A CAMPBELLTON, N. B., correspondent of the Moncton Times writes: A very sad accident occurred last Friday, in a cutting on the Metapedia and Passobie railroad. While the men were at work in the cutting a bank overhead gave way and fell on a young man named Robert Carr, causing injuries which resulted fatally.

A CARELESS countryman left his team standing on the railway track near the Summerside Station, on Tuesday afternoon. The outgoing train for Tignish collided with the obstruction and sent fragments of the sleigh flying in all directions. The horse, to whom the entire affair was a "surprise party" almost as successful as the one in this city last evening, escaped almost unharmed.

A NUMBER of gentlemen met last evening and organized the "Hillsborough Driving Association," the object of which is to prepare a mile track on the ice and keep the same clear and fit for training and speeding horses. The Association now numbers twenty members, and it is hoped that all owners of horses in the city will assist in making it a success. Any person may become a member and enjoy all the privileges of the Association on payment of the entrance fee, $1.00. It is the intention of the Association, provided the track can be prepared, to have some good races at an early day.

A ROMANTIC marriage took place in Ottawa one day last week. The woman in the case belongs to Brockville, Ont., and the young man is an employe of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa. The two had been corresponding for upwards of five years, but had never seen each other. Yet they had fallen in love and the young woman had been induced to give her parents the slip, and start alone for Ottawa to meet the "apple of her eye." When the Brockville train steamed into the station at Ottawa, the young man who had been waiting patiently, boarded it. In order that he would have no difficulty in recognizing his lady-love she had arranged to wear a certain article of apparel by which he would know her on sight. The young man walked through the car, scrutinizing the lady passengers. At length his eye lit upon the object of his affection who was seated in a corner. He at once went up to her, presented his card, each looked happy, and drove away and were united at once.

Rousing Meeting at Morell.

Hon. W. W. Sullivan Throws a Bombshell.

MORELL, Feb. 9.

At Morell schoolhouse, this evening, Messrs. Robertson, Muttart, McIntyre and Macdonald addressed the electors. Mr. L. Davidson occupied the chair. To the discredit of some Grits, at one time serious disturbance was threatened, but the good sense of the majority of Government supporters prevailed. Messrs. Macdonald and Muttart met their opponents in a way they tried to answer but could not. The general policy of Sir John's Government was ably sustained and the candidates heartily cheered. Messrs. Hooper and Muttart addressed the meeting. Their doing so was only a signal for many to leave. Shortly before the close of the meeting, Hon. W. W. Sullivan put in an appearance, and his speech fell like a bombshell among the opponents of the Government. During his speech the schoolhouse was crowded. At the close, on the question being put to the meeting, the Government candidates were carried by a large majority.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT.

MORELL, Feb. 10.

A rousing meeting was held at Morell this afternoon. It was addressed by the King's County candidates (Messrs. McDonald and Muttart) and by Hon. W. W. Sullivan.

Great enthusiasm was manifested in support of Mr. McDonald and Muttart. Morell will give them a big majority—as they are receiving assurances that they will receive all along the line. Their prospects are growing daily brighter.

AN ACTION FOR SLANDER.

HALIFAX, Feb. 10.

In Halifax the Conservatives are making a splendid battle, and notwithstanding the secession majority of one thousand eight months ago, will give a splendid account of themselves on election day.

Many of the leading life-long Liberals have become so disgusted with the blackguardism of the Grits that they have abandoned the "Organized Hypocrisy," and are now doing yeoman's service for the cause of Union, Prosperity and Progress.

Among the most prominent of these recruits to the Conservative ranks are: Fran' Killam, ex-Grit M. P., and Hon. L. E. Baker, of Yarmouth, who are supporting Kenny for all they are worth. Among the many other prominent men who have "come over" may be mentioned Duncan Cameron, of Richmond; William Oxley, of Cumberland; J. B. Smith, ex-Grit M. P.; Windsor; D. Macdonald, ex-Grit M. P.; Victoria; John McGowan, shipbuilder, Shelburne and John Vought, a leading Liberal of Cape Breton County.

Sir Charles Tupper will have a majority of about seven hundred in Cumberland; and Hon. Mr. McLellan a majority of at least five hundred in Colchester.

Liberal-Conservative prospects are certainly brightening all along the line in Nova Scotia.

MONTREAL, Feb. 10.

Hon. Mr. Blake and his friends are very much exasperated over the continued and violent attacks made upon the National Policy by his Maritime Province supporters. Mr. Blake has abandoned opposition to the National Policy as a whole; and the continued attacks made upon the tariff by Mr. Davies, of Queen's, P. E. I., Mr. Robertson, of Shelburne, N. S., and Mr. Jones, of Halifax, N. S., is seriously injuring the Liberal cause among the Quebec and Ontario workingmen, to whom Mr. Blake has pledged himself that he will make no material change except as regards the coal

Parnell's Voice Heard.

IN BEHALF OF THE IRISH TENANTS—HE BLAMES THE GOVERNMENT FOR THE SAD CONDITION OF AFFAIRS IN IRELAND.

Mr. Parnell, in the House of Commons on the evening of the 7th inst., moved an amendment to the address in reply to the Queen's speech. The amendment is as follows:—

"The relations between the owners and occupiers of the land in Ireland have not been seriously disturbed in the cases of those who granted tenancies such abatements as were demanded by the prices of agricultural and pastoral produce. The remedy for the crisis in Irish agrarian affairs will be found, not in the increased stringency of criminal procedure or in the pursuit of such novel, doubtful and unconstitutional measures as those recently taken by her Majesty's government, but in such reform of law and system and government as will satisfy the needs and secure the confidence of the Irish people."

Mr. Parnell maintained that if the bill for the stopping of evictions, which he introduced last session, had been passed, the condition of Ireland would have been greatly improved. The operation of such a measure would have effectually prevented the present disturbed relations between landlords and tenants in Ireland. The blame for the present serious position of Irish domestic affairs rested with the government. The government, despite this, seemed about to renew the mistake of attempting coercion in Ireland. The speaker solemnly warned the government if they again tried coercion they would again fail as they always had failed when trying that policy. Coercion would never bring about a better state of affairs in Ireland, or assist in establishing peaceful relations between two countries. If the government's proposed alteration of the criminal procedure act meant an attack on the rights of Irishmen, the immediate result would be that Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, Chief Secretary for Ireland, and the Marquis of Londonderry, Viceroy, would find themselves rapidly descending an inclined plane, and would soon come asking parliament for more coercion. Sir Michael wished to attack the authors of the Plan of Campaign. He thought to crush the plan by muzzling his opponents and putting them into jail. All past experience had shown that the work of suppression would only benefit when such things were done, for secret societies would spring up and agrarian and political crimes would revive in the worst forms. The government had already been guilty of unprecedented action in the manner they had conducted the prosecution of John Dillon. They had been equally arbitrary in the method employed to suppress the Sligo meetings and in the adoption of the method of striking off juries in such a way as to exclude Catholics. The speaker asked if the government could expect a nation, three-fourths of whose population were Catholics, would be content to have no representation of their faith in the jury trials of their country. Referring to the Glasgow evictions, Parnell decided that the National League never interfered until the work of eviction was in full swing. As one who had no responsibility in bringing forward the plan of campaign, he could speak freely upon it. Many tenants who now had a roof over their heads would have been cast out upon the bare hills but for the plan. The reduction in the number of evictions the last quarter was mainly due to the plan. The government had waited two months before declaring the plan illegal. Was it illegal? That remained to be seen. In the meanwhile he attached no importance to the assertion of illegality. The government talked of the robbery of the landlords, forgetting almost every title to Irish land was founded upon wholesale robbery and confiscation. The bulk of the improvements made by tenants had been seized by landlords, who had long been robbing tenants of the produce of their labor, and embezzling their rights. (Irish cheers.) Parnell went on to condemn coercion as an incitement to conspiracy. Even now, at the eleventh hour, if the government refrained from a policy of exasperation, and stopped the infliction of injustice by legal enactments and a system of repression which had done more to demoralize the Irish tenants than all Fenian agitators from New York to San Francisco; if they would give Ireland power to do for herself, what England seemed to have neither the wish nor the power to do, Ireland would show by laws, tranquility and prosperity how unfairly she has been treated in the past and how unjust was the assertion that the Irish were not law-abiding people. (Cheers.)
