ELECTORS! THE WAR-TRAIL!

Do You Want to Keep Down Taxation?

IF SO, HERE ARE

THE MEN TO VOTE FOR!

IN PRINCE COUNTY.

First District.

PETER GAVIN, GILBERT BUOTE.

Third District.

JOSEPH O. ARSENAULT, JOHN A. MACDONALD.

Fourth District.

GEO. W. BENTLEY, A. E. C. HOLLAND.

Fifth District—Summerside.

JOHN LEFURGY, DR. GILLIS.

IN KING'S COUNTY.

Second District.

W. W. SULLIVAN, J. C. UNDERHAY.

Third District.

GEORGE F. OWEN, JOHN McDougall.

Fourth District.

SAMUEL PROWSE, W. A. POOLE.

Fifth District—Georgetown.

DANIEL GORDON, ARCH. J. McDONALD.

IN QUEEN'S COUNTY.

*First District.

WILLIAM CAMPBELL, DONALD CAMERON, JAMES JOHNSTON.

Second District.

A. C. SHAW, DONALD MCKAY.

Third District.

DONALD FERGUSON, DAVID EGAN.

Fourth District.

JAMES NICHOLSON, DUNCAN CRAWFORD.

Fifth District—Charlottetown and Royalty.

NEIL McLEOD, P. BLAKE.

*In this district there are three candidates, on behalf of economy and careful Government. While it is pleasing to see this practical evidence of the great popularity of the present judicious Administration, it, nevertheless, gives an advantage to the Taxationists, which is to be greatly regretted. It is to be hoped that the taxpayers of this wealthy district will agree among themselves to vote square for the same two Government candidates.

AT THE POLLS.

THE Polls open at half-past eight o'clock on Monday next, and continue open not later than seven o'clock in the evening. Those who do not desire heavy taxation should be at the polls early. The Taxationists will be there never fear!

For directions as to the places at which they will vote, electors are referred to the posters which have been put up in the several polling divisions.

For Charlottetown Common and Royalty there are two polling divisions and three polling places in each division, at which electors will vote, according to the initials of their surnames, as follows:

EASTERN DIVISION—EAST OF GREAT GEORGE STREET.

A to G—both inclusive—Engine House, near Bank P. E. Island.

H to Mac—both inclusive—Engine House, King Square.

N to Z—both inclusive—D. R. M. Hooper's.

WESTERN DIVISION—WEST OF GREAT GEORGE STREET.

A to G—both inclusive—at the premises lately occupied by James Curtis.

H to Mac—both inclusive—Market House, N to Z—both inclusive—Frederick Curtis.

FRANCHISE VOTERS.

Franchise voters in the country districts must have resided in the polling division in which they vote twelve months previous to the date of the writ of election, and have performed their statute labor or paid their commutation money. It is to be noted that some of the polling divisions have been sub-divided into sections, in each of which a poll will be held.

Franchise voters in Charlottetown and Summerside must have had a residence of twelve months, and have lived in the polling division in which they vote at least one month, and have paid their poll tax.

SPECIAL VOTE.

For schedules to be filled in by persons having special votes, on account of property they own or hold in possession in other districts of the Province, apply to the Presiding Officers at the several polling places.

Life's ups and downs: Uncle Ned lost a dollar the other day, and when he went home he called up his eldest son. "Come here, boy, and set down. Dia an queer world, away, boy; jis' w'en yo' think yo' an layin' on feathers an' walkin' on roses—slap! an' dar yo' is, flat in the mud, playing a tattoo with yo' heels on nex' to nuffin."

CHAPTER LXXXIV.—(CONTINUED.)

It was my design, therefore, to counterfeit the Indian costume, and how to do this had been for some time the subject of my reflections. I had been congratulating myself on the possession of the buffalo-robe. That would go far towards the disguise; but other articles were wanting to complete my costume. The leggings and moccasins; the plumed head-dress and neck ornaments; the long, straggling locks; the bronze complexion of arms and breast; the piebald face of chalk, charcoal and vermilion—where were all these to be obtained? There was no costumerie in the desert.

In the moment of excitement that succeeded the capture of the savage, I had been thinking of other things. It was only when we were about to part from him that the idea jumped into my mind—that bright idea!—that he could furnish me—the very man.

I turned back to reconnoitre his person. Dismounting, I scanned him from head to foot. With delight my eyes rested upon his buckskin leggings—his head-embroidered moccasins—his pendent collar of javali tusks—his eagle plumes, stained red—and the ample robe of jaguar skins that draped his back—all pleased me much.

But that we were bent on an errand of peril, the last would not have been left there. My followers had eyed it with avidity, and more than one of them had been desirous of removing it; but proximate peril had damped the ardor for spoil, and the splendid robe had been permitted to remain, where so gracefully it hung upon the shoulders of the savage. It soon replaced the buffalo-robe upon mine. My boots were cast aside, and my legs encased in the scalp-fringed leggings; my hips were swathed in the leathern "breecch-clout," and my feet thrust into the foot-gear of the Comanche, which, by good fortune, fitted to a hair.

There was yet much required to make me an Indian. Comanches upon the war-trail go naked from the waist upward. The tunic shirt is only worn upon the hunt, or on ordinary occasions. How was I to counterfeit the copper-skin? the bronzed arms and shoulders—the mottled breast—the face of red, and white, and black? Paint only could aid me, and where was paint to be procured? The black we could imitate with gunpowder, but—

"Wagh!" ejaculated Rube, who was seen holding in his hands a wolf-skin, prettily trimmed and garnished with quills and beads. It was the medicine bag of the Indian. "Wagh! I thart we'd find the meterials in the nigger's possible-sack; hyur they be."

Rube had dived his hand to the bottom of the embroidered bag; and, while speaking, drew it triumphantly forth. Several little leathern packets appeared between his fingers, which, from their stained outsides, evidently contained pigments of various colors, while a small shining object in their midst proved, on closer inspection, to be a looking glass!

Neither the trapper nor myself were astonished at finding these odd "notions" in such a place. On the contrary, it was natural we should have looked for them. Seldom in peace, but never in time of war, does the Indian ride abroad without his rouge and his mirror!

The colors were of the right sort, and corresponded exactly with those that glistened upon the skin of the captive warrior.

Under the keen edge of a bowie, my moustache came off in a twinkling. A little grease was procured; the paints were mixed; and pacing myself side by side with the Indian, I stood for his portrait. Rube was the painter; a piece of soft buck-skin his brush; the broad palm of Garey his palette.

The operation did not last a great while. In twenty minutes it was all over, and the Indian brave and I appeared the exact counterpart of each other. Streak by streak, and spot by spot, had the old trapper imitated those hideous hieroglyphics, even to the red hand upon the breast, and the cross upon the brow. In horrid aspect, the copy quite equalled the original.

One thing was still lacking—an important element in the metamorphosis of disguise. I wanted the long, snaky, black tresses that adorned the head of the Comanche.

The want was soon supplied. Again, the bowie-blade was called upon to act as scissors, and Garey to perform the tonsorial feat, the chevelure of the Indian was shorn of its flowing glories.

TO BE CONTINUED.

SUICIDES.—C. T. Maybury, a commercial traveller for a Portland firm, and well known in St. Stephen, shot himself at Fort Fairfield, Me., on Monday, putting five bullets in his head. It is thought that overwork and extreme fatigue were the immediate causes.

NEWS NOTES.

A Martinez, Cal., mob attacked a Chinese house the other evening and emptied the inmates out of the second storey windows.

Charles Edwards, of Yarmouth, Car Inspector of the Western Counties Railway, committed suicide by hanging. He leaves a wife and several children.

The Princess Marie, wife of Prince William of Wurtemberg, and sister of the Duchess of Albany, is dead. She was recently delivered of a still-born child.

Late advices from Labrador give a gloomy account of affairs on that coast. In some harbors not an article of food can be purchased, and people are reduced to the verge of starvation.

A novel case in the proof of a will is before the Surrogate at Troy, N. Y. All the witnesses are dead, and the testator made his mark to his name. The question to be decided is whether the man's mark can be proved.

Yesterday morning a man named William S. Myers, who lived in Windsor street, committed suicide by hanging himself with a piece of clothes line in a shed in his yard. —Halifax Chronicle, April 27.

Thirty years hence, says the London Spectator, English fortunes will appear very paltry, compared with American. The money markets of the United States work over a much larger area, and continue making it for longer periods of time.

The four hundred emigrants who left London on the 29th ult. to embark on the Peruvian for Canada belong to the thrifty part of the population, and are the pick of the working classes, a large majority being under twenty-five years. They mostly paid their own fares.

The Manchester Guardian, respecting the negotiations between France and Canada, says certain points raised by the French Government are under the consideration of the Canadian Cabinet. The negotiations are suspended until a conclusion on the points have been arrived at.

After a final interview with his wife, Dr. Lumsden wrote to a friend virtually admitting his guilt, and attributing the crime to mental derangement. He subsequently wrote a definite confession that he poisoned Percy John, but denies being concerned in the death of Herbert John.

The wife of Lieut.-Governor Tabor, the wealthiest man in Colorado, is suing for separate maintenance. She figures his property at $8,000,000, and asks for an allowance of $50,000 a year. He is said to have offered her $1,000,000 outright, if she will agree to a divorce, which she refuses to do.

The Empress Elizabeth is one of the most generous of modern sovereigns, spending a great deal of her private fortune in charity. Nevertheless her Austrian subjects are dissatisfied and complain sorely when she goes hunting in other countries, expending therein comfortable sums which they think should not go out of their own land.

In Lowell, Mass., resides Mr. P. H. Short, proprietor of the Belmont Hotel, who suffered with rheumatism for seventeen years without finding relief from any of the numerous remedies employed, until he applied St. Jacobs Oil: "I never found any medicine that produced such remarkable and instantaneous effect as it did, says Mr. Short.

The decision of the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia, on the 1st inst., in the now somewhat celebrated Gammell Will Case, reversing the decision of the Judge of Probate and setting aside the second will of a testator, will not surprise many, especially of those who have been paying strict attention to the proceedings. His Lordship Mr. Justice Weather's delivered an elaborate judgment in the case.

The Dominion Post Office Savings Bank Account shows $3,489,803 to the credit of depositors at the end of March. The Government Savings Bank account to the end of January, shows a balance to the credit of depositors of $1,114,056, of which $4,613,699 is in Nova Scotia, and $3,059,144 is in New Brunswick. Halifax stands $2,336,076 and St. John $1,605,752.

In the Supreme Court at Ottawa, on the 25th ult., judgment was delivered in the celebrated New Brunswick fishery case of the Queen vs. Robertson. The court sustained the decision of Judge Wynne that in lands granted by New Brunswick prior to Confederation, the exclusive right of fishing in non-navigable waters was vested in riparian proprietors, and that the departments of Marine Fisheries had no right to issue licenses. The court also held that since the union fisheries in non-navigable waters through ungranted lands rested with the province.

A despatch of the 28th, says: A boat from Esquimaux Point, arrived at English Bay, Anticosti, last night, and reports that twenty-six persons at Esquimaux Point, had died of scurvy fever during the winter. There is great distress all along the North shore. Women have travelled eight to twenty miles over very bad roads begging provisions for their children. No schooners have arrived from the seal fishery or from Quebec. They also report no ice on that coast, and a great quantity of snow. Hunters have returned with a very small lot of fur. If the people of Anticosti do not get a supply of provisions very shortly, the majority of them will be in a state of starvation, according to the report. No ice to be seen from the south shore of the Island.
