Reports Gov't Unable To Resume Guaranteeing Of Home-Building Loans

SEIGNIORY CLUB, Que., Oct. 22 (CP)—The government is making a continuous review of reviving its pre-war policy of guaranteeing home-improvement loans, Resources Minister Winters said tonight.

At present, elements of danger in over-expansion of credit are blocking any such move, he said in an address prepared for delivery to the Canadian Institute of Plumbing and Heating.

The Minister, in charge of federal housing activities, recalled that the National Housing Act contains a section empowering the guaranteeing of home-improvement loans but that the section has not been proclaimed. It is similar to 1937 legislation under which the treasury guaranteed $50,000,000 in this type of loan.

Until recently, Mr. Winters said, it would have been unwise to proclaim the section because of scarcities of materials. By the time that was overcome, the government felt the expansion of credit should be restricted.

Though most of the credit restrictions were relaxed, it was felt "there are enough elements of the danger of over-expansion in credit" to justify withholding proclamation "for the time being."

Mr. Winters said the policy is to keep the situation under continuous review so that proclamation may take place when it appears in the national interest to do so.

Of the government's housing activities generally, Mr. Winters said it has not hesitated, and will not hesitate in future, to step in to the field of private financing when this becomes necessary to stimulate the production of housing.

He said that within the last six months lending institutions had withdrawn from the National Housing Act field in about 75 communities of between 5,000 and 50,000 population. As a result, the government's Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation was making loans in that field.

Car Struck By C.N.R. Train Near St. Omer

CARLETON, Que., Oct. 22 (CP)—Five persons were killed today when their automobile was struck by a Canadian National Railways passenger train at a level crossing near St. Omer, five miles west of this Bale Des Chaleurs town.

Dead are: Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Corbin in their 60s, their son, Victor Corbin, about 30, his daughter, about 3, all of St. Arthur, N. B., and Louis Gagnon, about 30, of St. Noel, Que.

Members of the Corbin family were dead when train employees freed the car from the diesel engine. Gagnon, driver of the automobile, died in minutes later. The engine dragged the car more than 500 feet from the scene of the collision.

District Coroner G. Boileau of New Richmond ruled the deaths accidental after an inquest at the scene of the accident. The bodies were brought to Campbellton, N.B.

Rags To Riches U. K. Candy Maker Dies

BIRMINGHAM, England, Oct. 22 (Reuters)—Sir Harry Vincent, rags-to-riches candy manufacturer, died last night. He was 77. Vincent started making toffee when he was 20, with £25 capital.

He became head of one of Britain's largest candy concerns (Harry Vincent Limited). A noted philanthropist, he was knighted in 1939.

Man, Woman Rob Montreal Bank

MONTREAL, Oct. 22 (CP)—A man and a woman robbed a branch of Banque Provinciale du Canada of an undisclosed amount of money today.

The man walked into the Van Horn Avenue branch holding a gun. There were no customers in the bank and the three girl employees and the accountant were forced to stand against the wall.

The man grabbed bills and ran outside. There a girl in a car waited for him and the two drove away.

KILLED BY CAR

NEW GLASGOW, Oct. 22 (CP)—Albert Gallant, 52, of nearby Pictou landing was killed last night when struck by a car near his home. An inquest will be held Friday. He is survived by his widow and three sons.

Queen To Be On Stamps, Coins Before Coronation

OTTAWA, Oct. 22 (CP)—The Queen will appear on Canadian coins and stamps before coronation ceremonies next June, but it will be months before her likeness appears on Canadian paper currency.

A photograph of the Queen taken by a famous Canadian portrait photographer when she was a princess, will appear on a series of new Canadian stamps, likely to be issued next March, federal officials disclosed today.

Mint officials said that coins bearing the Queen's image probably will start to roll off mint machines next January. Altogether, about 100,000,000 — from one-cent to 50-cent pieces—likely will flow from the mint in 1953.

Approved as the stamp photograph is one of a number taken by Yousuf Karsh of Ottawa at Clarence House, in London, in July, 1951. The Queen and the royal couple, Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh, embarked on their Canadian tour.

Declares Municipalities Lack Adequate Finances

TORONTO, Oct. 22 (CP)—The whole fabric of municipal government in Canada is shaken and uncertain, Mayor Charlotte Whitton of Ottawa said today in an address to the Canadian Chamber of Commerce.

Municipal governments, she said, have not been left the taxing powers, not given the resources, adequate to the discharge of their functions.

These functions, she continued, cannot be discharged without fundamental realignment of taxing powers, as between the provinces "whose creations and creatures the municipalities are," and the municipalities.

She suggested a re-examination of taxing powers by the Dominion and the Provinces and some agreement as to what areas should be left to the local authorities. Also "as the correction of

New Medicine Saves Some Children From Polio Attacks

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

CLEVELAND, Oct. 22 (AP)—Some children have been saved from polio paralysis by shots of medicine made from human blood, scientists announced today.

"It is the first means of protecting man against paralytic polio," Dr. William Hammon, University of Pittsburgh epidemiologist, reported to the American Public Health Association.

The shots are gamma globulin. —G.G. for short—containing antibodies against all three types of polio virus. The protection is temporary, lasting five weeks or better. G.G. is not a vaccine, not the full, final answer to polio.

Tests on 55,000 Texas, Iowa and Utah children, 1 to 11 years old, showed that G.G. supplied by the American Red Cross could significantly reduce polio attacks, and make some paralyzing attacks milder.

Highly Encouraging

The news was hailed by medical and health leaders as "highly encouraging." It is the first step in the method now of reducing the number of polio victims. The number of persons afflicted by the disease in the U.S. this year is expected to run to a record 60,000.

Now, many agencies must cooperate to obtain G.G. from post office, perhaps as much as 2,000,000 pints of blood or plasma to battle polio.

Sixth Hurricane Of Season Reported

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 22 (AP)—The sixth hurricane of the season spawned in the Caribbean Sea today 600 miles south of Miami while Florida still was being battered by the worst northeast storm in years.

A navy hurricane-hunting plane reported savage 85-mile-per-hour winds on the east side of the storm's centre. Gales extended outward 50 miles in all directions.

The Weather Bureau immediately named it Fox for F, the sixth letter in the alphabet.

Fox was expected to move slowly northward toward Cuba and Florida and intensify during the next 24 hours.

Ships in the northwestern Caribbean Sea area were advised to use caution and get out of the hurricane's path as soon as possible.

Meanwhile the Coast Guard was being advised to keep ships and lives endangered during the northeast which lashed Florida for the second day in a row.

The storm packed winds of more than 50 miles per hour. It sank three boats, took three lives and caused many thousands of dollars damage.

Three crew members of the 69-foot trawler Seafarer were listed as dead after their vessel sank in raging waters off False Cape.

French Troops Yield Before Vietminh Rebels

HANOI, Indo-China, Oct. 22 (AP)—The Communist-led Vietminh offensive stormed south to the Black River today as rebel troops captured the fortified post of Van Yen—80 miles due west of Hanoi—after the French withdrew.

Thousands of Vietminh troops are pushing south and southeast through the mountainous Thai country of Northwest Indo-China in a four-pronged drive apparently aimed at cutting French road communications with the Thai capital of Lail Chau, 180 miles northwest of Hanoi and 30 miles south of the Chinese border.

French union forces fought bitterly at many points until they ran out of food and ammunition. French planes dropped supplies and paratroopers to stiffen resistance.

One of the major battles of the six-year war in Indo-China appeared to be shaping up along the Black River, to which French units are withdrawing after giving up a series of posts in the Nghia Lo sector.

Wife Of Archbishop Barfoot Dies

EDMONTON, Oct. 22 (CP)—Mrs. Orna Barfoot, 55, wife of Archbishop Walter F. Barfoot, Primate of the Church of England in Canada died in hospital today. Mrs. Barfoot was taken to hospital last Friday following a heart attack.

Mrs. Barfoot, the former Lorena Richardson of Toronto, was a former school teacher at St. John's Anglican Church in Toronto.

She was married in 1942. She and Archbishop Barfoot were friends during undergraduate days at the University of Toronto. There were no children.

After graduation from university in 1921, she went to New York where she was a dietician in charge of the research department for Childs restaurant chain. Later she worked in Canada with Robert Simpson's Co. Ltd.

Survivors include her mother and three brothers in Toronto. Lowery Richardson, former president of the Toronto Stock Exchange; Leland Richardson, carillonist at Hart House; and Norman Richardson, a doctor.

Funeral services will be held at All Saints' Cathedral in Edmonton.

SAINTE JOHN, N. B., Oct. 22 (CP)—Andrew W. Hallett, 81, struck by a car Monday night, died in hospital today. He was formerly captain of the harbor tug Ocean Hawk.

Canada May Introduce Own Resolution

By Norman Allatiedler

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. Oct. 22 (CP)—The political committee of the United Nations Assembly tonight decided to give top priority to a debate on the Korean war.

A Russian attempt to have the committee take up first a Polish "peace plan" was defeated when the committee voted 51 to 5 (Soviet bloc) with four abstentions to put Korea first on the list of subjects to be discussed. Tunisia and Morocco were placed second and third.

Russia had called for an immediate debate on the Polish plan which included provisions for settling the Korean conflict on Communist terms but this was rejected in two votes.

First the committee refused by a vote of 44 to 5 to give the Polish proposal top priority. Then it voted 44 to 11 against giving the Polish proposal second place on the committee agenda.

Tough Debate

The voting came after three hours of tough debate in which Britain, Canada, France and the United States pressed to have Korea debated first. They took this line of action despite the fact that Britain and France were known to prefer withholding any definite decisions on Korea until after the U. S. presidential election Nov. 4.

Informed sources said, meanwhile, that Canada may place its own resolution on Korea before the political committee. These sources said a Canadian resolution, if presented, would urge the assembly to call on the Communists to accept a truce on the basis of the latest U. N. proposals at Panmunjom.

The United States is planning to offer a resolution asking the U. N. to endorse U. S. conduct of the Korean war in the name of the U. N. The Canadian resolution would be put forward as an amendment to the U. S. resolution.

Claim Stevenson Making Gains In West Coast Area

(This is the second of a series of five stories on the political outlook as newspaper editors and political writers see it; in all 48 states. Today's story deals with the mountain and west coast states. Tomorrow's survey will be devoted to the Southern and Border states.)

By Douglas B. Cornell

NEW YORK, Oct. 22 (AP)—Editors and political correspondents in the mountain-west coast region believe gains by Governor Adlai Stevenson in five of 11 states may be lightened by the presidential race in the last six weeks.

Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, listed early in September as leading in 10 of the 11 states, now is considered ahead in eight of the 11.

The combined view of the newspaper men who took part in a second, mid-October survey of political prospects for the Associated Press is that Democratic nominee Stevenson now might gain Utah and Washington by a hair-line margin if the election were held now.

These are the first apparent switches to turn up in the survey. The two states were regarded as leaning slightly toward Republican candidate Eisenhower around Labor Day.

May Call Off Search For Plane

HALIFAX, Oct. 22 (CP)—Air force officials said today the hunt for a missing Beechcraft plane in Quebec's rugged north country may be called off tonight.

Seven planes today criss-crossed the area around Seven Islands where the plane with its two occupants was last seen six days ago.

Frank McLaughlin, 32, of North Hollywood, Calif., and Jerry Kurtz of New York City, employees of Airways of Burbank, Calif., were ferrying the plane, owned by the Yugoslav Government, overseas.

Yesterday, 22 aircraft covered 32,000 square miles in their search for the plane.

Doctors Strive To Save Young Child

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Oct. 22 (CP)—Doctors were striving tonight to save the life of a three-year-old boy slowly bleeding to death because of a rare blood disease.

David Pearcey of Fortune, suffering from haemophilia, was flown here tonight from a hospital at Grand Bank by an Eastern Provincial Airways air ambulance.

Haemophilia, a hereditary disease, affects only males but can be transmitted by females every second or third generation. Bleeding, usually from small tissues, can result without injury.

Six Men Charged With Receiving Part Of Huge Haul Of Stolen Bonds

ST. JEROME, Que., Oct. 22 (CP)—The story of smashed safety-deposit boxes and a huge haul in bonds nearly a year ago had its first court scene today with the arraignment of six Montreal men on receiving charges.

The charges accounted for only $55,000 of the haul estimated as high as $1,000,000. But Provincial Police Director Hilaire Beaugard said in Montreal that the case may break wide open "within a very short time."

Those arrested, all of whom pleaded innocent, are: Raoul Ricker, 55; J. Desautels, 58; Leo Davignon, 45; Rosaire Payette, 40; Louis Desrosiers, 40, and Leo Asconi, 40.

Asconi was granted $15,000 property bail or $5,000 cash bail and Ricker $5,000 property or $1,000 cash.

Davignon, Desautels, Payette and Desrosiers charged with receiving and conspiracy to receive, were refused bail pending decision by Judge Eugene Lafontaine Friday.

The robbery was carried out in the St. Jerome branch of Banque

Churchill Under Fire Over Decision To Bar TV At Coronation Ceremony

LONDON, Oct. 22 (Reuters)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill ran into a storm of socialist criticism in Parliament today against a decision not to allow live television of the crowning of the Queen at the altar of Westminster Abbey next June.

The socialist assault followed demands in many newspapers of different political alignments for revision of the ban announced two days ago by the coronation commission. The commission said it decided, after receiving advice from the Churchill cabinet, to permit live television for all coronation events except the two-hour ceremony at the altar steps.

No reason for the ban was given. The commission indicated, however, that one reason was it might impose additional physical and mental strain on the young Queen. Churchill began his reference to the coronation happily enough by announcing the day, June 2, will be a public holiday. Amid cheers, Labor member Hector McNair asked: "Would not the holiday be much more enjoyed by all if proceedings at the Abbey were televised?"

The smile faded from Churchill's face. He shifted irritably and grunted that the question had nothing to do with his announcement about a holiday.

Other Socialists picked up the cry. T. F. Peart declared the ban was "stupid and causing great concern throughout the country."

In the lobbies, members murmured about forcing a parliamentary debate unless the decision was reversed.

The coronation commission said a film of the crowning ceremony will be available for television after the ceremony. This will enable official "censors" the Archbishop of Canterbury and the Earl Marshal in charge of coronation arrangements to cut any views that reflected on the dignity of the Queen, such as nervous gestures or muffled words.

Atlee To Stake Leadership In Showdown Today

LONDON, Oct. 22 (Reuters)—Clement Atlee will stake his leadership of the Labor Party on a showdown tomorrow with Aneurin Bevan's leftwingers.

He will ask the 296 Labor legislators at a private meeting to approve an ultimatum, aimed at the Bevanites, calling for immediate abandonment of all separate group organizations.

Atlee has been driven to this action by the growing power of the Bevanites and the damage done to Labor Party prestige by a year-long split in the party over policies. It began when Bevan quit the Atlee Government, claiming it was spending too much on defence.

Party right-wingers expect a decisive victory for Atlee and the right-wing. But, if his ultimatum were to be put to the meeting and rejected, there is little doubt Atlee, former prime minister, would resign as party leader.

Re-open Scallop Bed

OTTAWA, Oct. 22 (CP)—Fisheries Department officials said today a scallop bed off Grand Manan, N. B., closed to commercial fishing since last December, has been re-opened. The temporary ban was imposed because most of the scallops taken a year ago were found to be under legal size.

Vital Statistics

OTTAWA, Oct. 22 (CP)—Registrations of births increased during the first seven months of this year over the corresponding period a year ago, while deaths and marriages declined, the Bureau of Statistics reported today.

Births in the seven-month period increased to 226,963 from 221,297 a year earlier, while deaths declined to 72,895 from 74,759, and marriages to 63,961 from 65,810.

Lord Ogilvy Will Wed U.S. Teen-Age Heiress

(By Heather Grime)

LONDON, Oct. 22 (Reuters)—Handsome, curly-haired Lord Ogilvy, once Princess Margaret's escort, will wed teen-aged United States heiress Virginia Fortune Ryan tomorrow in a London ceremony to be witnessed by millionaires from both sides of the Atlantic.

Scores of American social leaders have arrived in London to see the vivacious, 19-year-old granddaughter of the late New York banker, Otto Kahn, marry into one of the realm's oldest and wealthiest blue-blood families.

Among the guests expected at St. Margaret's Church for the ceremony are the Queen, Queen Mother Elizabeth and Princess Margaret.

David George Coke, Patrick Ogilvy, 26, is a gay, dark-haired Scot who will some day succeed his father as Earl of Airlie and owner of a 69,000-acre estate surrounding ancient Cortachy Castle in Kilmuir, Scotland. A frequent escort of the Princess and regarded as one of Britain's most eligible peers, he surprised so cety by announcing his engagement to the brown-eyed American girl July 28. They first met at a London dance three years ago.

Miss Ryan, daughter of millionaire John Barry Ryan of New York and Rhode Island, will wear a white satin wedding dress fashioned in Paris. It has an immense full skirt, neat bodice and long, tight sleeves.

On it, she will wear her wedding present from Lord Ogilvy—the badge of the Scots Guard in which he served for six years. The badge is set in diamonds and shaped as a brooch. Each of the five bridesmaids will wear sashes of the Ogilvy tartan—red, purple, yellow and white—slung across their shoulders.

Heading the sumptuous list of presents is a regency mansion in a swank section of London. The gift comes from Mrs. Ryan and is intended as the couple's future town residence.

But the square-shouldered young lord dislikes city life. He prefers the Scottish highlands and plans to take his bride there for an outdoor life of hunting and riding.

Other Socialists picked up the cry. T. F. Peart declared the ban was "stupid and causing great concern throughout the country."

In the lobbies, members murmured about forcing a parliamentary debate unless the decision was reversed.

The coronation commission said a film of the crowning ceremony will be available for television after the ceremony. This will enable official "censors" the Archbishop of Canterbury and the Earl Marshal in charge of coronation arrangements to cut any views that reflected on the dignity of the Queen, such as nervous gestures or muffled words.

Atlee To Stake Leadership In Showdown Today

LONDON, Oct. 22 (Reuters)—Clement Atlee will stake his leadership of the Labor Party on a showdown tomorrow with Aneurin Bevan's leftwingers.

He will ask the 296 Labor legislators at a private meeting to approve an ultimatum, aimed at the Bevanites, calling for immediate abandonment of all separate group organizations.

Atlee has been driven to this action by the growing power of the Bevanites and the damage done to Labor Party prestige by a year-long split in the party over policies. It began when Bevan quit the Atlee Government, claiming it was spending too much on defence.

Party right-wingers expect a decisive victory for Atlee and the right-wing. But, if his ultimatum were to be put to the meeting and rejected, there is little doubt Atlee, former prime minister, would resign as party leader.
