and Mrs. W. McMurtry.

Mrs. Betty MacDonald R.N., who has been on the staff at Canada Hill Hospital, Halifax, for the past two years leaves this week, for New York, where she has accepted a position. Previous to her departure, Miss MacDonald had as her guests, her mother, Mrs. R. J. MacDonald who spent a very pleasant weekend.

Ushering for the concert were Miss Marjorie Stewart, Mrs. E. M. Phillips and Mrs. W. Henry. The arrangements for the concert were under the management of Mrs. B. Earle MacDonald.

Mrs. John A. Campbell who spent the summer with her sister, Mrs. Henry Stavert in Kensington, returned yesterday to her home in Wollaston, Mass. She was accompanied by Mrs. Charles Hand, Bakersfield, California, who will visit with her for several weeks. Mrs. Campbell expects to leave for St. Petersburg, Florida in November to spend the winter.

LET'S EAT

Two Fabulous Desserts Discovered In Jersey

By IDA BAILEY ALLEN
On a summer morning, the Chef and I started on a long-anticipated tour through New Jersey. Our host for luncheon was the Flemington Market Auction Cooperative Association.

The menu featured foods for which New Jersey is famous: smoked turkey, fresh fruits and vegetables, apples, cranberries and a fabulous "Sunnysilver Pie."

Welcoming Luncheon: Shrimp cocktail; fresh Jersey vegetable soup; smoked turkey plate with pink pickled eggs, beets and tomatoes; potato salad; Sunnysilver Pie or apple-cranberry-pineapple; dessert mold; coffee.
All measurements are level recipes proportioned to serve 4 to 6. Sunnysilver Pie (Courtesy of Union Hotel, Flemington, N.J.): Bake a plain (8") piecrust shell. Sprinkle 1/4 envelopes unflavored gelatin over 1-3 c. cold water.

Separate 4 eggs. Drop the yolks into the top of a small double boiler. Beat until light and fluffy. Add 1/4 c. sugar, 1/4 c. lemon juice, 1 tsp. grated lemon rind and 1/2 tsp. salt. Cook-stir over hot water until thickened. Remove from the water. Stir in the gelatin. When dissolved, cool. Beat the 4 egg whites stiff, gradually adding 1/4 c. sugar. Fold into the first mixture. Pour into the piecrust shell; chill 4 hrs. Spread with slightly sweetened, lemon-flavored whipped cream. Apple - Cranberry - Pineapple Mold: Sprinkle 1/4 envelopes unflavored gelatin over 1/4 c. cold water. Bring 1 1/2 c. canned pineapple juice to a boil. Stir in the gelatin. When dissolved, add 1 c. cranberry cocktail, 1 small diced peeled tart apple, 1/4 c. crushed canned pineapple and 1/4 c. chopped nuts. Add sugar to taste. Rinse individual molds with cold water. Spoon in the gelatin. Refrigerate 4 hrs. Garnish on lettuce and whipped cream cheese. Tomorrow's Dinner: Fresh vegetable soup warm rolls; frozen minute steaks; mashed potatoes; beet and egg salad; sunnysilver pie; coffee, tea, milk. Trick of the Chef: To make hard-cooked eggs pink, refrigerate overnight in vinegar from pickled beets.

Gold Coast Student Wants To Teach Canada About Home

TORONTO (CP) — Gold Coast student Beatrice Amarteifio, 27, here to take a master's degree in education at the Ontario College of Education, feels she has a little teaching to do here in Canada.

"So many Canadians I have spoken in have a wrong conception of what my country is like," Beatrice told a reporter. "They imagine it to be all jungle, populated with primitive people," she added. "I hope to have the opportunity to explain to some of them that many of our cities are quite modern, if on a small scale, and that we have roads, bridges and railways which would not look out of place here," she said. Beatrice is the first Gold Coast girl student to come to Canada on a World University Service scholarship. She is the daughter of a retired education officer in Accra, the Gold Coast capital, and has a B.A. degree from the country's only university, which is affiliated with London University, England. She likes working with young children and prepared broadcasts for them in three different Ad-

MARY HAWORTH Suspect Mom Of Interference

MARY HAWORTH'S MAIL
Dear Mary Haworth: We are a group of young people who have been around a little and know something of life. We have been discussing a couple we know, an unusual case, and we want your opinion.

The girl, we will call her Julie, is one of the nicest, most down-to-earth girls we have ever known, and beautiful as well. The boy, we will call him Bill, is the big, husky type; the kind of good Joe who helps old ladies across streets. Bill never did much on his own as a kid, like the rest of us, and we always blamed it on Operation Family—they always disgraced any ideas he ever had up for him and said he had reasons if he acted funny.

I think almost all the boys secretly loved Julie at one time or another when we were kids; but Bill always gave us to understand that he would die without her, and intended to marry her some day. We took it that Julie belonged to him; and I think Julie thought so too, as she didn't encourage the others.

SUSPECT MOM
Although they've known each other from childhood, I don't think Julie loved Bill as a woman loves a man until he returned from overseas two years ago—in outward appearance a man. He wore a 21 and she 18 then; and we've never seen a happier pair. But we think Operation Family moved in full speed, as they were of marriageable age.

Now Bill has given her up, saying he still loves her, but has nothing to offer, and she deserves the best. We think he is easing his conscience, building himself up as a hero, but we have another word for him—meaning "heel." His plea that he has "nothing to offer" Julie sounds like a broken record of Mom talking. He helps support Mom and, with all due respect to self-reliant mothers, we've known for years that this lady is the personification of Philip Wylie's "Mom."

Julie won't talk about it; change the subject; just says, "he didn't love me." It has done something to her; she has a different look in her eyes. We know she really does deserve better than Bill; yet it may take a long time for her to love again.

Is Bill a mental case? Or a Mom-victim? He was brought up by the slogan "Mother knows best." Is he mixed-up in his values? We are anxiously awaiting your comment, E.S.

TRUE DEVOTION
Dear E.S.: First, it appears to me that the writer of this letter genuinely loves Julie, with exceptional maturity of devotion; and that his analysis of the heart-breaker is probably substantially accurate and inclusive.

Second, as to why Bill has kind of folded up into a heel, since his overseas service, maybe he was involved with other women (on an emotionally dependent basis) during his stay abroad. With the result that he came back to Julie a different person, figuratively speaking—a stranger to the more "innocent" feelings he had known before.

Also, if his mother is a "mom," as you think a clutching, self-centred, essentially unloving emotional parasite—perhaps his later-day negativity towards Julie is a by-product of, and all mixed up with, unconscious rejecting sentiments towards his Mom.

Perhaps he feels undone by women, robbed of integrity, resolution, decisiveness, self-determination, etc., by their capacity to sway him—and includes Julie in his unconscious fury at female dominance.

INSIDE STORY
The specialists Dr. Spurgeon English and Dr. Gerald Pearson, in their book "Emotional Problems of Living" (Norton) discuss the ill effects, on the male, of inadequate mothering. They write (page 101):

"As he grows up he may tend to avoid having any close relationship with a woman. He has been hurt by his mother, the prototype of all women, therefore (he assumes) all women have a tendency to hurt men. Why should he put himself in a position where women can hurt him? . . .

"Such an inhibited grown-up may fall in love with a woman, and as soon as he is sure she loves him, desert her, or act in such a way as to break her heart. Since he has been hurt by a woman he will now take revenge upon this one. Sometimes, after marrying a woman and treating her badly and then leaving her, he marries again quite satisfactorily. It is as if, having taken revenge on one woman, he now can have a decent relationship with his sex."

Perhaps this is somewhat the pattern of Bill's confusion, M.H. Mary Haworth counsels through her column not by mail or personal interview. Write to her in care of this newspaper.

can dialects in Accra. When she returns home, she plans to become a school inspector. Beatrice has brought with her colorful ceremonial robes and photographs of relatives and friends to remind her of home. "I don't think I shall be too homesick because I've been away at school or college for the last 10 years," she said. She has bought some warm clothing but is a little dubious about facing up to a Canadian winter after being used to temperatures in the 90s. Beatrice flew here a week ago, stopping off in England for three weeks to visit her younger sister Ethel, 25, who is studying to be a dietitian.

Gallant-Richard

A pretty wedding was solemnized recently in Mont Carmel church when Marie Leonie, daughter of Mr. Augustine Richard and the late Mrs. Richard, St. Raphael, was united in marriage to Wilfred Gallant, son of Mr. and Mrs. Al-hance Gallant of Cape Egmont. The ceremony was performed by Rev. F. Buote. The children of Mary Choir was under the direction of M. Edward Poirier, organist.

The bride given in marriage by her father looked winsome in a floor length gown of white net over satin topped with a bolero of Chantilly lace. Sweetheart headpiece held her three quarter length veil in place and she carried a bouquet of red roses.

Miss Clara Arsenault, cousin of the groom, was bridesmaid. She wore a gown of yellow net over satin topped with a bolero. She carried a bouquet of white roses.

Mr. Rene Richard, brother of the groom, was best man. The groom's mother wore a navy dress with matching accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was held at the groom's home. In the evening a supper was served at the home of the bride. The newlyweds will reside in St. Raphael.
